

Jefferson Bi-Centennial To Feature Airlanes On Tuesday

Frankfurter, MacLeish To Speak For Library Of Congress; "Duffy's" Adds Guitarist

Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter and Archibald MacLeish, librarian of Congress, will be heard in an exclusive half-hour broadcast on WEAJ on Tuesday, at 4:30 p. m. (EWT), on the occasion of the Thomas Jefferson Bi-Centennial. Justice Frankfurter will deliver the main address on "Thomas Jefferson" and will be introduced by MacLeish. The addresses will be part of a Library of Congress commemoration of the Bi-Centennial, which will be held in Coolidge auditorium.

The Guizar, Mexican singing-guitarist, will become a regular member of the cast of "Duffy's," broadcast over WJZ at 8:30 p. m., EWT, Tuesdays effective with the program of April 13. Following a recent guest appearance with the regulars at the bistro Guizar was offered, and accepted, a contract.

U. S. Sen. Edward H. Moore (R Okla.) will speak on "Thomas Jefferson in a special broadcast Tuesday over WEAJ at 7:30 p. m., EWT. The talk will be under the auspices of the Republican National committee. His topic will be "The Real Thomas Jefferson."

Madeleine Carroll, screen star and special representative of the board of trustees of the United Seamen's Service, will reveal her officially sanctioned proposal for the perpetuation of the U. S. Merchant Marine after the war, when she is interviewed by Edwin C. Hill on his WABC broadcast Tuesday at 6:15 p. m., EWT.

Len Martin, a sailor, will be up before a radio jury for the murder of James Roth, bankrupt businessman, when "Famous Jury Trials" is heard Tuesday at 9 p. m., EWT, over WJZ. When police arrived at the wharf, they found the dead man's gun in Martin's hand and the dead man's wallet in the sailor's pocket.

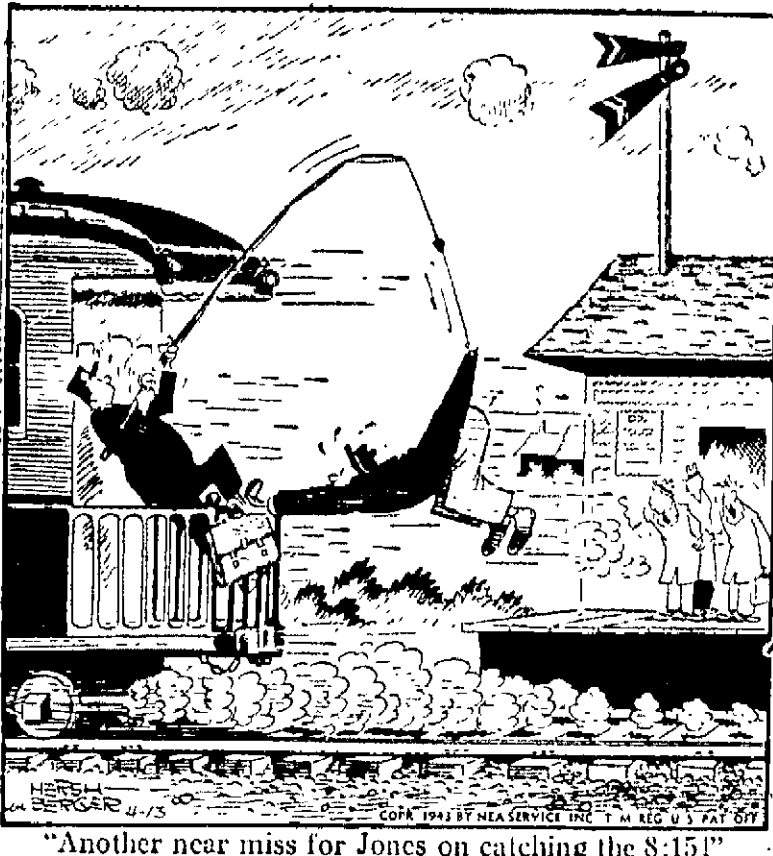

An all-star Treasury program, featuring such celebrities as Connie Bennett, Akim Tamiroff and Conrad Nagel, will be the presentation of "Battle of the Sexes" Tuesday over WEAJ at 9 p. m., EWT. This program is in cooperation with the nationwide War Bond drive to be launched next week.

House-hunting — or apartment hunting — or, in plain words, just looking for a place to live: That's what will engross "Red Skelton and Co." next Tuesday over WEAJ at 10:30 p. m., EWT.

Spook And Horror Show Is Listed Thursday At Ohio

Romance, Comedy And Rhythm Offered In Quilna Film; Powell And Lane Starred In State Feature

The Ohio theatre management announced that all is in readiness for the presentation of the "Spook Party and Horror Show," on the Ohio stage at 11:30 p. m. Thursday. In charge of Dr. Neff, this stage production has been claimed one of the most thrilling ever put on in any theatre. Currently flashing on the screen is the star-studded hit, "Star Spangled Rhythm," filled with songs and favorite actors and actresses.

Equal shares of romance, comedy and rhythm are found in the current Quilna attraction, "Something to Shout About," which features new song hits written by Cole Porter. In the principal roles are Don Ameche, Janet Blair, Jack Oakie, William Gaston and Cobina Wright, Jr. It tells what happens to a Pennsylvania girl who goes to the big city to sell her songs.

Opening Tuesday at the Lyric is "A Man's World," an exciting film concerned with the adventures of a small band of prospectors working to find diamonds in a savage land where men asked no questions, women revealed no pasts and spies expected no mercy. Also showing is "Iceland," in which Sammy Kaye of "Swing and Sway" fame, waves the baton in his first Hollywood feature hit. Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane head the cast of "Varsity Show," due Wednesday at the State, which deals with the difficulties of Winfield college undergraduates to put on a modernized variety show. "Three Hours for Julia," a comedy, also will show. Ending Tuesday are "Stand By for Action," a saga of the sea, and "Arabian Nights."

The Sigma currently is presenting "Calaboose," a farce comedy in which Mary Brian portrays a heroine who is bent on reforming criminals. Her glamorous beauty, however, gets in her way and causes a series of hilarious complications. Also being presented is "Shades of a Doubt," dealing with a criminal who takes refuge in the home of distant relatives.

Commencing Wednesday at the Drive-in theatre will be "Twin Beds," a rollicking comedy starring George Brent and Joan Bennett. Ending Tuesday will be "Ten Gentlemen From West Point," which tells of the early days of the academy.

If ever there was a picture to make every movie fan happy, it's the unparalleled musical comedy, "Star Spangled Rhythm," at the Ohio theatre with just about everything imaginable in the way of entertainment and just about everyone on the Hollywood lot. It's without doubt the best and biggest show of shows in Hollywood history—a feast for eyes and ears and heart and funnyness. No matter who your favorite star is, you're sure to see him or her in "Star Spangled Rhythm," for the studio has turned out en masse to make this the top musical comedy of this or any other movie season. Stupendous is definitely the word for it. There hasn't been anything to equal it since the first movie flicker fascinated audiences.

Any film which utilizes the diversified talents of more than 40 stars, giving them all a chance to strut their stuff and making that stuff an integral part of the story, rarely has something. And that's exactly what "Star Spangled Rhythm" does. Among the 40 stars you'll find Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Fred MacMurray, Franchot Tone, Ray Milland, Victor Moore, Dorothy Lamour, Paulette Goddard, Vera Zornina, Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken, Veronica Lake, Alan Ladd, Rochester, William Benday, Jerry Colonna, Macdonald Carey, Walter Abel, and more, and more!

Don't get the idea that "Star Spangled Rhythm" is just a review; it isn't. It tells the story of Victor Moore, Paramount studio gate-man, who has received his sailor son, Eddie Bracken, into believing that he runs the studio. When Eddie shows up at the studio with a group of friends, and Moore and Betty Hutton, his switchboard operator, friend, do it. Before very long, every one of the stars is helping them do it and it all adds up to really hilarious fun.

These extravaganza are undoubtedly the finest ever filmed. The music, by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren, is a list of current hit tunes, including "You Can't Say No to a Soldier," "Lover's Knot," "Let's Be Merry with the Old Glory," "There'll Never Be Another You," and "I Like a Milky Tune." The "Lovers Knot Polka," a dance (and song) created for this picture, looks like another "Lambeth Walk" has come to life in popularity again.

Of the picture's stars, Janet Blair got her first break in Ratoff's "Two Yanks in Trinidad," and it was Ratoff who directed Don Ameche in his first movie, "Sins of Man," in 1936.

One of Hollywood's merriest musicals, "Iceland," at the Lyric. Just as in "Sun Valley Serenade," the picture was not only an entertainment gem in its own right, but added more laurels to those already amassed by scintillating Sonja Henie, who just seems to skate with even more enchanting grace than she has in her previous films.

The film is high lighted with romance and comedy. Sonja Henie turns in an excellent performance with John Payne, her handsome costar, who looks even more romantic in his uniform as corporal in the U. S. Marines, Jack Oakie, that hilarious zany as usual adds the belly-laughs that climax the combined efforts of a virtual monopoly of Hollywood comedy talent — Oakie, Sterling Holloway, Felix Bressart and Fritz Feld.

Miles Henie and Payne receive other excellent support, particularly from Ossi Mason, the pretty Danish screen star, and Joan Merrill, the singing delight who has proved a surprisingly good actress. Finally, but certainly not the least important, an integral part of "Iceland's" success is due to the music of Sammy Kaye and his orchestra.

The setting for "Iceland," as the name implies, is America's newest outpost; and the thrilling opening shows the arrival of our fighting Marines to take over. An averted auto collision introduces Icelandic native Sonja to dashing corporal of Marines Payne, and his sidekick, Private Oakie. It's romance at first sight between Sonja and John Payne, except that Payne's "him" has drawn girls to the church (where they waited indefinitely) and this time he's stuck on an island. In order to avert marriage with local talent (Sterling Holloway) Sonja ultimately takes her "marriage" to John hoping he'll make it good by actually marrying her. He does, of course, but before that happens there are arguments, double-crosses, out-brook, close to war, and enough hilarious action and romance to make the most demanding moviegoer. That's not forgetting the unforgettable skating scenes.

Ratoff is attempting to display all three things in his new musical film, at the Quilna theatre, "Something to Shout About." Not only has he headlined its production with such stars as Don Ameche, Janet Blair and Jack Oakie, but the whole story is based on the adventures of a group of performers in a theatrical boarding house who make a while of a success of a vaudeville show.

The glamour is supplied by Janet Blair with Ameche contributing the romance, and Oakie, a dog act, "The Bricklayers" and a score of former variety comic to dish up the laughs. The artistic touch of which playing themselves are seen on their home ground, the Paramount studio. They all perform against a background of music, dancing and comedy, making "Star Spangled Rhythm" the greatest entertainment of its kind.
