

Story Of Refugees Seeking Haven In U. S. Billed At Ohio

Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman, Claude Rains And Peter Lorre Appear In "Casablanca" Friday

"Casablanca," which deals with refugees from war-torn Europe and their attempts to secure exit visas to the Americas, commences Friday at the Ohio theatre. This action-packed production features Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman, Claude Rains, Conrad Veidt, Peter Lorre and a host of other favorites, "Arabian Nights" will end Thursday.

A beautiful girl, defying violence and terror, and a daring Yank, flying and fighting for victory, provide an exciting romantic adventure story against a flaming background of war in "China Girl," which arrives at the Quilna theatre Friday night. Gene Tierney, George Montgomery and Lynn Bari are featured. Ending Friday afternoon will be "Flight Lieutenant" and "Laugh Your Blues Away."

Still continuing to attract patrons to the Sigma is "Hitler's Children," based on the book written by Gregor Ziemer. You'll see children being tortured, women being whipped and the ways the leaders of Germany carry out their work. "Northwest Rangers" also is showing.

"Highways By Night," State hit, concerns a wealthy young business man who accidentally intrudes on a gangland murder. He finds himself hunted by the police on one hand and marked for death by crooks on the other. Pat O'Brien, George Murphy and Jane Wyatt are in the co-feature, "The Navy Comes Thru."

Bob Steele, Tom Tyler and Jimmie Dodd break up a gang of outlaws in "Thundering Trails," now showing at the Lyric. Action starts when a man is killed in a hold-up. Completing the Lyric bill is "Castle in the Desert."

Opening Thursday at the Majestic are "The Boogie Man Will Get You," and "A Haunting We Will Go."

OHIO La Medina, the mysterious vice-infested section of Casablanca, will soon be as familiar to American picture audiences as the Casba, the criminal quarter of Algiers, made famous in the picture, "Algiers."

For La Medina figures importantly in "Casablanca," the new film, starring Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman and Paul Henreid, which opens at the Ohio theatre on Friday. That section was recreated on the screen under the technical supervision of Robert Eisner, French army officer, who escaped the Nazi claw soon after the fall of France, where he remained several months before he obtained a passport to Lisbon and thence to the United States.

La Medina, located in the northwest section of Casablanca, Morocco, is enclosed by a high wall, with its back to the Atlantic. It is the old Moorish part of the city and later became the refuge for underground leaders, political fugitives and escaped French, Czech and Polish army officers. It is with such refugees that the plot of "Casablanca" concerns itself. The action of the story takes place in Casablanca, with a flashback to Paris just prior to the German occupation, which tells of the love between Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman. Paul Henreid is cast as a prominent leader of the underground.

A featured supporting cast is headed by Claude Rains, Conrad Veidt, Sydney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre.

Tom Tyler, Bob Steele and Jimmie Dodd, making up the trio, each presents a different and contrasting personality facet. Tyler is the dashing, romantic member of the team; Steele is serious and stalwart; Dodd places emphasis on easy-going comedy.

The background of "Thundering Trails" places them in the Texas of pioneer days. As members of the Texas Rangers, they represent the red tape tactics of the authorities, who procrastinate giving them sufficient men and weapons to function efficiently.

When Stony Brooke's father is murdered in cold blood, he and the other two Mesquites, plus his brother Johnny, vow vengeance on the slayer. However, their vengeance takes shape in dramatically opposite ways. The Mesquites remain true to the Rangers as disbanded by unscrupulous politicians, while Johnny chooses to align himself with the politicians, becoming head of their puppet County Police organization.

Thus the Three Mesquites are pitted against Stony's brother, until, in a dramatic climax, Johnny Brooke discovers the real truth about the men with whom he is identified, and joins in with the Mesquites before it is too late, to help them round up and subdue the heavies.

Spanish American Countries To Be Honored On "Music Of The New World" Broadcast

No less spectacular than our own revolution was the struggle for independence carried on by our neighbors to the south in the first decades of the nineteenth century. Under such leaders as Bolivar, San Martin, Morillo and Turbide, the Spanish-American colonies revolted and won their freedom. Patriotic songs of this era are highlighted by "Music of the New World" Thursday, WEAFL, 11:30, in a program titled "Las Independencias" (1800 to 1825).
