Radio School Sailors to Offer All-Navy Variety Show in Union

Notes for You

BY WILLIAM L. DOUDNA

THE WEEK'S HITS: "Sleepy Lagoon" was still in first place when the week's votes were counted Saturday in The State Journal's survey of Madison's likes in popular songs.

It was the tune's fifth time at the top of the list, and its second successive week. The hardy "Jersey Bounce" returned to second place, while "Johnny Doughboy Found a Rose in Ireland" dropped to third.

One newcomer appeared—"Sweet Eloise"—and "I Threw a Kiss in the Ocean" returned after a week's absence.

Here are the week's leaders in phonograph record, sheet music, and automatic phonograph business:

FIRST: "Sleepy Lagoon," unchanged.

SECOND: "Jersey Bounce," up from third.

THIRD: "Johnny Doughboy Found a Rose in Ireland," down one place.

FOURTH: "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree," unchanged.

FIFTH: "Jingle, Jangle, Jingle," up from 10th.

SIXTH: "Tangerine," same as last week.

SEVENTH: "Who Wouldn't Love You?" down from fifth.

EIGHTH: "One Dozen Roses," up one place.

NINTH: "Skylark," down from seventh.

TENTH: "Three Little Sisters," down two places.

ELEVENTH: "Sweet Eloise," a newcomer.

TWELFTH: "I Threw a Kiss in the Ocean," back after a week's absence.

CASUALTIES: "Not Mine," from 11th up to 13th, and "Breathless," from 12th to 15th.

COMING UP: "Idaho."

VACATION: This list won't appear next week, because I'll be on vacation.

DISCS OF THE DAY: Tommy Dorsey: "Be Careful, It's My Heart" and "Take Me," with Frank Sinatra's voice. (Victor).

Barry Wood: "Jingle, Jangle, Jingle" and "South Wind," with Wood-Nymphs helping things along. Two good sides. (Bluebird.)

Four King sisters: "My Devotion" and "Conchita Marcheta, Lolita Pepita Rosita Juanita Lopez" . . . Alvino Rey's guitar almost steals the show on the former; the second's a cutie that ought to go places.

At the Orpheum

FEATURE: Take a Letter, Darling.

REVIEWER: Helen Matheson.

TYPE: Sophisticated comedy.

CAST: A. T. MacGregor, Rosalind Russell; Tom Varney, Fred MacMurray; Jonathan Caldwell, MacDonald Carey; Ethel Caldwell, Constance Moore; Atwell, Robert Benchley.

STORY: Likeable Tom Varney applies for a job with a high-powered advertising executive, A. T. MacGregor. MacGregor turns out to be a beautiful and self-assured woman who hires handsome secretaries to reassure the jealous wives of her clients. Varney takes the job, falls in love with MacGregor, and goes to work on a charming woman client to prove that a jealous feminine heart lies beneath MacGregor's efficient exterior.

HIGH POINTS: Varney appears before "Mr. MacGregor" for a job interview. . . . MacGregor sets out to undermine the prejudice of a woman-hating advertiser. . . . Varney, blushing, takes dictation while MacGregor is fitted for a new frock. . . . MacGregor's smooth laquer begins to crack as she watches Varney make love to another woman.

LOW POINTS: Robert Benchley's lack of opportunity in a minor part. . . . MacGregor's extreme gowns, which detract attention from Rosalind Russell's complete efficiency as a comedienne.

VERDICT: Charming.

ALSO: "Halo Annapolis" . . . Tom Brown and Jean Parker struggle with the trite plot about the smart-aleck turned into an outstanding citizen by his career at the naval academy.

California Dam Nears Completion

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — (U.P.) — Concrete pouring is complete on Friant dam, fourth largest structure in the world and an important cog in California's huge Central valleys project.

A total of 1,130,480 cubic yards of concrete went into the project, which dams 520,000 acre feet of water to be used as a cushion for seasonal high water originating in the upper San Jacquin river and for irrigation in central California counties.

Rising 320 feet above its base, the dam is 3,430-feet long at its crest. The base is 265 feet wide.

Although concrete pouring has stopped, work on the structure is not yet complete, according to District Engineer R. S. Calland of the U. S. bureau of reclamation. Work will continue for some weeks on installation and painting of metal work, backfill and clean-up operations. Another several months will be required for drilling of grout holes in the dam's foundation.

The first bucket of concrete was

OLD FASHIONED REVIVAL

Charles E. Fuller, Director of Old Fashioned Revival, will preach at 11:30 a. m. Sunday at the 1310 Kilocytee Continuous International Gospel Broadcast.

Invalid Boy Wins Graduation Honors

PACIFIC GROVE, Calif. — (U.P.) — Warren Claunch, 14, has been an invalid since 1935, when he was in an automobile-bicycle crash.

Despite the fact that he was unable to study for the first three years after the accident, he has just received his diploma as a member of the Pacific Grove grammar school graduation class of 1942.

The school board arranged for a teacher to visit him daily and he was graduated as an honor student.

The youth will enter high school in the fall with the aid of an electric wheel chair presented him by a local church organization.

Hopkins to Wed Former Editor at White House

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt announced Saturday that Harry Hopkins, the president's special assistant, and Mrs. Louise Macy, former New York fashion editor, will be married in the White House July 30 and will make their home there temporarily.

The wedding will be the first to be held in the executive mansion since the Wilson administration, when two of the then chief executive's daughters were married.

The announcement of plans for Hopkins' third marriage were made at a special press conference.

"Will the president give the bride away?" a reporter asked Mrs. Roosevelt.

"I don't think so," Mrs. Macy interrupted. "I think it will be my brother-in-law, Nicholas Ludington. He's in the naval air force."

Books Banned by Hitler Go on Display

Adolf Hitler has not yet admitted his fear of our armed forces, but he long ago admitted his fear of the books we read in America.

At the Madison Free library, a current display of books banned in Germany includes the work of Jack London, Helen Keller, and Theodore Dreiser, in addition to the writing of "non-Aryan" Germans and political anti-Nazis.

Almost all the United Nations are represented on the "verboten" list—a list so extensive that it is no wonder a German newspaper, Geist der Zeit, complained that the average German reads 28 books a year in comparison with the American average of 3.67. The article was called "The Menace of the American Public Library."

Here in Madison, cardholders may borrow such menaces as Voltaire's "Candide," Rousseau's "Social Contract," Benedict Spinoza's "Writings," and "The Basic Writings of Sigmund Freud."

Of course, books by Jews like Leon Feuchtwanger, Sholem Asch, and Emil Ludwig are banned, as are those by anti-Nazis including Eduard Benes, Winston Churchill, Arthur Koestler, Ignace Silone, and Franz Hoellering. But readers may enjoy speculating on the probable dangers to German morale inherent in Helen Keller's autobiography, or Jack London's "Call of the Wild," or Romain Rolland's "Jean Christophe."

American correspondent are dangerous too. John Gunther's "Inside" series, H. R. Knickerbocker's "Is Tomorrow Hitler's?" and Louis Fischer's "Men and Politics" stand beside volumes by Nobel prize winners Sigrid Unset, Thomas Mann, and Albert Einstein.

Altogether, a total of 10,000 writers are forbidden to German readers. Their work forms a diversified group on which the German names are most numerous. The Writer's War board, source of the list, says that "not an internationally-known German writer still lives in Germany today."

The works of Jacob Wasserman, Arnold Zweig, Gotthold Lessing, Heinrich Heine, and Erich Remarque are as unpalatable to those who govern the Third Reich as are the writings of Karel Capek, G. K. Chesterton, Ernest Hemingway, John Dos Passos, Maxim Gorki, and H. G. Wells.

Blithe Spirit to Be Offered at Union

Noel Coward's newest play, "Blithe Spirit," will be read by Maud Scheerer at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Wisconsin Union theater, as the second attraction on the Wisconsin players' summer playbill. "Angel Street," originally scheduled, had to be cancelled at the last moment because of booking difficulties.

Described as a playful excursion into physical research, "Blithe Spirit" is said to be plentifully supplied with wit and ectoplasmic charm, and was one of the most successful shows in London and New York of the whole past season.

Tickets for "Blithe Spirit" are now available at the box-office.

McCarthy vs. Ameche today in Victory Parade at New Hour

Charlie McCarthy postponed his summer vacation for one week to appear on the Victory Parade over WJLA today at 5:30 p. m., the new time set for the program.

He appears opposite his old sparring partner Don Ameche, but will probably come out second-best in any mental fisticuffs, that is, if he pays too much attention to comely Janet Blair.

Replacing the regular Charlie McCarthy show is a new feature, Star Spangled Vaudeville, starring Walter O'Keefe, which will be presented for the first time over WJLA at 7 tonight.

Top acts from the forthcoming Irving Berlin musical show, "This is the Army," make up the bill for the premiere broadcast.
