

Popular New Action Star To Be Featured In Lyric Movie

Don "Red" Barry Will Be Seen In "Arizona Terrors," A Fast-Paced Western That Promises Plenty Of Thrills

Don "Red" Barry, who is rapidly becoming one of film-land's most popular action stars, is now on the Lyric screen in "Arizona Terrors," a fast-paced western that promises to live up to the standard he has established for thrills and excitement.

The action is laid at the opening of the 20th century, when an adventurer carrying the assumed name of Don Pedro de Berendo perpetrates one of the most fantastic "land grant" swindles in American history. Posing as a Spanish nobleman, Don Pedro produces a document which purports to show that in 1781, King Charles III of Spain had granted his ancestors a certain area comprising one million acres of choice grazing land. This claim is upheld in court, with the legitimate nobleman being named the owner of the land.

Don Pedro and his partner, Larry Madden, immediately institute a reign of terror over the ranchers who live in the area, burdening them with heavy taxes and taxes. The ranchers themselves offer no resistance, but they have their champions in Jim Bradley and Hardtack, two rough-and-ready cowboys whose horses have been confiscated by Don Pedro's men. With rancher Henry Adams and his daughter, Lila, as their only confidantes, Bradley and Hardtack become modern Robin Hoods, robbing Don Pedro's tax collectors and giving the money back to those from whom it has been taken.

Barry plays the role of Jim Bradley, with Al St. John, a favorite whose career started in the silent picture era, playing the part of Hardtack. Reed Hays is Don Pedro, and John Maxwell is Madden. Lynn Merrick portrays the role of Lila Adams, the leading lady.

Robert Benchley is one of the theatrical world's little oddities. Currently an actor in "Three Girls About Town," starring Joan Blondell, Binnie Barnes and Janet Blair at the Quilna theatre, it is difficult to predict his occupation next month, for he is equally at ease as an author, playwright, columnist, critic or radio commentator.

He was born in Worcester, Mass., and in 1912, was graduated from Harvard university. The next three years he spent selling advertising for the Curtis Publications in Philadelphia and doing industrial personnel work in Boston. Bored by prosaic work in the world of commerce, he left to become associate editor of the New York Sunday Tribune magazine. Later he edited the Tribune Graphic, from which job he was drafted as secretary to the Aircraft Board in Washington.

The managing editorship of Vanity Fair came next, after which he conducted a column on "books and things," for the New York World.

In 1920, Benchley took the job of dramatic editor of "Life" and his pungent, witty comments attracted nation-wide attention. In the last 15 years he has appeared in the Music Box Revue, comedy screen shorts, feature pictures such as "China Seas" and "Reckless Jim," besides having written a variety of works including "Of All Things," "Love Conquers All," "Puck and Luch," "The Early Worm" and "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea or David Copperfield." Before making "Three Girls About Town," Benchley appeared in another picture, "You'll Never Get Rich," with Fred Astaire and Rita Hayworth.

Valentine Questions To Be Aired On Kyser Broadcast

Trudy Erwin And Harry Babbitt Set For Romantic Duet; Mr. Meek To Realize Ambition On Wednesday Show

With romance in the air, sanctioned by the calendar, and in full bloom in his own college halls, Kay Kyser will institute a quiz course about St. Valentine's day, sweethearts, and the thoughts a young man's fancy lightly turns to in the spring.

The spotlight will turn on Trudy Erwin during the "Kyser College of Musical Knowledge" session, Wednesday at 10 p. m. over WEAF because the pretty rhythm singer announced last week that she will be a springtime bride.

Trudy will be heard with Harry Babbitt and the orchestra in romantic duet.

In the life of every man comes the day to set his household affairs straight, and Mortimer Meek isn't an exception to the rule. Meek realizes his ambition when he orders Louie, his lazy brother-in-law, to get a job, and lays down to Azatha about her social activities on the Meet Mr. Meek program Wednesday at 8 p. m. via WABC.

Sometimes cupid uses dum dum bullets instead of arrows, as young Johnny Miller will testify on "Uncle Walter's Dog House" Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. over WEAF. So the Wiggins family stays out of the canine carnival and Johnny moves in.

The no-doubt-world-renowned WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11 Eastern Standard P. M.—Subtract One Hour for CST., 2 Hrs. for MT.
