

Claudette Colbert Starred In New Hit Due At Quilna

"Remember The Day" Will Open At Preview Showing Friday Night; John Payne Heads Fine Supporting Cast

"It's the best play I have seen in 10 years!" So wrote George M. Cohan after he had seen "Remember the Day" on Broadway, adding his tribute to that of thousands of others who saw and loved this poignant drama conceived by Philo Higley and Phillip Dunning.

Twentieth Century Fox immediately perceived the play's potentialities, and sought to obtain the screen rights. When it was announced that the film company was going to film the play, speculation was rampant about who would play the central figure.

Claudette Colbert settled all discussion when she picked "Remember the Day" from several offers as the one picture she wanted to do. Turning from recent top-flight comedy roles, this versatile actress climaxes her career with her unforgettable portrayal in this memorable love story.

Cast for the important role opposite Miss Colbert was handsome John Payne, who has been gathering laurels for himself in such outstanding pictures as "Sun Valley Serenade" and "Week-End in Havana." Two juveniles in the featured supporting cast give excellent accounts of themselves — young Douglas Croft, a recent discoverer, and Ann Todd. John Sheppard plays the role of Dewey Roberts, while Jane Seymour is the only member of the film cast who played the same role in the stage production.

Frieda Inescort, former Broadway actress, completes the featured cast. Henry King, one of Hollywood's most acclaimed directors, magnified the production with sincerity and deep feeling and is responsible for the artistic integrity of the film.

"Remember the Day," which is due Friday evening at the Quilna theatre, was produced by William Perlberg.

The colorful role of "Don Pedro de Berendo" in Republic's "Arizona Terrors," now at the Lyric theatre with Don "Red" Barry in the lead, is enacted by Reed Haulcy, one of the screen's most outstanding young character actors in the action field.

Hadley was born in Petrolia, Tex., where his father was an oil man. He was educated at the University of Buffalo, being active in all school sports including tennis, basketball, football and track.

The supreme moment of his youth, he avers, was when he attained the height of six feet. His earliest job was tending a soda fountain, and he ate so much ice cream the first day that he was permanently turned against the delicacy, and to this day he avoids it.

After this job others followed; Reged was shoe salesman, floor man in lingerie and women's apparel, and radio announcer. He drifted into stock, following his radio experience, and for seven years he traveled the circuits.
