Dramatic Story Of England At War Heads Ohio Program

Sensational Orson Welles Picture Starts Friday Night At Quilna: Other Houses Offer Good Films

"Mrs. Miniver," dramatic story of heroism of English families under bomb raids and danger, is the current cinema epic at the Ohio theatre. The film concerns the inhabitants of a small English village; middle class people under fire who try to live as usual for the sake of morale on the home front. Greer Garson. Walter Pidgeon and Teresa Wright are the stars of the film. The new Quilna film, "Citizen Kane," with Orson Welles as star, producer and director, moves into the Quilna theatre Friday evening after much delay between its re-lease and its exhibition in Lima. Noted for many things, in technical improvements as well as in story, the film has had difficulty reaching the public in towns of less than metropolitan size, due largely to its story. Showing for the final times Friday are "Lady For a Night" and "Yokel Boy."

An all-American dance band, a veteran actor and a pair of popular young dramatists headline the cast of "Syncopation," which opens Saturday at the Sigma theatre. Adolphe Menjou, Jackie Cooper and Bonita Granville handle the acting end. Co-featured is Night in New Preston Foster, Patricia Morison and Albert Dekker.
