Traveling aviation cadet examining board No. 1, that has been traveling throughout Wisconsin and Illinois since August, 1940, has established its headquarters at Madison. This arrangement has been made through the establishment of four new aviation cadet examining boards in the sixth corps area, comprising Wisconsin,

Michigan, and Illinois.
While in Madison, the board will have its headquarters at the stu-dent health clinic, University of Wisconsin. Full information can be obtained at all times from the University Health clinic (Fairchild 3600, ask for cadet aviation infor-mation), the Elks club (Badger 410), and the Army Recruiting office, federal bldg. (Fairchild 6022),

Due to the tremendous need for obtaining applicants as pilots, bombardiers, navigators, as well as ground crews for the air corps, the university, the Elks club, and many citizens are aiding in obtaining the necessary publicity and spreading the information to the undreds of young men in this vicinity who are eager to join the air corps.

Board No. 1 with Capt, Lauris

M. Eek, air cor, as president, Capt. Darrell J. Andersen, cavalry, re-corder, and 1st Licut, Raymond O. Lewis, flight surgeon, and five en-listed men are fully prepared to give full and complete medical ex-aminations as well as the aptitude tests required of bombardiers and navigators, and the classification tests for ground crews.

FEATURE: "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

TYPE: Acid comedy. CAST: Sherldan Whiteside, Monte Woolley: Maggie, Bette Davis; Banjo, Jimmy Durante; Miss Sheldon, Ann Sheridan; Beverley, Reginald Gardiner, Jefferson, Richard Travis, and Mr. Stanley,

William Barbier. STORY: Whiteside, a radio com mentator, friend of the great and not so great, and international expert on everything, arrives at the Stanley manse for a dinner engagement while on a speaking tour of the midwest. He falls, breaks a hip, and runs his and everybody else life in the household and the several continents from his wheel

HIGH POINTS, Reginald Gar diner's tricks with his voice . . . the photoplay's unusual similarity to the original stage production ... wonderful job of applying antiseptic to the stage dialog without diluting the play's punch. LOW POINTS: The finish with Mrs. Roosevelt's voice dangling on the end of a neglected telephone receiver . . . Ann Sheridan and Bette Davis who seemed to wan-der too listlessly through a couple of better parts they have been

VERDICT: Really entertaining whether you saw it on the stage or

Second Stevens Point Fire Victim Found

STEVENS POINT-(U.P)-Hampered by thick ice coating the ruins of two downtown store buildings which burned here Wednesday, firemen Thursday recovered the body of Elizabeth Moll, about 60, who perished with Mrs. Ellen Hef-ron, 70, in the fire. Mrs. Hefron's night after firemen found it reclining in a chair in one of the ruined structures.

the air service program explained to them fully will have all of the above personnel available to them. Arrangements for such programs can be made through the secretary of the Elks club, Madison.

The air corps is definitely a pre-ferred branch of service and every young man who is going into the service should find out what opportunities are open to him. The opportunity such as this usually only comes once in a lifetime to any young man. It will take the cooperation of everyone to "KEEP" EM FLYING!"
