

Vivacious Lady' Showing As Lyric Screen Feature

Technicolor Aviation Film On At Ohio With Bumsteads At Quilna; State Shows "Love Crazy"

A madcap bride takes a course in botany just to be near her secret husband, a college professor, in "Vivacious Lady," which stars James Stewart and Ginger Rogers and commences Tuesday at the Lyric theatre. Booked to show with the Stewart-Rogers film is "The Roar of the Press." Concluding films are "Tex Rides With the Boy Scouts" and "The Gang's All Here."

A spectacular new technicolor film, "Dive Bombers," starring Fred MacMurray and Errol Flynn, is the current Ohio attraction. MacMurray is cast as an adventurous pilot while Flynn is a flight surgeon, with Ralph Bellamy, seeking a cure for "pilot black-out." Others in the cast are Alexis Smith, Robert Armstrong, Regis Toomey and Allen Jenkins.

The Bumsteads go in for a bit of nose-raising and lorgnette-peering in "Blondie in Society," with the roles of Blondie, Dagwood and Baby Dumpling portrayed by Penny Singleton, Arthur Lake and Larry Simms, respectively, the roles each made popular. The co-features, "Naval Academy," stars Freddie Bartholomew.

William Powell goes thru antics ranging from getting his head caught in an elevator shaft to masquerading as a woman in the goofiest series of adventures he has ever attempted in "Love Crazy," in which he and Myrna Loy co-star, again as husband and wife, at the State theatre. Robert Paige and Jane Praeger are featured in the co-attraction, "San Antonio Rose."

All the thrills of a wild animal hunt are provided in the current Sigma film, "Frank Buck's Jungle Cavalcade," which the noted captor has produced to give theatre fans a first-hand view of a jungle expedition. The scenes of this picture comprise the high spots of miles of film shot in the jungles of the Malay archipelago.

SIGMA
According to Frank Buck, noted collector of wild animals, the man who penetrates the tropical hinterland adopts an outfit distinctly appropriate to his mission and oddly enough it seems to combine some features of the golfer's, poloist's and track athlete's costumes. Mr. Buck himself will be seen so garbed in his adventure film, "Frank Buck's Jungle Cavalcade," now at the Sigma theatre.

"The jungle explorer and collector of wild beasts has by experience adopted a costume consisting of a white knicker, a hickory shirt, khaki shorts, golf stockings, a pit helmet and heavy brogans," says Mr. Buck.

"This may appear to be rather a scanty costume, but in the tropics it suffices, in spite of very rough going in such wild country. The helmet, of course, is adapted to best protection from the sun. The knicker is tight fitting, and of wool to absorb abundant perspiration. The hickory shirt is for general protection from variations in temperature. The khaki shorts come half way down the thigh, leaving bare the knees. The golf stockings, although heavy, are not out of order, for they protect the lower limb from brush. Although the knees are unprotected, it is by design, to allow air circulation thru the shorts, reducing perspiration. The brogans must be strong for heavy wear. Incidentally, the knicker set, along with nothing more than breech clouts or shorts, and perhaps a thin shirt. Their hides are pretty well toughened to jungle conditions.

"Contrary to theory buttees are of little use in the jungle and are worn only by amateur adventurers. Of some protection against snakes, they are of inferior service to golf stockings."

OHIO
Errol Flynn and Fred MacMurray head a company of 150 film makers who went to the naval air base, San Diego, to film the U. S. Navy air thriller, "Dive Bomber." The film had full government approval, and shows advanced naval attack and defense tactics which, it is said, will do more than any other feature ever filmed to acquaint the public with the superb power and organization of this branch of the government service.

A better selection of stars for the two top roles cannot well be imagined. Flynn's performance combines the reckless daring which has made him such a wide favorite with a depth and maturity that lends credence to his role of surgeon. MacMurray, natural as always, is completely at home in his pilot's garb and the hard-bitten cynicism of the seasoned flyer.

"Dive Bomber" was filmed in Technicolor. Commander J. R. Poppen and Commander Seth Warner were assigned by the naval aeronautics bureau in Washington to work with the director on technical details in connection with the project.

LYRIC
Co-starring two of the screen's leading favorites, Ginger Rogers and James Stewart, who received the coveted Academy award for the best performance during 1940, "Vivacious Lady" offers a brilliant and up-to-date romance to film-goers. It is scheduled for the Lyric theatre, starting on Tuesday.

The story love affair of a night-club entertainer and a studious young professor is the theme of the story, the acting of which takes place in a sleepy little college town, in whose dignified atmosphere the heroine is astonished to find herself.

Stewart, as the young pedagogue, marries Miss Rogers, the entertainer, after a brief whirlwind courtship in New York City, and takes her back to Old Sharon, fearing the stern tongue of his Puritanical father, who is also the president of the college, the boy hesitates to tell his family of the marriage.

Only Stewart's cousin, played by James Ellison, knows the truth, and he loyally tries to help out the couple. A series of complications, fostered by the determination of Stewart's boyhood sweetheart to marry the young man, and by Miss Rogers' growing impatience with her husband's lack of decision, make up the interesting crises of the story, with many hilarious situations piling high the entertainment values of the picture.

The two stars have strongly colorful roles that give them notable opportunities to display their abilities, and they are given grand support by a hand-picked cast. Ellison is featured as Stewart's playboy cousin, and Charles Coburn and Beulah Bondi as Stewart's parents, Frances Mercer as the "other woman," Phyllis Kennedy as a bored housemaid and Grady Sutton as Stewart's laboratory assistant, all fill prominent roles.

The settings range from the glitter of a Broadway night club to the ivy-clad walls and sedate classrooms of the small-town college. And against these settings the conflict of modern romance with old-fashioned ideals is played in striking fashion. A sparkling modern ballad, "You'll Be Reminded Of Me," is sung by Miss Rogers in the night-club sequence. It was written by George Jessel, Jack Meskill and Ted Shapiro.

QUILNA
Hollywood's know-it-alls don't know anything, Penny Singleton taught them that.

The lovely "Blondie" of popular Bumstead family comedies has taught Hollywood not to expect typical behavior from her. And Miss Singleton, it might be mentioned in passing, ideally portrays the "most typical" young American housewife the screen has ever known!

Miss Singleton, currently to be seen at the Quilna theatre with Arthur Ace, Larry Simms and Edgar Kennedy in "Blondie in Society," newest of the comedies based upon Chic Young's cartoon strip, has kept Hollywood guessing since her arrival in that fair city.

For one thing, her background of Broadway successes made her a natural for stardom in sound films. Miss Singleton had starred in such musical comedies as "Good News," "Follow Through" and "Hey Nonny, Nonny;" her splendid singing voice and extraordinary ability as a dancer had made her a top-flight Broadway star.

In Hollywood, Miss Singleton announced she was on a vacation and was not interested in the slightest in work before the camera.

Hollywood began clamoring at the gates, and Penny relented. She would work before the camera, but only as an actress. Her performances in "After the Thin Man" and "The Mad Miss Manton" proved her an actress of no mean ability. Miss Singleton promptly turned to the "Blondie" films and comedy, just as she was making a reputation for herself as a dramatic actress.

One other thing Miss Singleton did that the know-it-alls still claim can't be done, Penny was born Dorothy McNulty, daughter of a Philadelphia newspaperman, and it was as Dorothy McNulty that she first won fame. Her career began as a singer of illustrated songs in a Philadelphia movie house before she was nine years old. Years of vaudeville brought her to Broadway and stardom... as Dorothy McNulty.

And it was Dorothy McNulty, whose name was a decided box office draw, at whose gates Hollywood clamored. The actress deliberately changed to Penny Singleton; a new entertainment medium and a new career called for a new name!
