

Gable Celebrates Tenth Anniversary In Pictures

Earnings Of Popular Star At High Peak

Clark Content To Live A Quiet And Retired Life On Ranch Home

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22—(UP)—Clark Gable, The Squire of Encino, Calif., and about the only big-time movie actor who doesn't own a swimming pool, celebrated today his 10th anniversary as a picture star.

Few have done as well; we don't know any who have done better. In February of 1931 Gable went into a film called "The Painted Desert." His was a minor role. His salary was minor, too. He got $75 a week, for two weeks.

Today he is working in "The Uniform," co-starring with Rosalind Russell, and he's earning $5,000 per week, which isn't bad for a Cadiz, O., boy.

In his current film at M-G-M, Gable plays a British officer who is cashiered for cheating at cards. The story then devotes itself to Gable's efforts to redeem himself.

After his first couple of pictures he had joined the first 10 box office stars of the movies, and has remained in that select company ever since. The money he's earned for the boss runs into astronomical figures.

He's made 37 pictures so far, and every last one of them has earned big profits, even including a couple of bad ones like "Farnell" and "Strange Cargo." Some of the good ones like "The Easiest Way," "It Happened One Night," "Dancing Lady," "Boon Town" and "San Francisco" have earned millions.

Gable also made it possible for M-G-M to share in the staggering profits of "Gone With The Wind," which now exceed $30,000,000. David O. Selznick had to have him for Rhet Butler. M-G-M said, okay, you get Gable, if we release the picture. The deal was set—and "Gone With The Wind" has been paying most of Metro's bills for the last couple of years.

Two years ago Gable married Carole Lombard and they moved onto a 22 acre farm at Encino in the San Fernando valley.

The Gables seem to hit it off fine. They spend most of their time at home together, go on frequent hunting trips, and once a week come into the studio to see a picture show. It's too tough to go to a regular theatre; they get mobbed when they try it.

Hygiene Film Is Scheduled At The Lyric

"Dust To Dust," the most talked-about hygiene attraction in the world, will be presented at the Lyric theatre, three days, starting Monday. Howard Russell Cox, the fearless Kentucky commentator, will appear on the stage, in person, at each performance.

Bold, frank and fearless, "Dust To Dust," seeks to rip the veil from sex secrets and stamp out sex ignorance. It strives to enlighten the masses to the scourge of social diseases sweeping the country today and emphasizes moral living pays.

"Dust To Dust" stabilizes thinking among both the young and old. It blasts forth a challenge on the problem of delinquency and urges parents to live closer to their children. It affords parents better knowledge with which to counsel their growing boys and girls on their human relation problems.

Universities, colleges, educational leaders, civic luncheon clubs, mothers clubs, P. T. A. groups, Federation of Women's clubs, health officials and welfare agencies, are among the more prominent list which has endorsed "Dust To Dust."

This amazing attraction has been praised by more than 3,000,000 who have witnessed it to date. It is currently on its seventh annual coast-to-coast tour. Records show that more than 10,000 persons have fainted while watching it, most of them during the caesarian operation which is shown.

Due to its frank and bold approach to its delicate subjects, "Dust To Dust" can be shown to segregated audiences only. There will be shows for women and high school girls at 2 and 7 p. m. each day, and for men and high school boys at 9 p. m. each evening. It is not suitable for grade school-age youngsters, nor is it recommended for the sick or ailing.

Notes in the leaves of the tropical hurricane plant prevent it from being blown to shreds.

SODA WATER IN OVEN EXPLODES; STOVE DAMAGED

WAYNESFIELD, Feb. 22—Mrs. Harry Dawson and Mrs. Laura Cook, cooks at the Waynesfield school, thought the school house cafeteria was bombed Tuesday morning when four bottles of soda water placed in the oven of a stove during the week-end exploded following the heating of the oven.

The force of the explosion blew open the oven door, hurled the four bottles to bits, sprayed the walls and damaged window shades.

Some seventh grade girls, members of the home economics class, had been preparing their breakfast in the cafeteria but forgot some things this particular morning.

School officials are making an effort to find the persons responsible for the explosion. The pop belonged to the senior class and was part of the stock sold at basketball games and other entertainments.

ANDEREGG TRIAL TO OPEN MONDAY

Hearing Will Be First Jury Case In Auglaize Probate Court In 25 Years

(Lima News Bureau) WAPAKONETA, Feb. 22 — George Anderegg, local director of safety and service, Monday morning in Auglaize-co probate court will face a jury on charges of malfeasance in office in connection with an alleged illegal expenditure of $28.60 from municipal waterworks funds. Judge Harry F. Wittenbrink will preside.

The trial, which will be held in common pleas court trial room, will be the first jury trial in the local probate court in more than 25 years, court attaches disclosed. One other jury trial was scheduled in the court seven years ago when removal charges were filed against Councilman George Strobel but the charges were dismissed on a defense motion.

The charge against Anderegg was filed by Councilman Robert Kuntz and others. In their affidavit, they contend that the $28.60 was spent on a sidewalk improvement project, and that the expenditure was illegal despite the fact that the money went to workmen regularly on the city payroll.

Solicitor A. A. Klipfel, Jr., who represents the complainant, and Emmett D. Lusk, former Auglaize-co prosecutor, who has been retained by the defendant, indicated that the trial would last at least two days. Interest in the outcome of the case is at high pitch here and more than 100 persons are expected at each session.

Twenty-two jurors have been summoned to appear. Twelve will be selected to hear the charges. Of those summoned only two are residents of this city. They are Lee Stanton, Brown-ops, Willing-st., and Virgil Link, 306 E. Benton-st.

The other prospective jurors are, Herman Henschen, St. Marys Route 3; Florence Swank, 726 W. Spring-st, St. Marys; Ralph Arthur, Waynesfield Route 1; Florence Dirlam, 524 W. South-st, St. Marys; Mrs. Alvina Holl, New Knoxville; Carl Mack, Wapakoneta Route 3; Mrs. Lela Kruse, 110 S. Franklin-st, New Bremen; Dewey May, Waynesfield.

Tra Barber, Mendon Route 1; Marion Rohrbach, N. Walnut-st, St. Marys; Alfred Steinberg, New Bremen; Dan Conover, 616 E. Spring-st, St. Marys; Mrs. C. G. Linson, Unionopolis; E. D. Jorg, Waynesfield; Emmett Faylor, Wapakoneta Route 2; Herman Hoelscher, New Knoxville; Clara Finke, 901 S. Wayne-st, St. Marys; Charles Rohrbacher, Wapakoneta Route 1; Newton Bechtel, 312 N. Wayne-st, St. Marys, and Mabel Barrington, St. Marys Route 3.

JUDGE TO BE SPEAKER KENTON, Feb. 22—Hardin-co Probate Judge Guernsey B. DeWitt will speak on "The Life and Character of Washington" at the annual Dunkirk Masonic banquet which will be held in honor of Washington's birthday. The affair will be held at the Dunkirk temple on Monday at 6:30 p. m. in the form of a dinner meeting.

NEW YORK—After the ball is over it is positively necessary one gaffe in and snaffle up several sandwiches or Jabberwooke specials. Great crowds attend even unto 3 a. m. and later.

Miss Fellows Has Lead In Quilna Movie

Based upon an appealing radio broadcast whose weekly coast-to-coast audience numbers untold millions, whose heart-warming effects cannot be measured, Columbia's "Nobody's Children" is at the Quilna theatre. With Edith Fellows featured, the forthcoming film tells the story of America's unwanted children, the orphaned youngsters denied the birthright of every kid.

"Nobody's Children" is the title of Walter White's air show for the Children's Home Finding Society of Los Angeles, which annually places more than 50 children a month into the homes of childless couples. White's program is a sympathetic combination of orphaned youngsters, who talk about themselves, and of guest stars, usually prominent persons who themselves have adopted children. In bringing the radio program to the screen, Columbia is said to have incorporated it within a telling and compelling narrative, a sensitive story of a crippled youngster and her kid brother, orphans, who are separated when the boy is adopted. Too old for the orphanage in which she is, the girl is about to be sent to a state institution for crippled persons when she herself suddenly is adopted by a childless couple, who send her for treatment to a brilliant surgeon. The operation is, seemingly, a failure. From this point on, "Nobody's Children" is said to reach a dramatic crescendo of heart-stirring scenes.

Miss Fellows, in the major role, is primarily to be credited with the general excellence of the film. Other major players in "Nobody's Children" include Billy Lee, the youngster who won the heart of a nation's movie-goers with his sterling performance in "The Biscuit Eater," Lois Wilson, former silent screen star, and Walter White, Jr.

TODAY, when the destiny of a soy bean may be the wheel with which you steer your car . . . and the destiny of a debutante may hang upon the frail thread of Man's ingenuity in the mysterious combination of coal, air and water with which she glorifies what once were called her "limbs", it is natural to suppose that all things, however lowly, must eventually serve some ultimate purpose, in a form far removed from their original state.

But, due to the very number of these wonders, it is also quite natural to forget what in many ways is, perhaps, the most wondrous of all . . . the fact that the very paper you are reading, the "voice" which is bringing to you the voices of all the world, is—in reality—a log transformed, a tree, transmuted into a servant of mankind more important, more indispensable than almost any other example of Man's ability to adapt the world in which he lives to suit his needs.

This is the voice of the world, this is the friend of ink and roller and Man's ideas, this is a testimonial to Nature's submission to Science, this is your newspaper . . . this is the tree that talks.
