STUDENT COSTS HIGHER IN 1941, SURVEY SHOWS

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 12 (INS) — If Michigan State college is any criterion, too college will occupy a larger nook in the pocket of the year.

A survey conducted by the college's student publication, State News, revealed a blanket increase of 20 per cent in the cost of obtaining an education here.

While tuition fees have been raised to $120 a year for state students and to $150 for out-of-state students, the survey found that the general increase was accounted for in part by higher costs of food and board.

The restaurants, 11 boarding clubs, and the cafeteria at the college, 1,000-bed all-inclusive campus, this fall, lunches, which formerly had cost 15 cents, are now up to 25 cents.

Sweet rolls, the traditional "quaker's breakfast" of the campus, have risen one and two cents.

For the student who likes to keep his pants and two-tone shoes in good shape, cleaning prices have been boosted to 25 cents.

EXTENSIVE ZOO KEPT ON FARM AS AMUSEMENT

MASON CITY, Ill., Nov. 12 — (AP) — A veterinarian's desire to "have something to play with" has materialized into an extensive zoo on his farm north of here.

Dr. M. B. Mathers, farmer and veterinarian, says the gift of a buffalo calf was the start of a hobby which today has grown into a collection of more than 100 animals, including many ferocious jungle species.

Sunday crowds at "Mathers' Zoo" sometimes number as many as 100 to 200 persons.

The zoo lions, camels, black bear, elk, deer, monkeys, buffalo, long-tailed raccoons, South American anteaters, red fox, gila monster, skunks, alligators, an armadillo, golden pheasants, peacocks, wild geese, duck and brant, an eagle and a horned owl.

Absent from the zoo are three lions who are traveling with a circus. Two remain, however, and Mathers and his 20-year-old son, Kenneth, sometimes wrestle with them "to keep in trim."

Among Mathers' animals is a cat, a cross between a Jersey cow and a buffalo bull. Mose, the camel, is 55 years old, and the bear, a red fox, is tame as a dog.

NOW YOU TELL ONE

ALL YOU NEED IS A LITTLE SALT OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP) — A duck in the hand is a lot more fun than a flock on the lake, Walter C. Bonebrake, who speaks from experience contends. Bonebrake stepped to the edge of a small lake, shotgun in hand. A startled flock of ducks whirred into him. He grabbed. When the air cleared, Bonebrake swears, he still held his shotgun in one hand. In the other was a live, unharmed greenhead mallard drake.

BIG TIME GAMBLING SALISBURY, Md., (AP) — Two men were fined $1 and costs each in court on gambling charges. Officer E. G. Nichols produced the evidence against them—two pairs of dice and a nickel, total sum in the men's crap game.

THAR SHE BLOWS NORMAN, Okla., (AP) — E. L. Lucas, geology professor at the University of Oklahoma, was teaching his class about the geysers of Yellowstone National Park. To illustrate his lectures he constructed a model of Old Faithful, the park's most famous geyser. The thing is so faithful to detail it erupts periodically, sending a column of water four feet into the air.

TRACES FOUND OF CANNIBALS ON CONTINENT WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — (UP) — Some of the earliest settlers on the North American continent — cannibalistic migrants from Siberia who settled on Kodiak Island — used the skulls of vanquished enemies as drinking cups, according to Dr. Alex. Hrdlicka of the Smithsonian Institution.

Those early day Americans, Dr. Hrdlicka said, used the skulls of valorous enemies in the belief that some virtues of the deceased might be transferred to them.

He said a study of the skeletons of the islanders showed they apparently were remarkably free from disease. Even fractures were infrequent. Dr. Hrdlicka reported, and evidence of dental decay were missing, although their teeth showed signs of advanced wear.

Dr. Hrdlicka found numerous pierced skulls, indicating the tribal medicine men practiced punitive forms of surgery, chiefly on women patients. The operations appeared to have been performed with considerable skill and the patients apparently survived, Dr. Hrdlicka said.

BROKEN ARM STARTS LAD ON PUBLISHING CAREER DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 12 — (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Dwight Wheeler has two major interests, one the result of the other. Dwight was studying drums when he was six and broke his right elbow. While it was mending, he made a collection of stories about handicapped musicians who made good.

Then he decided to start a newspaper. Beginning with five dollars capital, The Midget News first appeared in September, 1929. Today it has a circulation of 200 copies, carries local and national advertising, current news stories and special features. A column headed, "My Pop Sez" is written by his father. The editor's personal column is "So You Think You're Behind the Eight Ball," and in it Dwight tells stories of people who have accomplished much even though physically handicapped.

CHIMPS MAKE MONKEYS OF HUMANS OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two chimpanzees in the city zoo turned the tables on spectators. They broke out and went around looking at people. A neat bit of strategy gave them their freedom for five hours. First they tugged and pulled until they got the lock off their cage. It let them into an outer room guarded by a door with a glass window. The chimps, Annette, 16, and Josephine, 22, smashed the glass, hid in a corner when a custodian investigated. As he entered, out they ran, chattering cheerfully over their successors. Keepers and police joined to recapture them.

IT'S A WONDERFUL AGE BIG ISLAND, Va., (AP) — Even the chickens are taking this defense business seriously. Mrs. J. E. Manley killed a chicken, cut open the gizzard, and found seven .22 calibre cartridges.
