Tonight's Air Spotlights President at 8:30, Bob LaFollette at 8:15

President Roosevelt will be heard tonight in a political address dealing with labor and the third term when he addresses a meeting of the International Federation of Teamsters and Chauffeurs in Constitutional hall, Washington, D. C. The president will be introduced by Daniel J. Tobin, union head, at 8:30 through stations WIBA, WENR, WBBM, and WCFL.

Other outstanding programs for tonight and Thursdaytime follow, classified:

Discussion
8:15 p. m.—Sen. Robert M. La Follette (WBBM); the Progressive senator speaks under the auspices of the American First Committee and will discuss the group's stand against extension of aid to Great Britain beyond the limitations of the "cash-and-carry" neutrality law.

Music
8:15 p. m.—Pageant of Melody (WGN); the overture from Eugene D'Albert's "Der Improvisator."

10:30 p. m.—Music You Want (WENR); Antal Dorati conducts the London Philharmonic orchestra in Bizet's "Jeux d'Enfants Ballet" suite.

Drama

Comiskey Picked to K. O. Baer

By JACK CUDDY
NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Those who decry the lack of new talent in leatherfist lance should be mollified somewhat by the coming-out parties of three promising young pugilists in this month of September.

The fledgelings of fistcuffs who will get their first big-time tests this month are Middleweight Steve Belleose of New York, Welterweight Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia, and Heavyweight Pat Comiskey of Paterson, N. J.

Each of trio is pitted against a formidable opponent for the first time—is principal in his first big fight—and is participating in a bout which unquestionably may have an important bearing upon the future of his division.

Steve Belleose, a knitting, hard-hitting young Italian from New York's Bronx, is slated for 10 rounds with Cefarino Garcia, former middleweight champion, at Madison Square Garden Thursday night. Steve, younger brother of former featherweight champion, Mike Belleose, knits fancy work at home and does a bit of jitter-bug rug-cutting in the dance halls in his spare time, but in the ring he mows 'em down. He is working on a string of 24 straight victories. A slender, fast-stepping youngster, he fights with his arms held almost straight out—and he kayoes opponents with abbreviated punches by merely twisting his wrists.

If stunning Steve can weather the terrific bolo punches of Senor Garcia of the Philippines for a couple of rounds and then belt out Garcia, he will clinch a shot at the middleweight crown now worn by one Ken Overlin and recognized in New York and affiliated states.

This corner predicts right now that Steve will forego his knitting for a night and concentrate on hitting—and that he will belt Senor Garcia over the fence and into the cabbage patch.

But of Mob Montgomery we are not so certain. Montgomery is a well constructed Negro lad who has been turning Philadelphia and Atlantic City upside down with his prowess against his opponents in those sectors. Montgomery, who has hopes for a welterweight title shot at Henry Armstrong, is parring down a bit to engage light-weight Champion Lew Jenkins at Philadelphia's Shibe Park, Sept. 16. Mr. Montgomery recalls that the last time Champion Jenkins crawled through the ropes, he was belted out by Henry Armstrong.

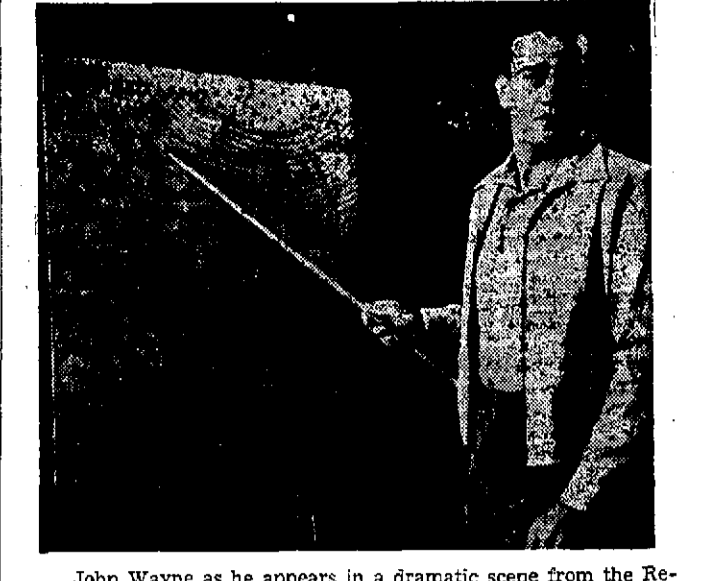

And down Philadelphia way they call Montgomery, "the super-Armstrong." Which makes it look very dismal for Jenkins of Texas, if those reports are true. We never have seen Montgomery tangle with a first class opponent. Hence at this writing—we will make no prediction on this fight. However, neutral observers have informed us that Montgomery—though he apes the bobbing and weaving style of the genuine Armstrong—is mighty easy to hit with a right hand. If that be true, Mr. Montgomery is chancing a quick kayo. Because Jenkins despite his Armstrong show-ing—is one of the most dead-end right-hand punchers in the ring today.

The next youngster to stick out his neck is Patrick Edward Comiskey, the Irish knock-out artist from Paterson, N. J., who is slated for 15 rounds with Maxie Baer, the former heavyweight champion at Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 26. Madcap Maxie, though somewhat ancient, still packs a wallop in either fist and still is a clowning cutie—as he proved in his recent knockout victory over fat Tony Galento.

This is the chance of a lifetime for Comiskey—with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis coming the world for opponents.

If young Pat and his piano punch can knock out Baer impressively, nothing can prevent him from being in the opposite corner from Louis in June—particularly after Billy Conn's poor showing against Bob Foster Friday night.

However, neutral observers have informed us that Montgomery—though he apes the bobbing and weaving style of the genuine Armstrong—is mighty easy to hit with a right hand. If that be true, Mr. Montgomery is chancing a quick kayo. Because Jenkins despite his Armstrong show-ing—is one of the most dead-end right-hand punchers in the ring today.

The next youngster to stick out his neck is Patrick Edward Comiskey, the Irish knock-out artist from Paterson, N. J., who is slated for 15 rounds with Maxie Baer, the former heavyweight champion at Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 26. Madcap Maxie, though somewhat ancient, still packs a wallop in either fist and still is a clowning cutie—as he proved in his recent knockout victory over fat Tony Galento.

This is the chance of a lifetime for Comiskey—with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis coming the world for opponents.

If young Pat and his piano punch can knock out Baer impressively, nothing can prevent him from being in the opposite corner from Louis in June—particularly after Billy Conn's poor showing against Bob Foster Friday night.

We may be a bit previous, but we are all agog about this young Comiskey, who has kayoed 26 of 30 opponents. Hence we predict at this time that pulverizing Pat will knock out Baer within five rounds. We make this prediction in the face of opinion that will make Baer the betting favorite before the fight.

But, regardless of what happens in these three scraps, three mighty good fighters are being given their big chance this month to move into the big time. And even if one or two of the trio fails to make the grade, the fans at least will be seeing three new faces and watching some bang-up fights. And one of these youngsters may go on to make pugilistic history. Which one?—you take your pick.

Baugh Passes Redskins to Win

Sammy Baugh in a dramatic scene from the Republic film, "Three Faces West," now at the Capitol theater.

Baugh tossed seven passes in the first period to bring two Washington touchdowns. Sanford converted twice. The All-Stars turned back four Washington rushes from the two-yard line as the second period closed but were unable to stem a third-period scoring march. Zimmerman raced 27 yards to score and Baugh passed to Malone in the end zone to chalk up the other two Redskins touchdowns. Ickes and Cahill scored the All-Stars' two touchdowns.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Second Baseman Alex Kampouris was purchased Tuesday from the Newark International League club by the Brooklyn Dodgers for an estimated $25,000 and one player to be named next spring.

With 36 homers to his credit, Kampouris has hit more circuit clouts than any Newark player in history. He leads the league's second basemen in double plays.

Kampouris, who went from the Giants to Newark in the Mickey Wittek deal last year, will report next spring unless Newark is eliminated from the playoffs in which case he'll join the Dodgers immediately.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Sammy Baugh's potent forward pass pitching led the Washington Redskins to a 35-12 victory over the eastern All-Stars Tuesday night before 26,000 fans.
