Oregon's Old McDermottStore Sold

OREGON-With the sale of the McDermott business to M. J. Felix, Viroqua, Oregon's oldest firm continually in one family name ends.

In 1880 Bernard McDermott came to the village from Rutland, Vt., and opened a general store in a small frame building. By 1899 the business had grown until the present brick structure was erected on the old site, and groceries, drygoods, shoes, and a cold storage plant were incorporated.

Several former clerks have opened their own stores. Thomas Grady and Eugene Sweeney in Oregon and Earl Smith in Belleville.

The family continued the business after Mr. McDermott's death in 1901. The old McDermott store was moved to its present site north of Mrs. W. H. Dreher's building on N. Main st.
