

Military And Comedy Films Open At State On Wednesday

"Life With Caroline" And "Flying Cadets" To Be Offered; "Swamp Water" And Jane Withers Movie At The Quilna

The meanderings of an affectionate female, mixed with considerable comedy, will be outlined in the new attraction, "Life With Caroline," to start Wednesday at the State theatre. The suave Ronald Colman does lead honors. A fine flair of militarism is displayed in "Flying Cadets," the companion, piece also opening Wednesday at the State.

Filled with mysterious interludes and batches of stark horror, "Swamp Water," now at the Quilna theatre, finally arrives at a sweetness and light termination. Walter Huston is among the list of leading role players. The ugly duckling who finally emerges as a charming debby is portrayed by Jane Withers in the go-along film. Jane sings, dances and otherwise comports herself as the usual youngster suffering growing pains.

That startling and vitriol-tongued guest, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," is the prime bill of fare at the Ohio theatre. In this howler, Ann Sheridan, Monty Woolley and Betty Davis play the leads. Jimmy Durante adds additional comedy.

Opening Wednesday at the Sigma theatre is a fine thing called "Destiny for Scandal." Luscious Rosalind Russell co-stars with Walter Pidgeon. As a female bar-bar, she fancies herself too technical legal-minded to dally with love. But there are some changes made. "Land of the Open Range," one of those soul-stirring, hell-for-leather westerns, also begins.

"The Devil Pays Off," is the intriguing title of the opener on the Lyric screen Thursday. It is a deep-dyed drama of war time plots. A trio of fancy western favorites, Buck Jones, Tim McCoy and Raymond Hatton, give up in "Arizona Bound," also shows. For last times Wednesday is displayed Mel Steele and his hill billy band; "Bachelor Daddy" and "Two in a Taxi."

QUILNA
When a girl is at the "swoosh" age with swing on her mind and romance in her heart, the braces can be to do a lot to upset her life. And when that girl is Jane Withers, it means laughs and excitement as she grows out of the offending braces.

All the comedy and thrills of growing up have been crowded into Jane's newest film, "Small Town Deb," which is at the Quilna theatre.

The youngest child in a well-to-do small town family, Jane feels that she is sadly neglected. Her sister and brother, Cobina Wright, Jr., and Jack Searl, have no time for her because they are too busy with their dates. Mother and Dad have their minds taken up with money troubles.

But when the little "swoosh" decides to "come out," as a glamorous "swan," she leaves her family and friends gasping with surprise.

Jane Withers is said to be at her best as she sings, dances and plays the drums in this comedy of youngsters growing up, and preview audiences have acclaimed Academy Award Winner Jane Darwell's performance as her first.

Other members of the featured cast are Bruce Edwards, Cecil Kellway, Katharine Alexander and Buddy Pepper.

Fraught with dark mystery is "Swamp Water," also on the Quilna screen.

LYRIC
A fascinating new drama from Republic, with much of the action taking place on route to, and in Havana, is scheduled to play this week at the Lyric theatre beginning Thursday. "The Devil Pays Off," is said to be one of the season's outstanding dramas of international intrigue. With William Wright and Margaret Tallichet playing the romantic leads, and J. Edward Bromberg providing menace, the film also features Osa Massen in another of her "suave wildcat" roles which she originally made famous in "A Woman's Face." The supporting players include Selmer Jackson, Martin Kosleck, Charles D. Brown, Ivan Miller, Roland Varno and Abner Biberman.

According to the plot, Wright is a young lieutenant-commander who has been cashiered out of the Navy because of his playboy inclinations. However, he is drafted into service again in a civilian

FORMER BANKER GIVEN PAROLE DUE MARCH 16

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 28.—(UP)—The State Pardon and Parole commission today granted a release, effective March 16, to Charles E. Wheland, former Uhrichville banker, who has served five years in prison for the embezzlement of $475,000 in bank funds.

Wheland, now 51, pleaded guilty in December, 1936, to 54 counts of embezzlement and one of false certification of a check in million dollars in funds of the Union bank at Uhrichville of which he was president.

He was sentenced to serve 10 to 30 years in prison but the parole board later discovered there was no legal authority for the presiding judge to fix a minimum sentence of more than one year. The commission ruled the sentence should have been 1 to 30 years.

Wheland began serving his term in Ohio penitentiary in January, 1937, and became ill there. He was moved from the penitentiary to Grant hospital for a period in 1938 for treatment of stomach ulcers. He later was transferred to the London prison farm from which he will be paroled.

Distinguished Actor, Jaffe, Guest Of Hollywood News Girl

Mortimer Meek Will Serve As Mayor For Day;
Story Of Loan Sharks Will Be Unfolded

Sam Jaffe, distinguished actor known for his ability to steal a show right from under the proscenium arch, will be the guest of Stella Unger when the "Hollywood News Girl" reports Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. over WEA.

Jaffe, soon to open on Broadway in "Cafe Crown" first became widely known for his brilliant performance as Kringelein, the unfortunate gambler, in "Grand Hotel."

He has also played in "The Eternal Road," "The Jazz Singer," "A Doll's House," and "The Gentle People" in the films, "The Last Horizon," "The Scarlet Empress," "We Live Again," and as Gunga Din in "Drums."

In the life of every enterprising citizen comes the year to be a "Mayor for a Day" and Mortimer Meek isn't an exception to the rule. Meek will realize his ambition when he runs the town's City Hall on the Meet Mr. Meek program Wednesday at 8 p. m. via WABC.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—In "The Case of Death With Interest," a couple of loan sharks get what is coming to them at the hands of "Mr. District Attorney" Wednesday at 9:30 p. m. over WEA.
