Voice of the Nineties

In her library Beatrice Kay, singing soubrette of the "Gay Nineties Review," listens to many of the songs of the mauve decade as sung originally and recorded on cylindrical records. This is one way, she says, to recapture the mood of the era she helps recreate every Monday night on the Columbia network. Miss Kay does not merely echo the music hall of Diamond Jim Brady's day but uses the exact musical technique of the gay 90's.
