

Kay Francis, Frank McHugh Are Bob Burns' K.M.H. Guests

Movie Stars Appear On Thursday Program; Story Of Ohio's Mound Builders On Strange As It Seems

"Never one to 'shilly-shally' in inviting big names to share the precincts of the Music Hall, Bob Burns has come thru with Kay Francis, Frank McHugh, Lillian Cornell, and those surprising youngsters, Kenneth Browne and Billy Lenhart, for the program of Thursday. The Music Malls and John Scott Trotter's orchestra will also be featured in the broadcast over WEAF at 8 p. m.

New and startling discoveries in Ohio about the sacrificial rites of the Mount Builders-America's vanished race—will be revealed by Willis H. McGrath, of the Society for American Archeology, in an interview on the "Strange As It Seems" program, Thursday, WABC at 7:30 p. m. Alois Havrilla is master-of-ceremonies.

Contestants will be given a chance to identify American cities by calling out the names of the sporting events which go to their name, when general Jim McWilliams brings another "Basket" program to the air at 7 p. m. Thursday over WABC. Contributing to the excitement will be another famous "Anything Can Happen" basket, in which contestants provide impromptu entertainment before the mike.

Fanny Brice, who keeps abreast of the current school-yard fads by occasional meetings with Hollywood school teachers, will be starting her fourth straight year in the first grade when she cavorts as Baby Snooks on the Good News-Maxwell House Coffee Time program, Thursday, at 7 p. m. WEAF.

"The Collegian," an All-American football satire, will be the Rudy Vallee production Thursday at 9 p. m., EDST, over WEAF.

With Rudy in the title role, Walter O'Keefe will be heard as the coach, Joan Edwards as the co-ed, and Keenan Wynn, son of Ed Wynn, as "Butch," all-American drawback. This will be the third appearance of both O'Keefe and Wynn on the Vallee program.

THIRD TERM IS DENOUNCED BY JOHN W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(UP)—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924 who became a founder of the American Liberty League 10 years later, today denounced a third term for any president, asserting that "the man has not yet been born of woman" whom he would entrust with the presidency for more than eight years.

Davis urged that congress set now "a definite, fixed, certain termination to the length of any man's occupancy of the presidency," and suggested that if the day ever comes when we imagine only one man is fit for the position we may as well "install a permanent or even an hereditary head under any name we choose to give him."

He revealed his opposition to a third term before hearings of a senate judiciary subcommittee which is considering a proposal to limit the President to one, six-year term. Davis did not mention President Roosevelt by name or the current third term campaign.

American History Assumes Spotlight In Lima Theatres

"Brigham Young" Preview Scheduled At Quilna; "Boom Town" Heads Offering At Ohio

American history takes the spotlight Thursday evening at the Quilna theatre with the preview showing of "Brigham Young," starring Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell and Dean Jagger in the saga of the religious pioneer whose story provides the dramatic basis for the exciting film. Showing for the last times Thursday will be "Elsa Maxwell's Public Deb. No. 1" and "Pier 13."

The hectic struggles of oil men, their fights to gain wealth and how they lost it, provides the Ohio attraction, "Boom Town," with plenty of action. Stars of the film are Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy as oil drillers who both accumulate and lose fortunes, Claudette Colbert, hard-working wife of Gable, and Hedy Lamarr, exotic representative of the big business world.

Two youngsters caught in the metropolitan whirlpool, Lana Turner and John Shelton as the newly-weds, form the plot for "We Who Are Young," now at the Sigma theatre. The pair reveals the discovery that marriage on a budget can be a hazardous undertaking. The co-feature, "River's End," stars Dennis Morgan and George Tobias.

"Maryland," a thrilling film spectacle of the traditional South, stars John Payne, Brenda Joyce and Walter Brennan in a story woven around the famous Maryland Hunt Cup race. The co-feature, "On Their Own," brings the Jones family back to the screen in their latest comedy hit.

That charming rogue, The Amateur Crackman, as portrayed by David Niven, is at the State theatre in "Raffles," with Olivia de Havilland cast in the romantic feminine lead. The co-feature, "The Strange Case of Dr. Kildare," offers Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore and Laraine Day in another story of the screen's popular fictitious doctor.

David Niven and Lovetta Young are the stars of the Majestic feature, "Eternally Yours," now being shown with "Timber Stampede."

OHIO
The old adage that "a man must fight" descended upon Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy with a vengeance and a purpose in their latest picture, "Boom Town," action thriller of oil men, which is now at the Ohio theatre with Claudette Colbert and Hedy Lamarr playing femme leads in the all-star cast. Playing rough-and-ready, two-fisted, wildcating oil men, the two male stars were called upon to engage in no less than five fist fights, two of which are played for considerable footage. In the first of these, the two stars become friends when, together, they whip three mugs. The last fight in the picture is between Gable and Tracy themselves, taking place in a swanky Manhattan office.

Between these two fights, Tracy once strikes Gable and the fistcuffs are halted before it can go farther. Tracy knocks down one bruiser at a dice table and later on beats up two huskies who are saying depre-catory things about Gable. These fights are mere flasher, lest fighting become the predominant action in a picture which also must cover an oil well fire, the bringing in of gushers, a mud-dive by the two stars and varied other rough action.

The final fight in the picture required two days to photograph, with close-ups of the two battlers recorded in addition to long shots of them in rough and tumble tactics. The stars themselves did the fighting, since both are accustomed to action scenes.

The first fight in the picture takes place in a gambling and dancing hall in a tiny Texas boom town. It is started because the three opponents of the stars resent their taking blonde Marion Marin, playing a dance-hall girl, from their table.

QUILNA
The epic and heroic Mormon trek along a trail of almost insurmountable odds to ultimate freedom is one of the most impressive chapters in the growth of America. Because of the valiant battle they fought to find a place where they could live as they believed, much has been written about them and their leader, Brigham Young. Darryl F. Zanuck, who has recreated many outstanding characters and events for the screen, saw in Brigham Young and his people a stirring story—and decided to bring it to life. The famous Louis Bromfield was assigned to write the story for the production of "Brigham Young," which comes Thursday night to the Quilna theatre.

Steel-willed, a born leader, Brigham Young organized one of the most astounding mass migrations in history, 8,000 prairie schooners, 30,000 livestock... a whole, orderly civilization uprooted... 20,000 pioneers went on the move towards new frontiers. Only the will of one man held them together—that of Brigham Young, who was to have 27 wives, build one of the world's famous cities and found a great state.

The first year at Salt Lake was one of desperate privation. Then, as if the hardships they had endured were not enough, millions of crickets swarmed out of the canyons and attacked their fields. The Mormons, realizing that they could never survive another winter of starvation, dug ditches, set fires and strove mightily to destroy the new enemy.

Brigham Young led the Mormons in prayer! Soon the sky was blackened with thousands of sea gulls, sweeping in five hundred miles from the Pacific ocean to destroy the crickets and preserve the pioneers' food supply.

SIGMA
A story as simple, straightforward and heartwarming as any to reach the screen in some time is now at the Ohio theatre. It is "We Who Are Young," featuring Lana Turner and John Shelton.

The new picture unfolds the story of a young couple, portrayed by Miss Turner and Shelton, who marry with high hopes for conquering a large city. It moves from the courtroom where the marriage is performed thru a rapid series of climaxes which finds the couple eventually forced to go on relief.

The role of the wife, Margy, is a distinctly new departure for Miss Turner who up until this time has been seen in collegiate and dancing daughter roles. Her ability as a straight dramatic actress cannot be denied from now on. She shows rare sympathy and understanding for the character she portrays.

The Northwest Mounted's most exciting man-hunt is on at the Sigma theatre when James Oliver Croude's "River's End" crosses the screen.
