

Unusual Mystery Scheduled For Lyric Screen Tuesday

"Sleepers West" Has Lloyd Nolan And Lynn Bari In Leads; "Trail Of The Lonesome Pine" Is Second Hit On Bill

"Sleepers West," which opens Tuesday at the Lyric for a three-day run, is an unusual mystery hit highlighted by rollicking wisecracking comedy by Lloyd Nolan and Lynn Bari. "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," also will open. "Michael Shayne, Private Detective," and "Billy the Kid's Fighting Pals," end Monday.

Clark Gable and Rosalind Russell are partners in crime on the adventurous China Seas in "They Met in Bombay," current Ohio attraction which has been highly praised by fans who have seen it. Others giving notable performances are Peter Lorre, Jessie Ralph and Reginald Owen. Those who have seen "Barnacle Bill," at the Sigma describe it as one of the funniest shows to appear in Lima in many months. A tale of the troubles of a middle aged couple on the waterfront, it features Wallace Beery, Marjorie Main and Little Virginia Weider.

Two of Hollywood's most prominent stars — Bette Davis and George Brent — co-star in "The Great Lie," currently at the State. That picture and "Scattergood Baines," featuring Guy Kibbee in a rollicking role, will show thru Wednesday.

All of the thrills of a vacation on lovely Miami Beach as shown in "Moon Over Miami," technical feature at the Quilna. Don Ameche and Robert Cummings battle for the love of Betty Grable.

The majestic features are "Great Train Robbery" and "Chip of the Flying U" opening Monday at the Rialto are "The Great Swindle" and "Spirits of the West."

OHIO

Clark Gable and Rosalind Russell have three versatile actors noted for their portrayals of widely popular oriental characters cast with them in "They Met in Bombay," currently at the Ohio theatre.

The trio comprises Peter Lorre, Keye Luke and Sen Yung, Lorre's stellar "Mr. Moto" characterization was in one of the once phenomenally successful series of detective dramas brought to the screen following its spectacular reign in a popular magazine. In "They Met in Bombay," he portrays a sinister Chinese, a sea captain on whose ship Gable and Miss Russell take refuge in fleeing from Bombay, India.

Luke came into prominence in the original "Charlie Chan" film series, when the late Warner Oland portrayed the title character. Sen Yung succeeded him when, after Oland's death, the series was re-started. More recently Sen Yung drew critical praise for his portrayal of a bespectacled Chinese lawyer in Bette Davis' "The Letter."

In "They Met in Bombay," Luke portrays a Chinese detective, sandwiching the performance between his starring film role at another studio as "James Wong, Detective." Sen Yung is Gable's and Miss Russell's houseboy in Hong Kong, to which they flee from Bombay.

The trio merge their talents, artfully into the Far Eastern background of the romantic melodrama in which Gable and Miss Russell portray a pair of international crooks.

"Follies Unique," will be on the Ohio stage on Friday.

Who said that cats like fish? The "Barnacle Bill" company at Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's San Pedro location asked the question, but waited for an answer.

For a scene in the new Wallace Beery starring film, at the Sigma it was necessary to induce a parade of cats to follow Beery, Marjorie Main and Leo Carrillo down a wharf. As bait, the curfews of Beery's trousers housed sardines, and more sardines decorated the soles of Carrillo's shoes. But it didn't work.

Finally, Virginia Weider, came forth with the suggestion, "My cats like catnip," she said.

A messenger was sent to San Pedro to find the delicacy. When he returned, the sardines were replaced by catnip. The trio had a hard time walking after that, with their paths literally blocked by all of the strays in the neighborhood.

"Barnacle Bill" teams Beery and Miss Main, who won acclaim as comical lovers in "Wyoming," in a vivid romance of the water front and the sun Pedro tuna fishing fleet. Beery plays a shiftless roustabout who, confronted with the care of a daughter he hasn't seen since she was a baby, becomes a leader among the tuna fishermen, fighting their battle against a price-fixing combine.

The picture was largely filmed at Fish Harbor, seat of the tuna industry on the Pacific coast. Players include Virginia Weider as the daughter, Barton MacLane, Connie Gilchrist, Donald Meek and Sara Haden.

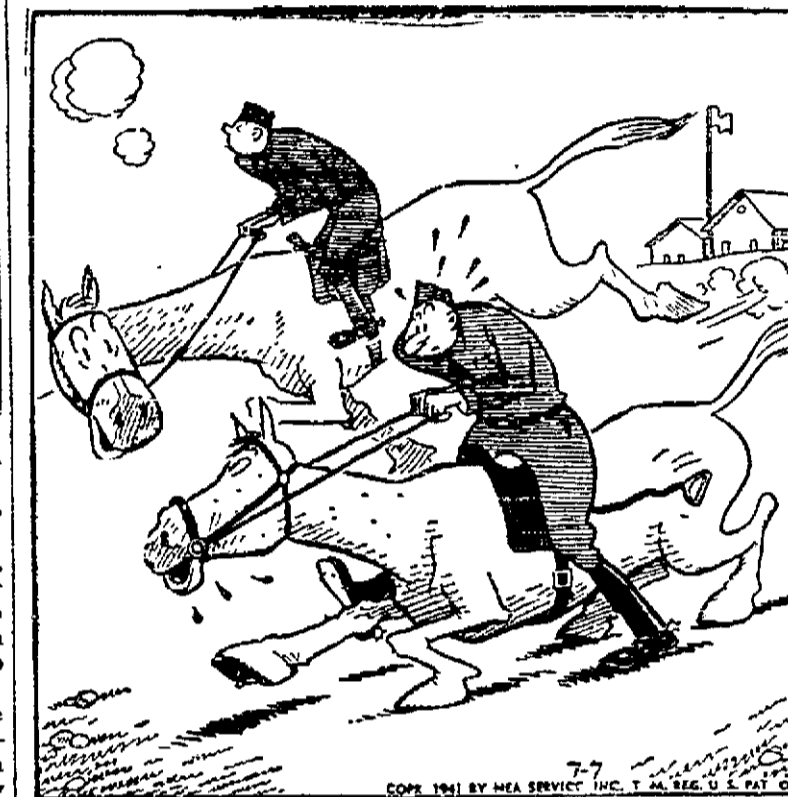

LYRIC
When a fast-talking two-fisted detective tussles with a quick-thinking newspaper guard tracking down a key witness guarded by the detective, the fun begins to fly. Not only fur, but bullets and wisecracks — when the detective is fiction's famous Michael Shayne. "Sleepers West" which features Lloyd Nolan, as Shayne again, Lynn Bari, Mary Beth Hughes, Edward Brophy and Ben "Shadrach" Carter, opens on Tuesday at the Lyric theatre. Detective Shayne has been commissioned to conduct Mary Beth Hughes to San Francisco, where she will testify in the Cal-

Hedy Lamarr Will Appear On Radio Theatre's Final Show

John Kirby's Swingsters To Be Heard Monday Evening; Mystery Drama Is Scheduled For Airing

Cecil B. DeMille is one who believes in ending his Radio Theatre's season with a flourish. He's now added Hedy Lamarr, the gorgeous movie actress, to the cast of "Algiers," which will be presented with Charles Boyer as Pepe LeMoko at 8 p. m. Monday over WABC.

"Algiers" was a star-making motion-picture, for it uncovered Hedy Lamarr a sa young lady guaranteed to make any audience gasp with amazement at her perfect beauty. That Miss Lamarr could act as well as decorate a screen was also revealed to those who saw the movie.

Now the combination of Charles Boyer and Hedy Lamarr becomes a reality on the radio for the first time. It is a fitting climax to the most successful season ever enjoyed by the Radio Theatre. The full-hour dramatic show will resume its policy of presenting stellar Hollywood names in the productions listeners want to hear on Sept. 8.

The studio air-conditioning can positively be expected to break down Monday night at 8 p. m. when John Kirby and his band, sizzling of reproducible "Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street" over WJZ.

No four studio walls have ever been exposed to the heat which will be generated by Kirby's famous swing combination in conjunction with the Basin Street denizens. The latter include such well known and musically notorious characters as Maestro Paul Lavay and his Gusty Ten; "Dr. Hoarey" (Hot Lips) Levine and his Spasmatic Eight; "Dr. Gino Hamilton," who dishes out the footnotes, and Wil S. Scott, intermission interceder.
