

Actor With Tongue-Twister Name Gets Big Chance

Carey Given Opportunity At Paramount

Graduates From Gotham Stage And Radio When Firm Buys New Play

By ALEXANDER KAHN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
HOLLYWOOD, July 19—(UP)—In the space of a half hour the subject of today's little story was introduced as Cary McDonnell, Donald McCary, Gary Donnell and Donald Cary. His name is McDonnell Cary and his career is as unusual as the variations upon his name.

But Cary doesn't mind what name he's called and fully expects that it will be no taken for those of Harry Carey, Gary Cooper, Gary Cooper, Lee Metcalf and possibly Jeanette MacDonald, he told us.

Just call me Mac and that's enough," he smiled. "I've had to make a name for myself and I don't care anything to show like a long as I get a chance to show what I can do."

Cary, like many another Hollywood actor, comes to the screen from Broadway, but he's not most stage players. He did not spend years of apprenticeship on the boards.

"I guess I was lucky, but I finished the leading role in 'The Great Road' with my being associated with the Broadway stage. And when Paramount bought the play, they took me along to do the same part."

"I'm a college-trained actor, even the people in the business will tell you that. Nobody ever learned to act in any school, especially a college. I did at the University of Iowa. I appeared in every college play given there for five years and earned myself a number of arts degrees while learning to act."

And if that wasn't had enough—from the standpoint of the professional actor—Cary's four-year course was in Shakespearean drama. A fellow actor used as a training ground for the stage and screen. But Cary got a Shakespearean education, right from college.

The company was The Globe Players," he said, "and we did condensed versions of the Bard's plays. You know—a complete play by Shakespeare in 45 minutes. We spent about eight months putting on the plays at the Texas Central in Dallas and then went on to other cities for a year doing the same thing."

"Eventually the Globe Players finished their tour for the last few years. I had my first big break in an unimportant play in daytime radio serials, 'Soap Operas,' as they're known in the business, 'WORKED IN GOTHAM'."

"During the last two years of his career as a 'Soap Opera' performer, Cary was in New York and did his best to get the movie talent scouts to have him in a contract at $20 a week, but there were no takers."

"So when I heard that actors were being auditioned to appear in Miss Lawrence's play, I went up to have a try at that. I guess Shakespeare and soap opera did help me for the Shakespearean experience gave me the ability to use my voice on rich language and the radio had taught me to pick up a script and read it off almost immediately."

When 'Gotham in the Data' became a smash hit on Broadway, a much sought after young man was Mickey, but Cary was not. Mickey's career had been a success, but Cary's was not.

But before he appears in the screen version of 'Gotham' Cary is going to play the lead in 'Take a Letter Dada' at the Metropolitan Opera, for Paramount.

"I've heard," he said, "that reminds me, back in 1931, when I was a freshman in college, I stepped on a freighter as dock hand and came to Hollywood to see a movie studio. The biggest part that was pushed up in my face to keep me out was at Paramount."

Life Of Great Opera Tenor To Be Dramatized Sunday

Star Spangled Theatre Reviews Career Of Enrico Caruso; Al Schacht Guest Of Stern's Sports Reel

The life of Enrico Caruso, the late great Italian tenor, will be dramatized on "Star Spangled Theatre", Sunday, July 20, at 8:00 p. m., EDST, on the NBC-Blue Network, with Jan Peerce, brilliant NBC tenor, in the Caruso role. Esther Ralston, stage and screen star currently heard in NBC's "Portia Faces Life", will co-star with Peerce.

Peerce will sing three numbers, among them the "Vesti La Giubba" aria from "Pagliacci", by Leoncavallo, in which Caruso achieved one of his greatest successes as the tragic clown.

Al Schacht, author of "Charming Through the Chair", will be Bill Stern's guest on the Sports News-Week on the Air broadcast, Sunday at 8:45 p. m. over WJZ.

Fast profits and warring passions are the story when Paul Lukas appears as guest star for the first time on the "Inner Sanctum M. Story" program, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. over WJZ.

Helen Hottel, NBC's girl war correspondent, will make an important appearance on the Columbia-Broadway Corporation's "We Have Been There" series, Sunday at 8 p. m. over the CBC.

Formers and success in many fields are the subjects of the "Round the Mile" program at 11:30 p. m. over WJZ.

Slippy is just an Eskimo-Spitz but a trained police dog but his courageous protection of his 12-year-old master will be presented Sunday, when he is cited as "America's bravest dog of the week" on the "Moxlin Sisters" broadcast at 4 p. m. over WJZ.

Robert Woods, harpist, will be guest soloist with Astor, Knott and the 15-piece orchestra on "Music That Refreshes" over NBC Sunday at 7 p. m. Numbers by Knott, Knott and the orchestra include "Walse Platin", "His So Goodful in the Country" and "Lachstrom". Albert Spalding, violinist, acts as master of ceremonies.

EARLY MARKET IS PROFITABLE ON CORN CROP
(Special To The Lima News)
BLUFFTON, July 19—Harry Sutter, farmer residing three and one-half miles west of town, has been trucking considerable quantities of sweet corn to Detroit commission house this week where he has been selling the product for 35 to 40 cents a dozen.

Early planting of corn plus unusually good growing conditions have enabled Sutter to cash in on his crop before the prices come down to more normal levels.

Sutter has nine acres in sweet corn and planted it in four seedlings. He has been using early hybrid varieties of the sweet corn. His land is largely sandy loam which is considered excellent soil for an early harvest of this variety of corn.

SEWAGE PLANT NEARS FINISH

Minster Expects To Put New System In Operation During August

(Special To The Lima News)
MINSTER, July 19—Announcement was made here today by village officials that construction and equipping of the sewage treatment plant being built here as part of a $325,000 sewage project is nearing completion. The plant probably will be placed in operation early next month.

Work on the building is practically finished and machinery is being installed. While the sanitary sewer system being installed is only about half completed, owners of property where sewers have been laid will be permitted to tap into the lines as soon as the plant is in operation.

A rigid inspection of sewer tap lines will be made at each tie-in place. Village officials say the new sewer lines are to care for nothing but straight sewage and cellar drains. No storm water will be permitted to pass thru.

Laying of sewers was expedited this week with the resuming of use of the trenching machine formerly rented by the village for making excavations, owned by the Probosc Construction Co., of Lima. This time the WPA is paying for use of the equipment, with a maximum of 200 hours of use specified.

ENGLISH YOUTH WRITES ABOUT WAR TIME LIFE

Long distance German bombers as yet have failed to spread terror and destruction to all England by their continuous air raids according to a letter received here by a south Lima high school student from a resident of Oxford, England.

Peter Cross, a student at a Oxford high school, in a correspondence letter with Miss Mary Wagner, 479 S. Central-av., states that Oxford has had no air raid, although bombs have fallen within an area of two miles.

Cross also states that the British anger is rising against DeValera, prime minister of Ireland, because he will not allow England to enter Irish ports. He adds that he "wonders how long England will tolerate his stubbornness."

"We get along quite well with rationing in food products, but not so well with the petroleum allowance," the Englishman declares. There is a shortage of chocolate, especially milk, and most sweets are up about one-half as much again as their peacetime price.

Book Reviews

Books Reviewed Here May Be Obtained At The Lima Public Library, Main Library

By MARY LATHROP
Lima Public Library Staff
I Was Winston Churchill's Private Secretary. By Phyllis Moir. Funk and Wagnalls Co. $2.

A captivating picture of Winston Churchill written by the young woman who was his secretary during his visit to the United States. Miss Moir tells of the foibles of personal traits of the Churchill family.

The book is surprising because it is simple and dignified, not full of trivialities or hero worship. We can see Churchill as he really is, driven by a sense of destiny, endowed with great creative gifts, of unquenchable courage, one minute irascible and the next disarmingly generous.

MAGIC IN A BOTTLE. By Milton Silverman. The Macmillan Co. $2.50.
A famous pharmacologist writes with romantic enthusiasm of the discovery of 10 important drugs used in modern medicine. There are some good stories there and Silverman makes the most of them supplying verbatim conversations with complete abandon.

The highly colored style of DeKruif is used and it makes intensely interesting reading.

JOBS HOUSE. By Caroline Slade. Vanguard Press, Inc. $2.50.
Here we see again the many aspects of the relief situation through this novel by the author of "The Triumph of Willie Pond." The central characters are Jobie Mann and his wife Katie who in their late sixties are faced with the necessity of applying for relief.

It is a realistic portrayal written out of Mrs. Slade's years of experience as a social worker. From a book such as this we learn much of good and evil, of hope and despair—much more than we could learn from dozens of social abstracts.

CITY OF ILLUSION. By Vardis Fisher. Harper and Brothers. $2.50.
Discovery of the fabulous Comstock lode in Nevada in 1859, the boom that resulted and the final failure of the mines make this story. Its principal character is Elley Cowan who ran a boarding house in the canyon before silver was discovered and who became immensely wealthy afterward.

You will find dates that do not match up, characters out of their time, and incidents out of their settings, but you go on reading just the same because it is such an intensely alive book.

LANTEARNS ON THE LEVEE. By William Alexander Percy. Alfred A. Knopf, Inc. $3.00.
An autobiography of a southern planter's son, and also a description of life on the Mississippi delta. Also it is just one man's story it is the story of a whole section and its people.

It has southern charm, it is sentimental and humorous. The author's devotion to the south enables him to picture its past and present most vividly. Its real significance lies in the candor and completeness of the discussion of the southern aristocrat's point of view.
