In Singapore
Ceil Brown's report to CBS of the Repulse and Prince of Wales sinking is one of the war's outstanding news epics. Columbia's Singapore correspondent, Brown "hitched" a ride on the Repulse when it was hit by a Jap aerial torpedo off Malaya. Scarcely pausing to wring himself dry of the sea, the CBS newsmen sent a vivid account of the battle.

NO AVAILABLES AVAILABLE

SANTA FE, N. M. - (U.P.) - Director Joseph Berne of the state tourist bureau says "no availables are available." That is his reply to a man in Lincoln, Neb., who wrote the tourist bureau asking, "Will you please place me on your mailing list for any availables?"

are armed with 3-inch guns, machine guns and depth charges.

Shipyards throughout the country, both coastal and inland, will turn out the new "PC's."

In World War I, the "Cinderella" boats guarded American shores from Alaska to the gulf of Mexico and up to Nova Scotia. They hunted U-boats over a vast expanse of salt water. A squadron served with the Allied fleet in the Mediterranean and sank two submarines in the attack on the Austrian naval base at Durazzo. The same unit helped bottle up the remaining enemy ships in the Adriatic.
