

Civic Band Ends Season Today

With a program ranging from swing to grand opera, the Madison Civic band will play its last concert of the season at 3 p. m. today in Tenney park. John L. Bach will conduct the organization.

The swing will be provided by a sextet composed of Earl Smith, Doster DeHaven, Norman Kingsley, Roland Weinbrenner, Sam Intravia, and Henry Johnson. Grand opera will be represented by "Dance of the Comedians" from Smetana's "The Bartered Bride."

Kingsley also will appear as a soloist, playing Simon's "Willow Echoes." Another guest artist will be Kenneth Simmons, assistant director of bands at the University of Wisconsin, who will wield the baton for his own composition, "Evening Song."

The program also will include "Star Dust," "Wedding of the Winds," the "Light Cavalry" overture, "The Caissons Go Rolling Along," variations on "Pop Goes the Weasel," selections from "The Chocolate Soldier," Coates' "Knightsbridge March," "The Stars and Stripes Forever," "Blaze Away," and "The Little Giant," military marches.

Disney Studios Close; Reductions in Staff Planned

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—The board of directors of Walt Disney productions has ordered the studio closed for two weeks and announced operations could not be continued "unless a substantial reduction in personnel was made."

The order followed by two weeks submission to the National Labor Relations Board of a dispute between the studio and the Screen Cartoon Guild (American Federation of Labor) which had been on strike three months.

"For some time it has been obvious that because of the loss of a large part of its world market, the company could not continue its operations unless a substantial reduction in personnel was made," said Gunther Lessing, vice-president.

The necessity for such reduction is readily conceded by the Screen Cartoon Guild. The matter of this layoff was in issue in the recent arbitration proceedings before federal conciliators, and the award provided that any disagreement between the union and the company as to persons to be laid off was to be submitted to an arbitrator. Lessing did not indicate the number of employees which the studio proposes to lay off. In all there are approximately 1,200 workers, including some 800 animators.

Ballet to Appear in Technicolor Films

HOLLYWOOD—At the end of its current San Francisco engagement, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will return to Hollywood and go before the cameras Aug. 25 in the first of a series of features in Technicolor.

First of its ballets to be filmed will be "Gaité Parisienne" and the next will be selected from "The New Yorkers," "Capriccio Espagnol," and "Le Baiser Danube."

VERSATILE LIONEL

Lionel Barrymore appeared both as composer and performer at a Hollywood Bowl philharmonic concert. As a performer, he was narrator for Prokofiev's symphony, based on a fairy tale, "Peter and the Wolf." As a composer took a bow following the playing of his "Tableau Russe" by the Bowl orchestra.

O'NEILL CHOSEN

Henry O'Neill steps from the early-day West of "Billy the Kid" and "Honky-Tonk" to a more modern setting in "Sabes on Broadway." He is cast as the important supervisor of a New York children's home in the new Mickey Rooney-Judy Garland musical.

WEIGHTY GOWN

Rise Stevens, in "Chocolate Soldier," in which she sings opposite Nelson Eddy, wears an Adrian-designed gown that weighs 15 pounds. It is a modern dinner dress made entirely of bugle beads.

BELLEGERENT ROLE

John Dilson plays the belligerent circulation manager in "The New York Story."

Dodgeville Appoints New Music Teacher

DODGEVILLE—Florence Neuhaus, Manitowish, has been engaged to teach music in the Dodgeville public schools during the coming year, members of the school board announced here Saturday.

Library Has Hints for Job Seekers

With school starting in a month from now, boys and girls with an eye for practicality have been borrowing books on vocations from the Madison Free library. To help these young people decide on their careers, the Madison Free library has assembled an exhibit of books and pamphlets on jobs and job-hunting.

Eather Brooke, the head of a large employment agency, is the author of the library's newest book of vocational guidance, "Career Choice," discusses the choice of the right job, training for it, and the possibility of getting it. Harry Kitson, R. H. Platt, William Reilly, and George H. Waltz have also written guides to help people decide what they want to be.

Make Your Own Job

The pamphlet collection in the reference room has material on many specific vocations, as well as on trends in national employment.

"Make Your Own Job" counsels color Ryder, and Pauline Cleaver, children in with a book called "Make a Job For Yourself." Young people looking for new types of occupation have their choice of two books—"New Careers for Youth," by Walter Pitkin, and "New Occupation for Youth," by Torney Nall.

Many books get down to brass tacks, and deal specifically with nursing, photographic occupations, selling, accountancy, aviation, and even band leading. Of course, there are books describing opportunities in medicine, radio, and journalism. L. K. Wright is convinced that air conditioning and refrigeration is "The Next Great Industry," while Francis Maule writes a book advocating that secretarial work is "The Road to Anywhere."

Selling Always Open

Boys might investigate diving for a living as described by Erik Metter in his "Up For Air" and John Craig in "Danger Is My Business." Girls have a wide choice in "Business Opportunities for the Home Economist," or "Advertising Careers for Women."

"Selling—A Job That's Always Open" might satisfy some, but hunters for other kinds of work will prefer to read Paul Boynton's "Six Ways to Get a Job," Lyons and Martin's "Strategy of Job Finding," or Maurice Wesen's "How to Apply for a Position."

Points at which the traveling exhibit will be a part is to be shown in eight cities throughout the United States between Nov. 6, 1941, and Nov. 1, 1942. Pictures included in the exhibit are selected examples from the International Water Color exhibition.

New Turn of Events Brings Complications to 'Linda's First Love'

This week, in "Linda's First Love," Ross Barclay's ex-wife, Zelma, heads for Reno to divorce her fifth husband, Kurt. She thereby sheds the title of Baroness of Tollenar, planning on her return, to become Mrs. Ross Barclay again.

Linda's hopes of bearing this name are shattered forever. But she is jolted from her gloominess by the confession of her father that Danny Grogan still loves her deeply and tried to see her in vain on several occasions.

Perplexed by this sudden turn of events on two fronts, Linda nevertheless makes a decision. What it is—and what she does about it—are revealed this week in "Linda's First Love," broadcast Monday and Tuesday over Friday over WIBA at 3 p. m.

Headaches Feared: Bergen Will Return to His Home Town

Pretty terrific are the problems faced this week by the town of Decatur, Mich., (Pop. 1,582), for, somewhat on the order of a man who is about to become the owner of an elephant for the first time, Decatur is getting a wrinkled forehead trying to have everything in order for the arrival there of Edgar Bergen—a home town boy who made good.

The reception for Bergen will be held Wednesday, when Edgar and Charlie McCarthy will arrive. Bergen will put on a show for the home town and the proceeds will go toward providing Decatur with a public library.
