

Fine New Double Bill Will Start At Sigma Wednesday

"New Wine" Stars Ilona Massey And Alan Curtis; Laraine Day And Barry Nelson Head Cast Of "A Yank On The Burma Road"

"New Wine," which commences Wednesday at the Sigma theatre with Ilona Massey and Alan Curtis in the starring roles, is based on the question of whether or not a genius is above the rules of conduct that bind ordinary humans. The musician Schubert and his private loves provide the groundwork for the story. Co-featured is "A Yank on the Burma Road," starring Laraine Day and Barry Nelson.

A man of fiery action and flaming love, the idol of four women, battling a hostile world for his birthright—is the character of Benjamin Blake, which Tyrone Power recreates in the film, "Sons of Fury," now at the Quilna theatre. No small help in the adventure and romance are Gene Tierney, Frances Farmer, John Garfield and George Sanders.

The stage's most famous screw-balls recreate the zany antics that tickled the ribs of many a Broadwayite in the last two seasons in the current Ohio feature, "Hellzapoppin'." Olsen and Johnson are the funny men, receiving the support of Martha Raye, Hugh Herbert and Misha Auer, movie comedians of long standing.

Walter Pidgeon and Joan Bennett had the cast of the dramatic thriller at the Lyric, "Man Hunt," the story of a big game hunter that decided to stalk human prey. Carole Landis and Cesar Romero gave the romance in the co-feature, "Dance Hall."

Hollywood turns the spotlight on an average American preacher, revealing the hardships, obstacles and problems of a normal pastor, in the film, "One Foot in Heaven," now at the State theatre. Fredric March has the role of minister, with Martha Scott co-featured in the role of Mrs. Also showing is "Target for Tonight."

A new wrinkle in romantic sequences was worked out for the new adventure film, "Son of Fury," the story of Benjamin Blake playing at the Quilna theatre.

The scene is a small island in the Pacific; the stars Tyrone Power and Gene Tierney; and the action an underwater kiss. But it wasn't as easy as it sounds—Tyrone was to dive into the crystal clear water from one side of the coral reef as Gene took off from the other side. Three cameras were trained on the action—one on each star and a third to "take" the kiss itself.

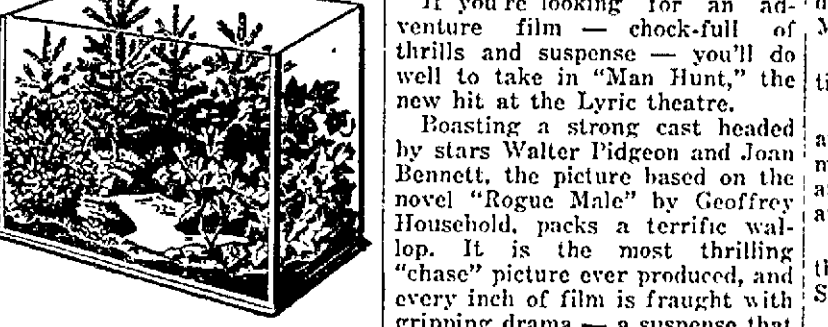

Ty and Gene both executed perfect dives the first time they tried it—but they missed each other by a foot! Again they tried—and came closer, but their lips failed to meet.

Finally Director John Cromwell hit upon a plan whereby the stars would do the scenes separately—and it would be combined in the cutting room. This worked out—and the underwater kiss is a highlight of the adventurous film.

"Be a cameraman and see the world!" That's Otto Brower's slogan after having photographed scenes on almost all the continents of the world.

The ace cameraman has just returned from the South Sea Islands, where he photographed background shots for 20th Century.

"Lake" Bottom Is A Cake Pan

A living miniature of your favorite view, in a glass—hills, lakes, trees and flowers. You can make such a terrarium easily, with panes of glass and electrical tape, or you may use a fishbowl. Your hills and valleys are loamy soil covered with green moss, your trees are tiny spruce seedlings and budding twigs of forsythia.

In the humid atmosphere of a terrarium the forsythia flowers quickly and lasts for weeks. To make the beautiful lake with its winding rill, fill a cake pan with water and fit it at the bottom of the terrarium. Over it place a sheet of tin, as our sketch shows, from which a "lake" shape was cut with an old pair of scissors.

You may also make desert scenes, using cacti and sedums, and place a tiny donkey and Mexican pottery in their midst. Many lovely glass gardens—in jugs and jars—grow a simple plant to perfection, a begonia, orchid, gardenia.

Our 22-page booklet shows how to make all kinds of terrariums, grow pine and palm, cactus and orchid, African violet, begonia, croton and many more flowering and foliage plants. Also has directions for dish gardens.

Send 10c (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for your copy of "Glass Gardens and Novelty Indoor Gardens" To The Lima News Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of the booklet.
