First Plastic Plane Delivered to Navy

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The navy has completed its first experimental plastic-plywood training plane—a low-winged, mono-plane model constructed by the Timm Aircraft Corp., Los Angeles. The plane, already delivered to the navy, is made of 90 per cent wood and plastic glue and 10 per cent metal. It will be put through flight and destruction tests at the naval air station here.

If the craft proves airworthy. the navy said, it may be put into mass production to provide trainers for naval air cadets.

more historic conferences than any human alive except his boss, the president.

Falla was scurrying between the legs of the president and the British prime minister when they drafted the Atlantic charter at sea last summer. When Churchill was a guest at the white house last Christmas, Falla was a frequent visitor in Churchill's room.

When hardly old enough to blow

his black hair from in front of his eyes, Falla was named for a distant Scottish kinsman of the chief executive, an oldtime kilt-weprer by the name of Murray of Falla

Plans for colebration of his second birthday anniversary were limited because of the war. The president is a busy man these days and Falla spends most of his time house lawn, But maybe if he's a good dog, he'll be allowed to at-

State to Keep County Fairs

68 Scheduled for '42 Season

The personal possession of grassroots America — the county fair—will perk along in Wisconsin this summer and fall for the entertainment of nearly a million rural folks who come every year to in-crease their agricultural knowl-edge, mingle with their neighbors and strangers, and have fun.

Good news for these fairgoers is contained in the announcement of Ralph E. Ammon, director of the state department of agriculture, that thus far 68 county and district fairs are definitely scheduled to be held in Wisconsin this year. Forty-two of the fairs will be held entirely in August and 21 in September. One will carry over from August into September. The first fair of the summer will be held at Beaver Dam, June 30-

July 5; the second at Monroe, July 30—Aug. 2. The last fair of the year will be held in Milwaukee, Dec. 1-4. The first fair of 1942 was held at Waukesha, March 17-20. Following is the schedule of county and district fairs to date:
