

Francis X. Bushman Will Have Role In Radio Drama

Matinee Idol Of Silent Movie Days Set In Part Of John Marshall In "Those We Love" Due Wednesday

With most members of the original cast in the roles they created, "Those We Love," the dramatic story of the Marshall family of New England, will return to the air Wednesday, over the Red Network at 9 p. m. "Those We Love" replaces the Eddie Cantor program while the comedian takes his usual summer vacation.

Newcomers to the cast are Francis X. Bushman, veteran of the silent screen, who will assume the role of John Marshall, and Anne Stone, to be heard as Lydia Dennison, a nurse. Leading players in the new series who have been on the program since it made its radio bow in January 1939 are Nan Grey, Richard Cromwell, Donald Woods, Helen Wood, Ann Todd, Mary Gordon, Alma Kruger, and Virginia Sale.

The unusual antics of a young psychoanalyst's wife, whose behavior defied the rules of modern psychology, will form the plot for "The Man With the Adorable Wife," the dramatization to be presented during "Manhattan at Midnight" Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. over WJZ.

Starring George Lambert and Dorothy Duckworth, the play, written by Joe Bates Smith, will present the startling case of a naive southern belle thrust into Gotham's brilliantly brittle social life, and forced to mix with her husband's glittering friends who demand an epigram, as well as an olive, with each Martini.

Jess Walters, who leaped from the obscurity of vaudeville to a place as the most important singing find of the year, will be a guest of "Great Moments in Music" over WABC Wednesday at 10 p. m. He will sing the baritone role in selections from Sigmund Romberg's "The Student Prince."

Nelson Eddy will sing the national anthem, as only he can sing it, during his broadcast Wednesday at 8 p. m. over CBS.

Paying tribute to that grand old troupier and composer of hit songs, George M. Cohan, Eddy will sing "Grand Old Flag." He also will sing "Cargoes," the John Masfield poem, set to music by Dobson; "Back to Donegal," an Irish novelty by Steve Graham, and an aria from Rubinstein's "The Demon."

"Mr. Bug Goes To Town" To Open At State On Thursday

"Rio Rita" Will Be Second Film On Bill; Ohio Has "I Married An Angel" With Jeanette MacDonald In Lead

The birds, bees and flowers for years have been used as illustrative subjects in certain of the world's problems. Now these "little bug fellers" come to cinematic life in an entomological extravaganza, "Mr. Bug Goes To Town," screened at the State theatre come Thursday. The animated cartoon feature is aglow with brisk action and "simply crawling" with character actors.

Also rife with riotous, colorful action and zingy music is the State's number two contribution to Lima's entertainment world, "Rio Rita." For the nonce, prior to Thursday releases, "The Courtship of Andy Hardy" and "Call Out The Marines" are shown.

"I Married an Angel" is due to delight the Ohio theatre patrons as of right now. In one of the slickest screen parodies visible to these flicker-faded eyes since the days of D. W. Griffith, Jeanette MacDonald is lowlier than ever. The versatile gal adds a bit of boogie-woogie shugging, with just a suggestion of bumps, to her dancing repertoire. Then of course there's the Mona Lisa smiling Nelson Eddy to bolster the morale of feminine movie patrons.

A new star in the shaggy-headed person of Jean Gabin, one of the few things the French have contributed to this country since World War I debts, rises in a film "Moonlight" currently projected at the Quilna theatre. This Gabin guy has something on the ball, femme movie goers aver. He does a nice job as who wouldn't when playing opposite the ultra-sensitized Ida Lupino.

Seek laughs slung in with profusion with a riotous romance also shows at the Quilna. Title of the piece is "It Happened in Flatbush" with Lloyd Nolan and Carole Landis co-starring.

Joe (Grand Canyon Suite) E. Brown hurls himself across the silver beadwork sheet down front at the Lyric theatre in the new, showing "Shut My Big Mouth" smash hit. The Great Mouthpiece is at his best in this one. "Criminals Within" the alternate offering, gives us a shot in the dark at a new colored comedy team who do downright sensationally. Dudley Dickerson, who has just completed a personal appearance tour with the famous Duke Ellington and his band, is one part. Bernice Pilot completes the pair.

Suave is the word for Leslie Howard as he enacts ingratiatingly thru the hush-hush sequences of "Mister V" that opens Wednesday at Sigma theatre. Spy traps are nothing to Mr. V, who as per usual falls prey to the wile of lovely women. Sensational in prismatic glory is the color film "Fiesta" that accompanies "Mister V" at the Sigma. It's a Hal Roach production in technicolor. Ann Ayers, George Negrete, Amida and George Givot carry the major roles.

ARCHIE MAYO, the director of the new hit, "Moonlight," discovered that sea gulls must be pampered more than any temperamental glamor girl, or else the state of California will blacklist the studio. Because of the war, the studio couldn't film "Moonlight" along the San Pedro waterfront, and had to build a duplicate harbor on its own back lot. Mayo figured that he needed some pelicans and sea gulls around for atmosphere.

The pelicans he couldn't get. The booming of guns had scared them away. Nothing, however, could frighten the gulls since they can always appeal to the governor if they don't like their living conditions.

The studio received permission of the state to come behind to "shoot" 200 gulls for the picture, provided certain rules were followed. They must be fed sea food every three hours. They must not work under hot lights more than 4 minutes at a time, and if any gull should be harmed, Director Mayo would be summarily dealt with.

"Moonlight" which is now on at the Quilna theatre is the first American picture for 20th Century-Fox's new star, Jean Gabin. Ida Lupino is co-starring, with Thomas Mitchell and Claude Rains.

A donation of some one hundred baseballs and bats was made by the studio to a U. S. O. unit, after the company had finished production on "It Happened in Flatbush," story of a Brooklyn ball club, starring Lloyd Nolan and Carole Landis, also at the Quilna theatre. For love and laughs, the film is strictly big league.

Not many years ago a frail little school-teacher in Spokane, Wash., read of the fabulous Lost Dutchman Mine hidden somewhere in the Superstition Mountain of Arizona, 45 miles down the Old Apache Trail from Phoenix. Dreaming of the fortune that might be his, she left her job, came to Arizona and began an unsuccessful and bitter quest for the gold that lies hidden in the earth.

Recently, Ethel Capps, the ex-school-teacher, found the gold in the Superstition Mountain. But she didn't dig it out of the earth. She earned it working in a movie.

Miss Capps worked as an extra—playing herself—in Universal's ray comedy, "Lady in a Jam," starring Irene Dunne, now playing at the Ohio theatre. Gregory La Cava, producer-director of the comedy, hired approximately 1500 persons from Phoenix and the neighboring vicinity to appear in a gold rush sequence in the comedy. Miss Capps, living right on the scene where La Cava was filming scenes for "Lady in a Jam," naturally joined the troupe.

"This Hollywood gold is fine," Miss Capps explained. "But I'm going right on looking for that Lost Dutchman Mine."

ALTHO he has been a successful stage and screen actor for 10 full years, Eric Linden, who has the leading role in Producers Releasing Corporation's "Criminals Within," now at the Lyric theatre, picks as his most successful public appearance one that lasted only five minutes, and for which he received no compensation.

In 1917, at the age of five, Eric, mounted on the shoulders of his father, made a Liberty Loan speech at a patriotic rally. The response was amazing. Then and there, his parents decided he had talent, and he was immediately sent to a professional acting school.

As time went on he attended DeWitt Clinton high school, and Columbia university, both in New York City, and took an active part in the dramatic societies of these institutions. When he finished college, he enrolled in the Sargeant School of Dramatic Art, and after seven months at this institution, landed his first Broadway part, a small role in "Murco Millions."

One role was enough, Linden was established. He did "Slight" with Miriam Hopkins, "Strange Interlude" with Lynn Fontanne and "Volpone" with Alfred Lunt and Margalo Gillmore, during the next two years. While appearing in the latter play, he was seen by talent scouts, and signed to play a leading role in "Are These Our Children," in 1932 at R. K. O. This role ultimately led him to his part in "Ah Wilderness," for which he is best known.

After a few years in the motion picture colony, he returned to his old love, the stage, and created the role of "Golden Boy," in London, England. The play finished its engagement shortly after the war broke out, and Linden returned to America, and did a part in "Gone With the Wind," and then launched himself on an extensive personal appearance tour which carried him to 105 of the leading cities of the United States and Canada.

Also showing is "Shut My Big Mouth" with Joe E. Brown.
