Roundy: Speaking of the "Wrong Business Club", I'm a charter mem-ber. And how! The jewelers slogan for years has been "Gifts that last." They last too darn long. Hundreds of men still carry their grandfathers watch (many of them over 50 years of service). Wedding rings usually last 25 years (unless severed otherwise). Diamonds and other precious gems cannot be destroyed. They outlast time itself. Silverware is usually guaranteed for life. So you see, one sale is usually the end of your business with that party. You see, every potential customer reaches a saturation point, because you can't wear out the stuff you buy from me. Re-
