

Baby Sandy Tells About Income Tax Troubles

Infant Star Earning Big Sum For Work

$300 Weekly Is Salary; Dolls, Other Toys Pay Girl Fine Royalties

FREDERICK C. OTHMAN (UP)—The subject was income taxes. "They got me fixed up fine," reported Miss Sandy Lee Henville, the bluest-eyed, blond-haired movie star in Hollywood.

When you consider that Miss Henville was three years old on January 14—and already is worrying about her taxes—you've got a story on your hands. You've also got the youngest actress in the high income brackets in America. We managed to talk to her about the troubles of a movie queen between takes of "Sandy Steps Out," her fifth picture. She earns around $300 a week now on the third year of a picture contract that eventually goes to $1,200 a week. Her mother gets around $75 weekly for taking care of her—and that's only the beginning. There are baby dolls, cups, pinpoints, and toys, all paying royalties to Miss Henville.

Mrs. Roy Henville, her mother, is in the hospital, momentarily expecting another Baby Henville. So Sandy's father is taking a few weeks off from his job at the dairy, filling in.

Two years ago Henville was delivering milk. His wife read about how Universal Studios had tested 800 babies in search for the one with a big smile for a supporting role in a Bing Crosby movie. The studio had to have a good natured baby boy.

Sandy was good natured, all right, but she wasn't a boy. The Henvilles talked these facts over thoroughly before Roy decided to leave a photo of his child with the milk he delivered at the home of Charles Previn, the studio musical director. You know what happened then. Sandy got the job.

Henville kept delivering milk. That was a steady job and no telling when Sandy's movie career would take a cropper or over a too-pug nose, or hair that wouldn't photograph, or whatever.

Sandy's mother, who is getting prettier, her vocabulary expanded as rapidly as did her income and first thing Henville knew, the head milk man took him off the wagon. He's working now for the same dairy as a promotion man. He takes 16 millimeter films showing how to milk a cow, plus shots of the dairy, and shows them in lodges, school rooms and churches. It's a good job with good pay.

U. S. TAKING OVER CONTROL OF ALUMINUM

WASHINGTON, March 22—(AP)—In a move to conserve the supply of aluminum for defense needs, the government issued an order today virtually controlling future manufacture and sale of the product.

E. R. Stettinius, Jr., priorities director of the Office of Production Management, announced a system of preference ratings for all classes of users. The ruling also specifies the order in which all aluminum purchases shall be filled.

The action was described officially as a "new step in the control of the metal in the interest of national defense." Defense industries were given top ratings under a preference formula worked out for consumers.

The order does not exclude any class of users from buying aluminum, but it assigns the lowest ratings to makers of products for which a satisfactory substitute for aluminum is available. Civil users also are assigned low ratings.

DELPHOS FIREMEN WILL SPONSOR SPECIAL MOVIE

(Lima News Bureau) DELPHOS, March 22—Delphos fire department is cooperating with the state fire marshal's office and for a week will show the film "More Dangerous Than Dynamite" at the Capitol theater in a fire prevention program.

The chief says the picture shows the ever present danger of fires and also depicts the efforts of state fire officials backed by city fire departments and others in preventing fire loss.

FARM MEETING LISTED FINDLAY, March 22—Chris Kainrad, state AAA committee man, will be in Findlay next Wednesday to address an open meeting of township committees.

Benny to Do His Version Of Famous "Tobacco Road"

Invention of Radio Telephone And Transmission Of First Message To Be Reenacted On Program At 4:30 P. M. Sunday

Jack Benny dons dusty overalls and equips himself with a lazy accent for his WEAF broadcast, Sunday, at 7 p. m. when the Benny "we know our business but we're in the wrong one" players present play and motion picture, "Tobacco Road."

Invention of the radio telephone and the transmission of its first message will be reenacted during the WJZ "Behind the Mike" program, Sunday, at 4:30 p. m. with the original microphone, borrowed for the occasion from the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, being used during that portion of the program.

The "macabre"—as distinguished from "horror"—story of "The Man Who Hated Death," starring Boris Karloff in the comparative sympathetic role of a undertaker, will be the "inner Sanctum Mystery" on Sunday, at 8:30 p. m. over shuddery WJZ.

Rob Crosby and his orchestra, better known as his "Diskland Band," will board the "Fitch Bandwagon" on Sunday, for a trip down the WEAF at 7:30 p. m. under the expert guidance at master of ceremonies Tobe Reed.

Helen Hayes will fly from Baltimore, Md., where she is appearing in her stage play, "Twelfth Night," to star in Rachael Crothers' dramatic story, "A Little Journey," on the actress' own radio theater, Sunday over WABC at 8:30 p. m.

A famous screen comedy in which marital mix-ups reach an all-time high is the dramatic fare scheduled for the Screen Guild Theater broadcast, over WABC Sunday, at 7:30 p. m., when Irene Dunne and Robert Montgomery will co-star in "My Favorite Wife."

Gladys Swarthout, Metropolitan opera mezzo-soprano, will be the guest singer on the Andre Kostelanetz "Music That Refreshes" program over WABC Sunday, at 4:30 p. m. Kostelanetz and his 45 piece orchestra will be heard in Strauss' "Thousand and One Nights Waltz" and Stephen Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer" and "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

Kostelanetz has also made special arrangements for "La Joliteira" and "A Paloma" for the Latin-American touch.

Ray Block and his orchestra, starred on "Johnny Presents," will supply the music for the gala British American Ambulance Corps program over MRS Sunday, at 8:30 p. m.

TRIALS SET IN CIVIL ACTIONS

WAPAKONETA, March 22—The civil actions, one for damages and the other for money, will go to trial before petit juries in April in Auglaize-co common pleas court, according to assignments made today by Judge W. T. Copeland.

The money case of Irvin Shafer against C. J. Hemmert, local wholesaler, involving a contract for labor in construction of three houses by the defendant, will go to trial Monday, April 14. The plaintiff claims $491 as the amount due him on the contract while the defendant asks for $863.75 as damages for work improperly done by the plaintiff.

The damage case of Fred Gerstner against Harry May, the aftermath of an automobile collision last fall south of here, was assigned for Monday, April 21. The plaintiff seeks $5,303 for personal injuries and damages to his machine.

NITE LIFE FOOTNOTES

WALDO—Beating out the rip-sprouting reptiles (and see what the boys in the back room'll have) of hot wax in the village in the new juke-rino installed in the Rathskeller. It's a colossal mechanical music maker complete with a library of 500 recordings.

JUDY'S CAFE—Whistl' roam-in' in the foamin' territory, whip in here and blow the head off a bumper of bock. Also cast an eye down the rifle bar'l in Bill (Hotter'n-a-Pistol) Judy's shooting gallery.

BARB RAINBOW ROOM—Enduring recent conversation with Mixmarvel Mike, a new highball miracle was discussed. It's called "Salutaris." A nole bubbly beverage. Fresh from nature in the form of spring water. Works wonders with Scotch and such. Promulgated by Robert McCreary, former Lima boy making good in the spas.

MILANO—Let the chips and fish fall where they may, but I'll take the Milano, a raft of ravioli and plenty of cold bottled goods. Also a modicum of small talk by Frank, Happy, et al.

ANDY'S CAFE—Vlands are mighty superior hereabouts. Game dinners, in season of course, also downright bully beef, served in manner that'd give anybody the gourmet's drools.

BOY GRILL—All good stuff at all hours.

DIXIE NITE CLUB—Striking up big hit, repeat runs and no errors with the fun fans.

ALPINE VILLAGE—Speaking of fine things in decoration, the note of Marzaret, a Bar-maiden of no mean attainments. She's somewhat a bit of all right, all right. And with a flair for efficiency also.

COURT CAFE—King Richard, prime recent at this N. Main-st. domain, calls your attention to the courtly confections compounded by one Jim Maskey. He's a supreme stir-upper.

NEW YORK RESTAURANT—Eat, drink and be merry. For tomorrow you may be dining in the draft.

PARK CAFE—Brownie's Hot Shots do just that to modern music, baroque ballads and whatnot. For the hungry and thirsty clients the situation also has been adequately taken care of to dangle a proposition.

BURLESQUE IS PREFERRED TO COLLEGE COURSE

NEW YORK, March 22—(UP)—You can learn more about life-in-the-raw in a burlesque theatre in one month than you can learn in college in a year.

Strip-teaser Marcie Hart proved that proposition to everyone's satisfaction last night in a lecture on "comparative sex appeal ratings of students" at Columbia university. The lecture was sponsored by the Columbia players.

"Look at me," Miss Hart said. "I never went to college. Yet here I am, giving a lecture to a group of college students. Did you ever hear of a college student giving a lecture to a group of strip-teasers?"

No one had the several students expressed the opinion it would be good work if you could get it.

"The average college student," Miss Hart continued, "would get a much broader education if he had to take a course that required him to attend a burlesque show every day for six months."

Miss Hart originally intended to discuss "Communism, the colleges, and strip-teasing." Her thesis was to have been that strip-teasing, if introduced to colleges, would drive out Communism.

one discovers that evil plans are afoot. The sheer excitement is sustained to the very end; the writing is lean and vigorous.

QUICK SERVICE, By P. G. Wodehouse. Doubleday, Doran and Company, Inc. $2.50.

Another of the Wodehouse fantasies—this time about the dyspeptic head of Paramount Hams and the trouble caused by a portly trait of his former flame. There is much hilarity as usual and no cloud of war has been able to dull the sparkle of Wodehouse's world.

LANDFALL, By Nevil Shute, Norway. William Morrow and Company. $2.50.

And while we are speaking of the war there is this thrilling story of the English air force.

The story concerns an aviator on channel patrol duty accused of making a terrific error and sinking an English submarine.

The author knows how to write vigorous prose, he knows the English navy and air force, and he can build up a story with mounting suspense. The story is a first class fighting story, a good mystery story and a fine love story.

Mexican Star Featured In State's Hit

The efforts of a madcap bride to get more of her husband's attention by going to Reno's divorce mills, and the unlooked-for complications which result when Uncle Matt takes a hand in reconciliation efforts, provide romance, comedy and drama for "Mexican Spitfire Out West," at the State.

Latest in the popular series starring Lupe Velez and Leon Errol, the picture again presents Miss Velez as a charmingly untempered Latin and Errol as her eccentric uncle by marriage.

Determined to punish her husband for forgetting their first wedding anniversary, Lupe dashes off to Reno, hoping her male will follow and make amends. But hubby's mind is on an important contract he is trying to land from Lord Epping, just arrived from Britain, and he sends Uncle Matt to patch things up.

Instead, Uncle Matt botches things up in a way that piles up one ludicrous situation on another to a cyclonic finish. Much of the hilarity is due to Leon Errol's antics in the quadruple role of Uncle Matt, Lord Epping, Uncle Matt as Lord Epping, and a cockney manservant.

Donald Woods again plays the husband and Elizabeth Risdon, Cecil Kellaway, Linda Hayes and Lydia Billbrook have other important roles.
