BARCLAY ON BRIDGE By Shepard Barclay

MADISON, SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1941

"The Asthority on Authorities"

TRY TO BE DIFFERENA IN A DUPLICATE tournament, with match-point scoring, unless you figure you are probably ahead of your opposition and wish to be as conservative as possible to protect your lead, it is well to look for "different" ways of playing the hands. By that is meant methods which probably are not used by your chief rivals in the game. If you see a combination of cords which cards which can be played in either of two ways, one of them practically as sound as the other, the procedure to follow, when you are seeking top scores, is the one you think your rivals are the less likely to adopt.

♣KQ1032 4 A 9

(Dealer: West, Neither side vul-Pass

That 5-Heart bid, after the earlier jump to 3-Hearts, was a mighty powerful call, almost a force to small slam if North had anything besides the minimum he had shown. He had, with his heart K, so went to 6-Hearts, that same tables of a duplicate game. All three of these declarers got the same opening lead, the spade 2,

East playing his J, but two of the three failed to make the contract, those who thought they already had a good score. The other, reaching out for tops to make up lost ground, not only made the contract, but an extra, trick as

Where the contract was beaten, each declarer, after taking the first trick with the spade A, led to the heart K and brought back the 10, covering it with the J. West won the finesse with his Q, then decided the spade suit was not hopeful, as finding East with the J, Q and K originally was unlikely. So each West decided upon a switch to the diamond 10, and the A won, setting the contract.

The "shooter" at the remaining 6-Hearts table studied a bit after winning the first spade trick. He reckoned that his rivals would take the heart K and finesse the J. so he chose to do differently. He led the J from his hand. West refused to cover, so the J rode through. The heart K, club A and heart A cleared trumps. Thus two spades were scored, six heart tricks and five clubs, 13 in all, one more than needed.

Your Week-End Lesson Why is it sound to count a singleton in your hand as of some value when you consider making an opening bid? Is it because you are in position to trump the second round of the suit? Is it be-cause possession of the singleton obviously causes some other suit to be longer than if you had a doubleton instead of a singleton? Is it because of a combination of these? Can you set up a hand in which the difference between a doubleton and a singleton in the original bidder's hand really

War Spirit's Back Broken, Nye Declares

MOUNTAIN LAKE, Minn.—(U.P.)
—Sen. Gerald P. Nye (R., N. D.)
said Thursday night the one-vote margin by which the house of representatives passed the bill ex-tending the term of service for draftees "is a record which will mark the breaking of the back of intervention."

"That vote, whereby a margin of one broke faith with American boys in the camps, will be shown ultimately to have been noted to that part of the world expecting us in their war that there is any-thing but unity to our further involvement," Nye said in a speech.

"They must be aware of the fact - these would-be allies - that we're no going down the 1917 road again. No American dares take us further so long as the American people continue their determined stand against it."

Judge Rules Conspiracy in Tobacco Case

LEXINGTON, Ky. — (U.P) — Federal Judge H. Church Ford ruled Thursday that "sufficient evidence to establish a conspiracy' had been introduced at the antitrust trial of the "Big Three" tobacco companies.

Therefore, Ford said, evidence to prove an alleged price "breaking" campaign by the R. J. Reynolds company at Denver also must be admitted as evidence against the other defendants: the American and Liggett and Myers companies. Government attorneys had pre-sented more than 50 reports made by a Reynolds employe in 1937 and afterwards. They allegedly indicated that Reynolds had tempted to force Denver retailers to sell cigarets at a lower price while paying the same price to wholesalers.

"We have also the indication,"

Ford ruled, "that each of the other defendants in other parts of the United States have been utilizing
