

Dramatic Story Of Texas To Open At The Lyric Tuesday

Story Of R. A. F. Ace To Be Co-Feature; Cagney Is Starring In "Captains Of The Clouds" At The Ohio

A dramatic story of Texas ranchers heads the program of the Lyric theatre Tuesday when "Texas," starring William Holden, Claire Trevor and Glenn Ford opens a three-day run. Co-featured is "The Blonde From Singapore," the story of an R. A. F. daredevil in the famous seaport town. Leif Erikson and Florence Rice share the romantic honors. Showing for the last times Monday are "The Pittsburgh Kid" and "Father takes a wife."

James Cagney is a fighting rough-tough bush pilot of Canada who thinks that he alone can win the war for England in the current Ohio thriller, "Captains of the Clouds." Dennis Morgan and Brenda Marshall add a touch of romance to the exciting drama of versatile pilots who find that winning of the war needs more than just aces.

A musical western with "Gomph," the current Quilna film, "Go West, Young Lady" stars Penny Singleton, Ann Miller and Glenn Ford. Also showing is "Honolulu Lu," with Leo Carrillo, Lupe Velez and Bruce Bennett as the leading performers. Both films offer an assured program of entertainment with plenty of laughs and fun.

"H. M. Pulham, Esquire," is the title of the Sigma's film, with Robert Young, Hedy Lamarr and Ruth Hussey in the leading roles as the film unfolds the story of a young Bostonian who found an old romance could not be revived. Co-featured is "Bombay Clipper," with William Gargan and Irene Hervey.

State theatre films for Monday are "Tarzan's Secret Treasure," starring Johnny Weismuller and Maureen O'Sullivan and "Father Takes a Wife," starring Adolphe Menjou and Gloria Swanson.

Women like westerns, according to Hollywood. Hitherto considered mainly as screen fare for men and boys, outdoor action dramas are finding increasing audiences among feminine fans.

Commencing at the Lyric theatre Tuesday, "Texas," with William Holden, Claire Trevor and Glenn Ford, is attracting attention—both feminine and masculine. "Texas" is the dramatic story of the fight of Texan ranchers to deliver their cattle to Abilene, Kas., more than 1000 miles away, against the opposition of nature and of renegades. Days of thrills and moments of daring intrigue furnish the dramatic background for the co-feature, "The Blonde From Singapore." Set in the mysterious midst of the terror-teeming East, the new film, tells the breath-taking story of an R. A. F. daredevil on the loose in Singapore and a beautiful blonde fortune-hunter out to get a man!

Leif Erikson, as the flier, and Florence Rice, as the blonde bundle of dynamite, are reported to give the best performances of their hit-studded careers in the featured roles. Gordon Jones and Don Beddoe are also featured. Jones, former U.S.C. football star, plays Erikson's faithful-but-dumb mechanic, and Beddoe is an over-zealous Singapore police captain.

A Hawaiian hula-hula... with a Spanish accent!... is only one of the more sparkling items to be found in Lupe Velez' tempestuous performance in "Honolulu Lu," according to report. Said to be the gayest gobs-gags-and-girls laughstever ever brought to the screen, "Honolulu Lu" now at the Quilna theatre with Leo Carrillo, Bruce Bennett, Roger Clark and Marjorie Gateson in major comedy roles.

A hectic Hawaiian hula-hula, "Columbia's" "Honolulu Lu" presents the lovely Latin in a dual role. First appearing as a temperamental, altogether charming member of a distinguished Spanish family, with an uncle whose suave sophistication "fronts" for an innate inability to be honest, Miss Velez is required to abandon her position in society. Needing a job, she finally locates one as a performer in a sailor-haunted Honolulu hot spot, where she immediately becomes the sweetheart of the fleet.

"Honolulu Lu," it has been unanimously agreed by press and public wherever the film has been shown, reaches sequences of glittering gaiety when the well-bred dowagers of Hawaiian society hold a charity affair to choose "The Queen of Honolulu." To their horror, the fleet enters the unknown show-girl; to her horror, the girl's uncle builds up his missing niece as the showgirl's major rival.

Leo Carrillo is delightfully seen as the uncle; Bruce Bennett heads the naval contingent which provides a major share of both romance and the laughs. Two new hit tunes, "Honolulu Lu" and "That's the Kind of Work I Do," were penned for the film by Sammy Cahn and Saul Chaplin.

Plans for a "victory ball" (not a dancing party) were announced by veteran employes of The Lima Telephone and Telegraph Co. Saturday.

To foster the collecting of war-essential metals, pioneer workers of the local phone company are sponsoring the formation of a large sphere of tin (in the local office. A special pedestal has been made and Lima persons are encouraged to "keep the ball growing" with contributions of the thin metal.

William Koch, chairman of the project, said that to "start the ball rolling" nine pounds of thin tin already have been set up in spherical form. Collections of tin and lead foil will be received at the cashiers windows—or patrons can mould their pieces to the ball personally.

Koch said all employes of the local concern who have been with the company 20 years or more are sponsoring the project. He explained that at least 10,000 persons are expected to pass thru the phone company offices between the first and tenth of March—and considerable vital metal could be collected at that time. Meanwhile the pioneer workers are collecting scrap aluminum and iron.

Koch said tin foil could be found in cigar, cheese, chewing gum, candy and camera film packages.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . BY RIPLEY

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON THE BOUNCING WATERFALL The Cascade des Pelierins (Cascade of the Pilgrims) in the valley of Chamonix, France, is a most singular and beautiful phenomenon. A torrent issues from the Glacier of the Pilgrims high up in the mountains and descends by a succession of leaps into the deep gorge, dashing from precipice to precipice in one continued cataract. Then, collecting its utmost force for a last magnificent plunge, it springs in one round column out of the gorge over a perpendicular cliff and strikes a vertical rock basin. But instead of being dashed into a thousand atoms, it rebounds in a parabolic arch 60 feet into the air before it falls into the natural channel below.

AIR COMMANDER NAMED AT LIMA

Kenneth Ensley, 219 S. Jackson, Will Lead Lima Civil Patrol Group

Five of the six Civil Air Patrol squadron commanders for the northwestern Ohio district have been announced by Nelson S. Bailey, commander of Group Six which includes this area.

In Lima, which is recognized as Squadron IV (four), Kenneth Ensley, 219 S. Jackson-st., has been chosen to lead the group. Finally, where Squadron III is located, will have Walter Tejan, 131 W. Lincoln-st., as unit head. The Van Wert organization, officially known as Squadron V, will be headed by Ronald L. Thomas, 137 E. Raymond-st.

Initial organization meetings for the purpose of choosing squadron staff officers in each locality will be held within the next few days.

In addition to the squadron commanders there are eight other officers in each squadron yet to be selected. The available positions include an executive officer, an adjutant, intelligence officer, personnel officer, plans and operations officer, supply and equipment officer, transportation officer and communication officer.

With the appointing of the various squadron staff personnel efforts will be made immediately to secure classroom space in one of the local school buildings in which to hold CAP class sessions.

Six of the CAP courses are mandatory and will be given before any specialized training is available.

The compulsory subjects are military courtesy and discipline, first aid, airport protection, familiarization with local and national defense, and basic infantry drill. Unless an applicant is officially notified that he has been accepted for CAP membership he, or she, will not be admitted to classes. Specialty courses will include navigation, meteorology, aviation communications, aerial photography, etc.

Tyrone Power To Be Star Of "Arrowsmith" On Monday

Dramatization Of Powerful Sinclair Lewis Novel Scheduled Via WEA-F At 7:30 P. M.; Boyer And Miss Loy Together

Handsome Tyrone Power will star in a dramatization of Sinclair Lewis' powerful novel, "Arrowsmith," on the "Cavalcade of America" program Monday at 7:30 p. m. over WEA-F.

Tyrone is to portray young Dr. Martin Arrowsmith who, at the crucial moment in his life, must decide whether he is a cold-hearted scientist or a man of normal emotions.

A cast of well-known Hollywood actors will support Tyrone in the dramatization of the book which won a Nobel prize for Sinclair Lewis.

Cecil B. DeMille will present Charles Boyer and Myrna Loy in a special adaptation of the film "Appointment for Love," on the Radio Theatre Monday at 9 p. m. over WABC.

The Loy-Boyer team is new to the Lux Radio theatre, altho both have appeared individually on many occasions.

"Appointment for Love" is the story of two very engaging young people who had difficulty in adjusting their professional and private lives.

As his tribute to Washington's birthday, James Melton, the tenor star headlines an all-American music program on "The Telephone Hour" over WEA-F Monday at 8 p. m., singing Earl Robinson's "Ballad for Americans." He will be accompanied by Ken Christie's chorus and the Dan Voorhees orchestra.

Also to be heard on the program is George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," Melton and Gershwin were great friends and once toured the country together. Additional singing on "The Telephone Hour" will be by Francis White, soprano, who offers Spring Songs of the Robin Woman from Cudman's "Shanewis."

In a program rich in romance, fantasy and sentiment, Margaret Speaks will sing "Connaist tu le Pays?" from Thomas' "Mignon" as her featured solo on "Voice of Firestone" Monday at 8:30 over WEA-F.

The soprano also will be heard in Crist's "Some Day, Some Way," Kreisler's "You Are Free," and "Romany Life" by Victor Herbert.

The orchestra under Alfred Wallenstein is to play the Overture to Flotow's "Martha," Lacombe's "Autumn Printemps," and "Dance of the Cammerists" by Wolf-Ferrari.

STATE AUDITOR LAUNCHES DRIVE WITH A SMASH

Surprise Attack On Pension Division Catches Bricker Administration Napping

By H. H. DAUGHTERY
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 23—(AP)—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson came out fighting last week as he prepared to formally launch his candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination next month.

No sooner had he taken out nominating petitions than he attacked the administration of Gov. John W. Bricker who is slated to seek a third term.

The Bricker administration was basking in complacency and was wholly unprepared to meet Ferguson's surprise attack directed at the old age pension division.

For some unexplained reason the old age pension division had neglected to file its revised payment plan as adopted by the legislature last spring, with the Social Security office at Washington resulting in the government withholding its half of the pension money for the first quarter.

The state must make up the federal government's share for January and February, amounting to $3,310,000. As state auditor, Ferguson was readily able to detect the failure of the federal government to make its remittance.

The whole thing was a juicy political morsel for Ferguson who lost no time in exposing the situation much to the discomfiture of the Bricker administration and the whole responsibility was thrown on Thomas W. McCaw, chief of the Division of Aid for the Aged under the welfare department.

McCaw, who is understood to have been called before Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood and reprimanded for his neglect, contended everything was all right. Sherwood said there was no understanding between him and the federal Social Security department and the money would be forthcoming as soon as the revised pension plan was filed in Washington. He said the plan now is in the printer's hands and will be ready soon.

The revised provisions of the old age pension law which were made to conform to federal standards became effective Aug. 11, McCaw had had almost five months after the law became effective to prepare and file the Ohio plan with the federal Social Security department. The law had been passed three months earlier and was not likely to be submitted to a referendum giving McCaw another three months or altogether eight months to prepare the law.

There seems to be little doubt that the federal money will be forthcoming as soon as McCaw files the plan. But there is no disguising that the Bricker administration will breathe a lot easier when the federal funds arrive at the state treasury.

In the meantime the state has sufficient funds in its $13,000,000 surplus to continue payment of the old age pensions without interruption.
