

"Case of Mary Ellen" To Be Dramatized Thursday Night

"Strange As It Seems" Will Relate Experiences Of Young Girl Who Was Mistreated By Her Foster Mother

How a young girl, who had been horribly mistreated by her foster mother, was once brought to court as an "animal" will be revealed in a dramatization of one of the law's most unusual cases on the Strange As It Seems program, Thursday over WABC at 7:30 p. m.

Known in the annals of the law as the "Case of Mary Ellen," the court action was brought about thru the efforts of Henry Bergh, founder of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Bergh and his co-workers realized that nothing ever had been done to protect young children from cruel or sadistic parents.

The Baby Snooks of today... those kids who keep daddy and mommy guessing what they'll do next... are the Presidents of tomorrow, according to no less an authority than Fanny Brice, who will romp thru another hilarious comedy session as Baby Snooks on the Good News program, Thursday at 7 p. m. over WEAF.

Kristina Opera Company singer; Walker Houston, veteran actor; and Dorothy Lamour, who is known for both song and sarong will all answer the clarion call of Robin Burns' bazooka when the meeting of the Kraft Music Hall "takes up" on Thursday.

Miss Lamour will be starting a series with this airing over WEAF at 8 p. m. She plans to be on K. M. H. until Bing Crosby returns to his first love—radio—which should be late in November.

It was also decided the Band Mothers hold their annual bake sale Saturday, Oct. 19. The executive members are Mrs. E. E. Katterheimich, president; Mrs. Martin Kuck, vice president; Mrs. O. B. Moor, secretary; Mrs. R. W. Kuhlman, treasurer.

New Double Bill Will Open At Quilna Friday Evening

"Military Academy" And "Blondie Has Servant Trouble" Are Films; "Brigham Young" Closing Run

"Military Academy," new drama of American youth which has been hailed for its engrossing study of boys growing into manhood, commences Friday night at the Quilna theatre with Tommy Kelly, Bobby Jordan, Jackie Searl and David Holt in the lead roles. Co-featured will be "Blondie Has Servant Trouble" starring Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell and Dean Jagger.

An ambitious dancer who allows her scruples and conscience to guide her career, and a gold-digging chameleon with mercenary tendencies and an elastic code of living are the unique roles played by Maureen O'Hara and Lucille Ball in the Ohio current attraction, "Dance, Girl, Dance." Ralph Bellamy and Louis Hayward are cast in the male lead roles.

Vivid in conception, strong in execution and remarkable in the powerful reaction it leaves on its audiences, "Women in War," commencing Friday at the Lyric theatre, is one of the outstanding productions of the season. Elsie Janis, Wendie Barry and Patric Knowles are the stars of the film. Also commencing Friday is a western thriller, "Colorado," starring Roy Rogers.

Showing for the last times Thursday are "The Dark Command" and "Scatterbrain." A four-star comedy, "Private Affairs," now at the Sigma theatre, brings Nancy Kelly, Robert Cummings, Hugh Herbert and Roland Young to the screen in featured roles. In the co-feature, George O'Brien, favorite western film idol, returns to the range wars in "Triple Justice," with Virginia Vale furnishing the feminine inspiration.

Predic March and Joan Crawford are the stars of "Susan and God," an attraction at the Sigma theatre in the story of a woman who sacrificed the happiness of her married life to run the errands of all her friends. The added attraction is "South of Katanga."

How the conflicting ambitions of two pretty dancers and two young men involve them in a series of romantic complications which finally eventually resolve for them, provides the absorbing basis of the dynamic drama of backstage life, "Dance, Girl, Dance," now at the Ohio.

Cast in the stellar roles are Maureen O'Hara, lonely little dancer who hopes to be a prima ballerina; Louis Hayward, irresponsible playboy whose impending divorce prompts him to seek solace with the two dancers, and Lucille Ball, gold-digging chameleon.

Fourth side of the unique quadrangle is Ralph Bellamy, as a famous dance impresario who falls in love at first sight with Miss O'Hara, hopes to win her affection and make her the great dancer she desires to be, but who finds difficulty in convincing her of his true feelings.

The interlinking of these hopes and ambitions into a dramatic and comedy pattern, combined with the spectacular song-and-dance numbers filmed on a lavish scale, are said to make for interest-compelling, sparkling entertainment.

Other principal roles are played by Virginia Field, Mary Carlisle, Katharine Alexander, Maria Ouspenskaya, Edward Brophy and Walter Abel.

A timely drama of youth, its hopes, fears and ambitions, opens Friday night at the Quilna theatre. The new film "Military Academy," presents Tommy Kelly, Bobby Jordan and Jackie Searl and David Holt in featured roles.

Turning the spotlight of motion picture publicity upon the modern generation and how they are trained for manhood, "Military Academy" has been hailed for its high entertainment qualities as well as its understanding sympathetic treatment of "the awkward age" of American youth, that period in which the boy has not yet become a man.

Tommy Kelly is seen as the son of a reformed racketeer, placed in a military academy under another name. Here he makes friends with his roommates, Bobby Jordan and David Holt, and something of an enemy of Jackie Searl, an upperclassman. Jordan is a problem; an athlete hero, the applause of the grandstand has gone to his head. Young Holt is a problem; son of a wealthy family, he has been so pampered that he finds difficulty adjusting himself to the military routine. And when Tommy Kelly's real name is revealed, the fun must cease the soon and ostracism at his superiors follows.

Out of such intrinsically valuable material has been woven a thrilling motion picture, a film which moves at a swift pace, a film which reveals a keen understanding of juvenile psychology, the drama of a boy's laughter, tears and loneliness.

"Blondie Has Servant Trouble" latest of the characterizations of Charlie Young's famous comic strip, also opens Friday evening at the Quilna theatre, with its original cast still intact. Arthur Lake is again harassed by Dagwood, Penny Singleton is his pretty wife, Larry Dunsford, their talkative baby bumping, and Daisy, the ever-waiting porch. Others in the cast are Jonathan Hale and Raymond Turner.

Modern comedy against a background of stark family tradition is contained in "Private Affairs," a new film starring Nancy Kelly, Robert Cummings, Hugh Herbert and Roland Young, currently playing at the Sigma theatre.

Young plays the role of a Bostonian who has preferred to remain in the "back street" of his Back Bay family for twenty years rather than submit to their dictates in his choice of a wife. Nancy Kelly appears as his daughter, a young woman faced by the same romantic quandary her father had faced twenty years earlier. Robert Cummings plays the role of the young attorney with whom she is in love. Hugh Herbert portrays a variety of characters ranging from a bumpy-go-lucky cab driver to a Scotch nobleman. The supporting cast includes such well-known players as Montague Love, G. P. Huntley, Jr.,
