Good Listening: Great Plays

By MARGARET SHELTON. Member, Radio Committee of the Madison Branch, American Association of University Women.)

The National Broadcast Co. presents several fine Public service programs for its listening audiences. In line with this policy,

"Great Plays" is on the air for the fifth consecutive season. It can be heard in this area at 1 p. m. Sundays over WENR. What an afternoon of entertainment—an hour with the world's best drama, followed by two hours of great music over WBBM, The American Library Assn. cooperates with NBC in furnishing libraries with materials and reading lists connected with "Great Plays" so that listeners may obtain copies of the plays by application to their local libraries. "Great drama has its opportunity to become as popular and as much loved as great music through programs outlined by the National Broadcasting Co. Such recognition of the power and the entertainment to be found in classic and modern drama cannot fail to result in a rebirth of stage plays, the stimulation of little theater groups, and the formation of the playreading habit," is the comment of Faith Holmes Hybroadcast, ranging from Aristo-phanes' "The Birds" to Anderson's "Valley Forge". On the second series there was a range from Euripides' "Everyman" and Ib-sen's "A Doll's House" to Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen." The third series included Sophocles' "Antigone", Gay's "The Beggar's Opera", and Anderson's "Winterset." During the season of 1940-1941, Series 4 was "A Cavalcade of Drama from Greece to Broadway." The season of 1941-1942, is proving to be as interest-Other Stations Monday broadcasts of previous years.

HENRY DODGE

The State Historical Society of Wisconsin is featuring one of its collection of portraits each week at its library on the University of Wisconcampus. The paintings portray men and women whose personalities have had much influence on Wisconsin.

The first governor of Wisconsin territory, Dodge was praised by a territorial newspaper as the "very best executive officer this territory could possibly get." At a public dinner in Mineral Point his success was explained by the toast:

"In having learned to govern himself, he furnishes the strong-

Boys News

Significant are the efforts of the groups of boys in the membership of the Y boys' division, who are endeavoring to contribute in some way to the defense of their country. It has been reported to this department that the West High School Hi-Y club has already registered at the Civilian Defense Office as a group ready to cooperate in any type of service they might be called upon to per-form. Other Hi-Y clubs are following suit.

Y is at present in training to take over all supervision of Fire and Air Raid drills in their high school, it was reported.
Other Hi-Y groups are studying various projects which they can take over, one of these is a large City YMCA dance, proceeds of which will go to some defense project.
