Going South Soon, Will Take Up Golf

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK- (U.P.) -Joseph Paul DiMaggio, the Yankee cenerfielder who was named American League's most valuable player by the Baseball Writers' issn, and "the Player of the Year" by the New York writers, doesn't cnow what to do with himself these days.

He is spending his first winter away from his native San Francisco and time hangs heavy on his hands. Joe is quite a sports fan go to. He attended all the professional football games in New York and never misses a fight in Madison Square Garden. Shortly after the Baseball Writers' dinner, Feb. 1, DiMaggio expects to leave for St. Petersburg, Fla., to start getting into shape His wife Dorothy and their Son Joe (born Oct. 23) will accompany him. Dorothy is a golf enthusiast and is ager to get her husband interested in the game. "I don't know whether I'd like golf or not," Joe said. "Dorothy wants me to play with her and I'll probably follow her around the course for the leg exercise. If I take up golf, I want to learn the game right and play it for all it's worth." Son to Pick Middle Name

Among DiMaggio's other diversions during the long winter days is playing with his son. "I gave him a bath the other day and he kicked the hell out of me," Joe said. "He's very healthy and has been gaining about two ounces a day. He cries a lot but he stops as soon as he gets some-thing to eat." Joe revealed that his son isn't Joe, Jr., because he has no middle name yet and will be allowed to select his own as soon as he gets old enough. The Yankee star has blossomed out considerably since he first came up from San Francisco as a rather silent and uncommunicative individual in 1936. He no longer shuns the public. In fact, he mixes easily and has a wide

Wherever he puts in an appearance DiMaggio is always in for a barrage of questions from fans, most about his 56-game hitting streak, and these he answers pa### tiently and willingly. Laughs at Tiff With Wvatt

"I guess the question put to me most often is when I felt the pressure on me the most during my hitting streak," Joe said, "Well, can't give a very accurate answer to that one because I don't remember myself. But it was somewhere along about the 33rd game when the tension seemed to increase with each game until I was halted in Cleveland by Ai Smith and Jim Bagby."

"I was just one of those things that happen in the heat of the game," DiMarrio said. "I was sore at myself and mumbling something as I walked near the box. but he can't find enough things to Wyatt though I was talking to him and used some fancy words. I started for him, But they stopped us. But there are no hard feelings between us. Wyatt came back in the Yankee locker room after the game and shook hands with me and said, 'hope you have a nice and a swell pitcher, too.'

Colonial Inn Reopens Tonight

Tonight the Colonial Inn, on Monona Drive, will hold an open-ing after the remodeling of the plant. It was always an exquisite out-of-the-way place where summer bursts through the windows with waving shrubbery, to which many of the diners-out of Madison resorted. With its new enlarged facilities, its new accoutrements, and its continued delicacy in ad-ministering the arts of the trained chef, it seems probably the place will be jammed tonight.

The place is owned by Mark and Loma Regan. Mark Regan was formerly assistant manager of the Palmer House in Chicago, and came here as a local manager under Walter Pocock. Mrs. Regan, who was hostess at the Edgewater Beach hotel, went from there as the choice of Hi Wood as hostess in the Plankinton Sun Room, after which she joined the Park Hotel staff. But Mark and Loma had a romance, and the result was the birth of the Colonial Inn .-- Adv.
