

Joan Fontaine And Ronald Colman Star In 'Rebecca'

Du Maurier Drama Offered On De Mille Theatre Program At 9 P. M. Over WABC; Margaret Speaks Concert Star At 8:30 P. M.

Ronald Colman will portray the difficult role of Max DeWinter in "Rebecca" on the Radio Theatre program Monday at 9:00 p. m. over WABC.

Joan Fontaine will take the part she had in the picturization of the successful novel by Daphne Du Maurier, "Love's Roundelay," by Oscar Strauss, will be a solo offering of Margaret Speaks, soprano, during the concert Monday over WEA at 8:30 p. m. She also will be heard in "Comin' Thro' the Rye," "La Golondrina" by Serradell, and "Ouvre Ton Coeur" by Bizet.

Departing a bit from the water courses, Gill and Deming, comedy skippers of "The Show Boat," will devote their talents to a new version of "Santa Fe Trail" when the musical river boat sails over WEA Monday, at 9:30 p. m. while Beulah, Marlin Hurt's dusky alter ego, will devote her time to selling kisses for charity.

"Baby Dumping" decides he's tired of the grown-ups continuously hogging the spotlight and giving him no mind, so he cuts himself a piece of cake, gets out the customary handkerchief and stick, and plans to run away on the Blondie program, Monday 7:30 p. m. over WABC. He could have carried out his plan if the cake wasn't so good and Blondie catches him on his way thru the third layer, and so thwarts his plan to become a knight of the road.

Results of the operation of the first year of old-age and survivors insurance in the area served by the Lima field office of the Social Security board were disclosed Saturday by Manager William A. Ashbrook.

Report Made On Security Act Payments

"While the original social security act went into effect Jan. 1, 1937, it was not until Jan. 1, 1940, that old-age and survivors insurance became effective and the first benefits became payable," Ashbrook said.

"At the end of the first year we were able to show what the amended social security program means to our field office in the Cook Town in Lima.

"Three principal types of benefits have been paid as the result of claims filed thru our field office. These are in the form of monthly checks issued to workers who reach age 65 and retire after having obtained insured status, with supplemental checks issued to aged wives of such workers. Others are monthly checks to certain survivors of insured workers, while still another group of beneficiaries is composed of persons who received a single payment to defray funeral expenses of insured workers who died leaving no survivor eligible for monthly checks.

"The following table shows the number of individuals in each group receiving monthly checks, based on awards made in our service area," Ashbrook added.

Table with 4 columns: Type of Payment, No. Individuals, Total Amount, % of Total. Rows include Workers over 65, Widows over 65, etc.

102 HERE GET LUMP PAYMENTS In addition to these monthly payments there were 102 persons in the Lima area who received lump-sum payments for funeral expenses of insured workers who left no dependents entitled to monthly checks.

Figures showed steady gains during the year, it was reported, both in number and in the average payment in each group. By far the great majority of those who became eligible for monthly checks at some time during 1940 continue on the payrolls of the Social Security board as the new year begins. Names are stricken from the list when the aged worker dies, when children reach specified ages as directed in the table, or where widows of insured workers remarry or take up employment covered by the social security act.

"Numerous claims filed in 1940 were pending at the end of the year, either while we were waiting for proof of birth, marriage certificates or other necessary data," Ashbrook said. His office is one of 46 in the Cleveland region, which includes the states of Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio.

4,041 PATIENTS CARED FOR DURING PAST YEAR, HOSPITAL HEAD REPORTS

With 4,041 patients receiving care during the past 12 months, 1940 was the biggest year for Memorial hospital since the founding of the city institution in 1899, according to the annual report Monday of Miss Mary Z. Neaman, superintendent.

Facilities of the hospital have been expanded yearly to meet the increasing demand for medical services. The most outstanding advance of the past year, affecting both Memorial and St. Rita's hospitals as well as others throughout the district, was the incorporation of the Northwestern County Hospital Service-ess which affords an opportunity for employed persons to obtain medical care at minimum cost, Miss Neaman reported.

136 PHYSICIANS ARE ON ROSTER The hospital's water softening plant used 27,000 pounds of salt, and the heating plant used 922.5 tons of coal. Electrical equipment and lights required 268,000 kilowatt-hours of power.

Dr. J. R. Tillison served as president of the medical staff, which included 136 active, courtesy and associate members. One member, Dr. R. A. Buchanan, died last September. Dr. Walter C. Beery, a graduate of Yale university with internship at Madison General hospital, Madison, Wis., is house officer, and internists are Dr. William Baughm, University of Arkansas, Dr. Richard Deucher, Ohio State university, and Dr. Lois Vischer, University of Illinois.

The venereal disease clinic, directed by Dr. J. B. Poling, city health commissioner, provided care for 167 patients.

Twenty-five students nurses were graduated at the 37th annual commencement May 27 in Trinity Methodist church.

The superintendent concluded her report by lauding the work of civic organizations and clubs which assisted the hospital during the year, particularly the Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary, the Lima Garden club, Ministerial-ess, Alumnae-ess, and D.A.R.

NAZI AIR RAIDS AT RECORD LOW IN PAST MONTH

January weather over England proved so inhospitable to German bombers, by and large, that the month goes down on the score sheet as a record low for Nazi air activity in the battle of Britain.

There were numerous January nights as well as days when few if any bombs fell on London, Dover, the midlands industrial area or any other favorite German target.

London reports, nevertheless, that more than a dozen German night raiding planes were brought down within that month. That compares with only 11 German daytime sky raiders, by British reports, gunned down in the same period.

The importance of these claims lies in what light they throw on the effectiveness of the new British technique and equipment to deal with night raiders. British spokesmen have expressed confidence that an increasingly heavy toll of German ships would be taken in the darkness as time passed.

A dozen enemy planes knocked down at night tends to support that British claim. It is a sizeable bag, all the more so because there were few if any German planes available to work on quite a number of nights last month.

NO MAJOR ATTACKS IN JANUARY There were no major daylight attacks in January. Lone wolf Nazi daylight raiders were frequent January visitors over England on what Berlin termed "audacious" one-plane exploits, but it is not clear that they were doing more than looking the ground over, coupled with a little enemy harassment. They were gone usually before British fighters could reach them.

Night air fighting except under unusual visibility conditions, such as very bright moonlight and cloudless skies, has been a deadly game of aerial blind-man's-buff up to now. If the British night fighter specialists already have taken enough of the guesswork out of it to back a dozen Nazi planes in the dark within a month, they also have taken a long stride toward forcing another revision of German air strategy.

Just how definite an answer to night bombing has been found can only be conjectured, lacking detailed information on each incident. Some cases might have been due to chance meetings between attacking and defending planes.

What counts is whether in all of the cases reported from London of German bombers brought down at night it was the new British night-fighter equipment and training that turned the trick. No matter how many or how few German planes were active at night over England in January, if a dozen or so of them were shot down due to the new night-fighter technique, it was at the very least an encouraging practical test of the system.

British Night Defense May Force Revision Of Hitler Strategy

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—January weather over England proved so inhospitable to German bombers, by and large, that the month goes down on the score sheet as a record low for Nazi air activity in the battle of Britain.

'Chad Hanna' Will Open At The Lyric Theatre Tuesday

Henry Fonda Has Title Role With Linda Darnell And Dorothy Lamour Cast In The Leading Supporting Parts

Behind the red and gilt wagons of the colorful wandering tent show weaves a tender and vivid drama in "Chad Hanna," commencing Tuesday at the Lyric theatre. Henry Fonda stars in the title role with Linda Darnell and Dorothy Lamour in the romantic and adventurous film. Also commencing Tuesday is "Hell Below." Concluding runs Monday are "Meet the Missus" and "Rollin' Home to Texas."

The recent, complete edition of "Gone With the Wind" is currently offered at the Ohio theatre at popular prices, with shows offered daily commencing at 12:30, 4:30 and 8:30 p. m. Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland head an all-star cast in the film version of Margaret Mitchell's widely-read novel.

Pierre Radisson, the man who saved a new world for the ruler who had ordered him hanged, is the character portrayed by Paul Muni in "Hudson's Bay," the current Quilna film. Muni's role is unlike any he's ever had as he brings to life on the screen the colorful adventures of Radisson. In the supporting cast are Gene Tierney, Laird Cregar and John Sutton.

When war fever Ray Milland meets war correspondent Claudette Colbert in Spain, they ignite a spark of romance that carries them over the map of Europe and back home to America in this season's most delightful romantic adventure, "Ariste My Love," currently at the State theatre. Walter Abel plays the editor who completes the necessary love triangle. Co-featured is Wayne Morris in "The Quarterback."

Laughter, gaiety and romance make up the sprightly story of "Honeymoon For Three," currently at the Sigma theatre starring George Brent, Ann Sheridan and Osa Massen. The picture is full of side-splitting situations as an ex-college sweetheart of Brent's returns to make her claim for him, in spite of the fact that she already has Charlie Ruggles for a husband.

A spine-chilling tale of a half-mad scientist who discovers a way to reduce human beings to one-fifth their size is told in "Dr. Cyclops" now at the Majestic theatre with "Slightly Honourable."

PIERRE RADISSON, the fabulous man who saved a new world for the ruler who had ordered him hanged, is brought to life on the screen brilliantly by Paul Muni in "Hudson's Bay" now at the Lyric theatre. Depicting the turbulent drama in the founding of an expansive colonial and commercial empire, the dramatic and moving film stars Muni as a reckless adventurer—a role unlike any he's ever had.

In it, she chased, kissed, and eventually lost, Fred MacMurray. In the current "Honeymoon For Three," Miss Massen has justification for her former flirtations with Brent. She plays his college sweetheart. Then she, her belief about two lovers, she self forgot Brent after college and married Charlie Ruggles. The other self remained true to the first love.

Following a search almost as extensive as that for the actress to play Scarlett O'Hara, Osa Massen won the highly-prized role of Belle Watling in "Gone with the Wind," currently showing at the Ohio theatre. The picture is being shown in its complete, full-length version exactly as presented in its previous road-show engagements—nothing cut but the price.

Three shows are being offered daily commencing at 12:30, 4:30 and 8:30 p. m.

Selection for the coveted role marked the most important assignment of Miss Massen's stage and motion picture career. In winning the part, Miss Massen triumphed over thousands who wanted the choice role, hundreds who were interviewed. She was the 27th, and last, to have a Technicolor screen test.

Altho she has recently come from the stage, Miss Massen had a brief screen career eight years ago, appearing in several films, the last of which was "Five Star Final." She has since appeared in only one motion picture. She has spent the last three theatrical seasons in stock at Elitch Gardens in Denver.

Miss Massen closely fits Margaret Mitchell's description of Belle Watling, who, "luxuriant with bold face and hair too red to be natural" was Atlanta's provocative woman of the world.

CHILDREN GAIN AFTER EATING FREE LUNCHESES (Lima News Bureau) OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—Proof of the benefits of free school lunches was advanced here today by County Relief Director Bonnie B. Corns in the form of a report on weight gains among children partaking of the meals in the Continental school.

The free lunches were started Dec. 2 in Continental and the children were out of school one week for Christmas and one because of influenza. However, the weight gains ranged from two and one-half to nine pounds up to Jan. 30, she stated.

The lunch program was launched last week in the Leipsic schools with 70 children taking advantage of the meals. This makes four such programs now in operation in Putnam-co.

ROSCOE KARNIS does well with his role of Pa Higgins, who in attempting to get his family out of its complex difficulties, only succeeds in getting them deeper involved. Ruth Donnelly scores as his amiable wife, and Spencer Charters is appealing as the hangered and bewildered Grandpa Higgins.

Lois Ranson, one of the screen's most appealing ingenues, handles the role of Betty Higgins with sympathy and charm, and Alan Ladd is equally effective as Johnny Williams, the local barrister who combines his law practice with a concerted effort to win Betty Higgins' heart and hand.

Billy Munn handles some hilarious comedy situations with skill and ease, and Astrid Allwyn outshines as the femme menace.

SIGMA Tawny haired Osa Massen plays a girl who believes she has lost herself in the current Sigma hit, "Honeymoon for Three."

It was a bit confusing at first, but after a few weeks of it, Miss Massen is coming to the conclusion there must be something to that dual personality business.

Certainly the brazen hussy who chases George Brent around an assortment of film sets in the picture "Honeymoon For Three" at the Sigma, kissing him without invitation or reciprocation, isn't the Osa Massen she's known all her life.

The real Miss Massen is modestly demure, almost to the point of shyness. Born and reared in Copenhagen, Denmark, she has a wholesome regard for straight laced Scandinavian conventions. Consequently, when she saw the preview of "Honeymoon For Three" along with Ann Sheridan and Brent, the co-stars, and saw what that little vision, the movie Osa Massen was doing, she scarcely knows whether to be horrified, or amused at the ludicrous impossibility of it all. Any way she looks at the situation, she simply can't believe that girl on the screen is herself.

To make the matter the more complex, Miss Massen appeared in just one other American picture before she was cast as Miss Sheridan's love rival. That was "Honeymoon in Bali"—she seems to be associated with honeymoons—and
