Nickels, Dimes to Provide 'Live' Shows for Children'

Lindsay and Russell Crouse and now in its second year on Broadway. Because of the relatively small size of the theater, the children will each pay 15 cents admission. instead of the usual 10 cents, to cover the cost of lighting the theater, programs, tickets and scrubwomen's wages for the afternoon. Touring Companies The next step in the great program of bringing the flesh-and-blood theater to the children of America already is well under way. It embraces a plan whereby touring companies appearing in plays that have proved themselves artistic successes in New York, will give exactly the same kind of a 5-10-and-15cent performances in cooperation with public authorities in cities, towns and villages from the Atlantic to the Pacific, These prices are made possible, of course, only through the generosity, goodwill and cooperation of of the greatest figures of the American theater, who have come forward without a moment's hesitation to volunteer tress, Katharine Cornell, who led the way last May, and at the same time made theatrical history, when she gave the now-famous 5-cent perform-ance of her successful revival were quiet smiles of apprecia-tion at the subtler shafts of When the memorable performance finally ended, both Miss Cornell and Harding, author of the scheme, spoke to the boys and girls. Two-thirds of them raised their hands when they were them asked how many of were seeing a play acted by live men and women for the first time. Then they shouled their appreciation, and as many as could be accommodated were permitted to file back-stage to shake hands with Miss Cornell, Massey and Harding.

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia. who had purchased the first two 5-cent tickets for the performance, found at the last minute that he could not be present. But he sent his enthusiastic good wishes. Mise Cornell herself said it was one of the most thrilling au-diences before which she ever had played. Massey remarked that "the kids have spoiled us for any other audience."

Extended to Nation

With the enormous success of the venture still the talk of Broadway, Harding's proj-ect, known as the School Theater program, lost no time in getting the national program into full swing. Every man and woman associated with the undertaking freely admits that there is a material objective behind this audden prodigal display of gererosity on the part of the American theater world. He will tell you that in giving his services to the venturewhether as actor, author, producer, technician or the humblest under-study-he is convinced that he is serving the cause of the American theater as it has never been served before.

These workers are determined the world of make-be-lieve, which they love and in which they earn their living, is not going to vanish from the American scene. They have taken their case straight to the citizens of the next generation-and they have met with a thrilling response, are to see a play acted by flesh-and-blood actors and actresses for the first time in their lives during the coming This thrilling experience, of which they have heard their parents and grandparents speak, but which they themselves never expected to achieve until they could travel perhaps several hundred miles to the nearest large city, is to come to them as the reault of the busy activities of a little group of public-spirited men and women of the thea-ter in New York during the past summer. The plan, which was tested with overwhelming success on Broadway last Memorial Day, will bring professional pro-ductions of currently successful plays, acted by leading actors and actresses, to school children throughout the United States at the unheard-of admission price of 5, 10 and 15 cents. Starts Sept. 15

The Chamberlin School of Dancing, Music, and Dramatics, 240 W. Gilman st., will open for its fall session Sept. 15, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Chamberlin announced Saturday.

Registration begins Monday, and instruction will start Sept. 15. A course in public speaking has been added, and a fifth room made available for larger bailroom dancing classes. Mrs. R. A. Clifford will teach violin.

Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin were graduated from the University of Wisconsin, majoring in speech and music, respectively.

Kehl Again Heads

Leo Kehl, perennially pres-ident of the National Association of Dancing Masters, has been elected to his eighth year at that post. He returned to Madison from his 15th year as a faculty member in the association's school for dance teachers in Chicago and will open dancing classes here

Teachers assisting in the school here will be Kathryn

Hubbard, Mrs. Florence Burns, Gladys Cirves, Marion Hughes,

But Alfred Harding, editor of Equity magazine, official publication of the Actors'

Equity Association of Ameri-ca, had evolved the whole idea on a sound basis. For he had seen the same thing done with brilliant success four years ago in Warsaw, during a visit to the Polish capital.

And so, before the cynics had ceased rubbing their eyes in surprise, Harding had ob-tained the consent of the entire cast, stage crew, musicians and producers of "The Doctor's Dilemma" to participate in the epochal performance without a penny's renu-meration. Lee Shubert even offered the free use of his beautiful namesake theater.

This famous school has become a great American tradition. Leo Kehl's pupils include many people from the best families-smart, young debs, society leaders, well-known business and professional men and women. Here they not only learn to dance well, but later on return again and again to keep their dancing modern.

In Leo Kehl's pleasant studios (newly decorated) you can quickly become a popular, interesting partner, though you know little or nothing about music or dancing. His talented, expertly trained staff has taught many thousands of individuals to dance rhythmically, faultlessly, smoothly.

A few lessons are all you need. And you'll be astonished how little it costs and how enjoyable it is to learn . .
