"My Sister Eileen," Hit Of 1942, Returns To City

Lyric Presents Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne And Janet Blair Tuesday In One Of Year's Best Films

One of the finest pictures produced in 1942, "My Sister Eileen," returns to Lima on Tuesday and will show at the Lyric theatre. Dealing with two sisters from a small town who go to a big city to make a name for themselves, it features Rosalind Russell, Janet Blair and Brian Aherne. "The Magnificent Dope," with Henry Fonda and Lynn Bari, also opens Tuesday. Ending Monday will be "Prisoner of Japan" and "Tumbleweed Trails."

Action galore is found in the current Sigma attraction, "Lucky Jordan," which stars Alan Ladd. In this spy thriller

Thrills galore are found in the current Quilna hit. "Commandos Strike at Dawn," which will show thru Friday afternoon. In this hit Paul Muni portrays an unconquerable patriot who strikes back against Nazi authority. Other notables in the production are Lillian Gish, Anna Lee and Robert Coote.

All who saw "Random Harvest," at the Ohio theatre over the week-end termed it one of the finest pictures to be produced in Hollywood in many a month. It is a romance of an amnesia victim and a woman whose devotion finally unrayels the tangled skem of his memory. Lovely Green Garson and handsome Ronald Colman are starred.
