

Galaxy Of Stars Scheduled For Music Hall On Thursday

Virginia Bruce, Nat Pendleton And Ezio Pinza Will Be Guests Of Bob Burns On Program At 9 P. M.

Bob Burns in his last week as "solo m. c." of the Music Hall has arranged for a houseful of diverting entertainers in the persons of Virginia Bruce, Nat Pendleton, and Ezio Pinza, one of the most popular Metropolitan singers on Thursday. Dorothy Lamour, the Music Maids, and John Scott Trotter's orchestra will take care of the lighter music for the airing over WEA-F at 9 p. m.

Arthur Sullivan, famed blind reporter who risked life and limb in the fury of a New England hurricane to "get the story" for his paper, and Boda, faithful Seeing Eye dog who led Sullivan safely among falling trees and charged wires, will be guests of honor on the Strange As It Seems radio program, Thursday over WABC at 8:30 p. m.

Henry Aldrich attempts to make his fortune stoking the neighbors' furnaces, but it is his father who turns on the heat when the youngster becomes an unintentional housebreaker in "The Aldrich Family," starring Ezra Stone, over WEA-F Thursday, at 8:30 p. m.

Baby Snooks (Fanny Brice) will test Daddy's (Hanley Stafford) new "no appeasement policy" when the curtain is rung up on Thursday at 8:00 p. m. over WEA-F.

Vaudeville may be dead, but contestants who know the meaning of familiar theatre slang, such as "Annie Oakley," may be due for a big cut of prize money on Jovial Ed East's Ask-It! Basket program, Thursday, 8:00 p. m. over WABC.

Tim and Irene, favorite comedy team of radio and vaudeville, will visit the Rudy Vallee program for the broadcast over WEA-F Thursday at 10:00 p. m.

As a feature of the twentieth anniversary of the beginning of regular daily radio programs, Dr. Frank Conrad, and the man who first used the word "broadcast" in connection with radio, will be the guest of Musical Americana, Thursday, at 10:30 p. m., over WEA-F.

Power And Linda Darnell In Hit Movie Coming To Quilna

"The Mark Of Zorro" Offers Tyrone Power, For Talents; "Hit Parade Of 1941" Current Attraction

Capturing all the danger, romance and thrills of old California's most exciting days, "The Mark Of Zorro," which offers Tyrone Power the most famous of all screen roles, opens Friday evening at the Quilna preview. Linda Darnell and Basil Rathbone head the brilliant featured cast. Showing for the final times Friday is "Hit Parade of 1941."

Take a typical pair of American youngsters, place them in a typical small town, add a good share of adult romance and sprinkle generously with fine, clean-cut comedy, and you have "The Old Swimming Hole," which commences Friday at the Lyric theatre, with "Frontier Vengeance," a Don Barry starring picture. Showing Thursday is a double feature comprising "Brigham Young" and "Girl in 313."

"Sky Murder," at the Sigma theatre, brings Walter Pidgeon to the screen in another of the popular Nick Carter mysteries, crisscrossed with thrills, bewilderment and comedy. The co-feature, "Golden Gloves" starring Richard Deming and Jean Cagney, takes its background from the increasingly popular three-ring circus sport.

Moviegoers who are looking for light, sparkling entertainment need look no further than "I Want a Divorce," the comedy drama starring Joan Blondell and Dick Powell at the Ohio theatre commencing Thursday. Gloria Dickson, Frank Fay, Jessie Ralph and Conrad Nagel are among the stars of the supporting cast.

A family of tough-tough men occupy the attention of fans at the State theatre where "When the Daltons Rode," is currently featured. Included in the cast are Preston Foster, Andy Devine, Broderick Crawford, Frank Alvaudville, makes a definite comeback in this picture. Frank is cast as a sort of happy-go-lucky person, a fellow who has his mental troubles too, but seems to be able to laugh them off, at least most of the time. As the plot goes, it's Frank who needs a lawyer, gets Dick to perform as his counsel.

Zany Kay Kysor is the star of the Majestic attraction, "That's Right, You're Wrong," with his well-known musicians, Ish Kabibble, Sally Mason, Harry Balch and Ginny Simms in prominent roles. "Mutiny on the Blackhawk" is co-featured.

Alto John Blondell and Dick Powell have been cast together many times in pictures, there is scarcely a doubt that they have ever had a chance to cavort the way they do in "I Want a Divorce," at the Ohio theatre.

This assignment together finds them cast as man and wife — they're man and wife off the screen, too, as just about everybody knows. And as a young couple who are faced with the usual problems such as finding enough money to get along, Joan and Dick have an unprecedented opportunity to utilize their abilities along comic and dramatic lines, too, for that matter.

With a supporting cast numbering such capable performers as Gloria Dickson, Frank Fay, Jessie Ralph and Conrad Nagel, Joan and Dick launch the story in a divorce court, where Joan's sister—Gloria Dickson—is getting a divorce. Joan helps things along with her testimony, and tells Dick how she hates to do it, convinced as she is that divorce breeds unhappiness.

In a natural, dignified manner, Joan and Dick are thrown together again, and as man and maid will they marry. Then comes fun—the disputes faced by every couple, sister-in-law arriving to chase hubby out of the other twin bed, and lots of things along these lines. It's a safe venture to say that the gloves will seem familiar to lots of married couples.

While the presence of Marcia Mae Jones and Jackie Moran in leading roles would indicate otherwise, the picture is as delightful for adults as it is for youngsters.

The story begins when Betty Elliott, long separated from her country doctor father comes to visit him and immediately proceeds to take over the management of his business and social affairs. The doctor who heretofore had been paid off mostly in chickens, preserves and the like, can't get used to his patient meeting the bills with cold cash, even if they do pay on the installment plan.

QUILNA
"The night rides a masked adventurer... the jagged mark of his sword striking terror to every heart but one!"

In the most famous and colorful of all screen roles Tyrone Power brings to thrilling life the exploits of the celebrated bandit in his latest starring picture "The Mark of Zorro," which opens Friday night at the Quilna theatre.

Boasting the most spectacular action and sword play the screen has seen in many a moon, Power's role is crisscrossed with hard-riding, furious fighting, ardent romance and high-lighted by an unforgettable realistic duel with Basil Rathbone. And according to all reports Power scores the greatest triumph of his career.

Featured with Rathbone at the head of the brilliant supporting cast is lovely Linda Darnell as the fairest senorita in old California, who gives her love to Zorro.

Spectacularly filmed "The Mark of Zorro" also features Gale Sondergaard, Eugene Pallette, J. Edward Bromberg, Montagu Love, Janet Hecker, Robert Lowery and Chris-O-Min Martin.

According to advance reports the film has captured all the danger, beauty, romance and thrills of old California's most exciting days in "The Mark of Zorro." Against this exciting background is set the vivid romance between Power and Linda Darnell, who are together for the third time on the screen.

At great expense Hollywood reconstructed the colorful Los Angeles of 1820 for "The Mark of Zorro." Location companies were sent into Mexico for background shots of old landmarks and trails in order to insure accuracy, and hundreds of extras were added to the huge cast.

An additional word or so should be inserted here about the fact that Frank Fay, who for years was a star of screen and vaudeville, makes a definite comeback in this picture. Frank is cast as a sort of happy-go-lucky person, a fellow who has his mental troubles too, but seems to be able to laugh them off, at least most of the time. As the plot goes, it's Frank who needs a lawyer, gets Dick to perform as his counsel.
