

"Footlight Serenade" Erases Worry From Quilna Patrons

Song And Dance Theme Involving Back-Stage Life Offered At Prevue On Friday Night

The kind of movie entertainment that brings joy to the war-frown folded features of young and old picture show patrons alike comes of a Friday evening prevue at the Quilna theatre.

Name of same is "Footlight Serenade." This type of song and dance movie involving that fabulous kingdom back stage is always good. Only this one is better.

Until the arrival of "Footlight Serenade" the management of the Quilna announces continuation of two features, one a gay romance with Joan Crawford entitled "They All Kissed the Bride" and "Parachute Nurse."

At the Ohio theatre, for the last times, Thursday, that aerial epic "Eagle Squadron" is viewable. That cagey Ohio manager "Doc" Elliott, he who is chairman of the "Salute to Our Heroes" program, is customarily astute in his selection of good war thrillers. And this one is no exception. The bombing of Britain scenes look the McCoy.

Youngsters at their cutest stage of mayhem-committing development comprise the patry plot of a whing-dinger of a film "Let's Get Tough" now at the Sigma theatre. Those gentlemanly little Flatbush thugs known as the East Side Kids really rough it up for those nasty Japanese spies and kindred forms of vermin. Other films at the Sigma is "Lone Star Ranger," a hot western.

A very pretty, indeed, Nelson Eddy just sings his heart out in "I Married An Angel" that starts Thursday at the State theatre. With him is that thrill triller Jeannette MacDonald in a thoroly entertaining bit of filare. Playing along is another feature "Mister V" starring Leslie Howard.

Distinctly his power is "Martin Eden," a stout Jack London story filmized in true he-man tradition and projected at the Lyric theatre. Likewise very entertaining is another yarn of the adventures of that intrepid and remarkable gentleman of the evening performing admirably in "The Affairs of Jimmy Valentine."

QUILNA The current trend in Hollywood seems to be toward more license in comedies.

With people seeking escape from the grim realities, movie studios are going all out in an effort to give film fans something else to think about.

A pertinent example is Columbia new comedy, "They All Kissed the Bride," now at the Quilna theatre with Joan Crawford and Melvyn Douglas, in which Director Alexander Hall pulls out all stops and lets everything go.

For instance, he re-popularizes necking. Joan is kissed by practically every male member of the cast. In all, there are 78 kissing sequences set to Hall's "Keep 'em short and make 'em sizzle" formula.

At other periods in the picture, which effectively combines tender romance with broad comedy, Melvyn is shown attired in a negligee which might have been constructed for an elephant; Miss Crawford wears a pair of Douglas' pajamas; a jitterbug contest is held and Roland Young essays a masher's role aboard a New York subway.

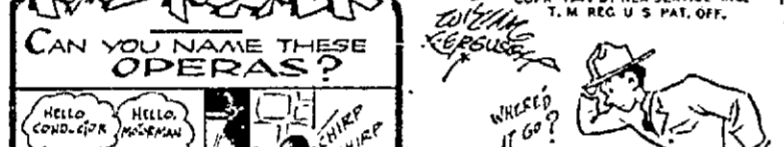

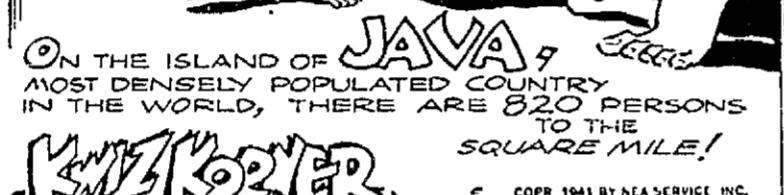

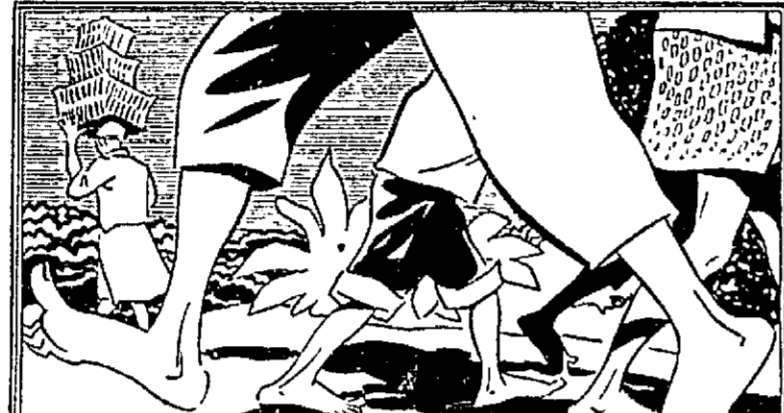

Billie Burke, Allen Jenkins, Andrew Tombes, Helen Parrish and other members of the cast are similarly provided with gay comedy roles in the new film, which is based upon a P. J. Wolfson screen play. Hall, incidental-

Baby Snooks Will Exploit New Higgins Twins Thursday

Laugh-Provoking Program Starts Its Sixth Year On Airwaves, Featuring Fanny Brice And "Daddy"

One of radio's top-ranking laugh shows, featuring Fanny Brice as Baby Snooks, Hanley (Daddy) Stafford, Frank Morgan and John Conte, begins its sixth season on the air with the broadcast of Thursday at 8 p. m.

Originally known as "Good News" and presenting some of the biggest names in the entertainment world, the program has enjoyed its greatest success in the last two seasons with the Snooks-Daddy-Morgan combination.

Heard each week by nearly 20 million people, Baby Snooks, tireless questioner and purveyor of mischief, undoubtedly will exploit the new Higgins twins as she sets out to stretch Daddy's elastic patience to the breaking point, and "Fabulous" Frank Morgan, scientist, explorer and authority on countless subjects, will do his utmost to convince "Dockey"
