ACTOR LOSES PANTS, HEAD AND LIFE IN HIS THREE MOVIES

Thumb-nail sketch of a Hollywood career. Specifically, that of Roman Bohnen, stage actor brought out from New York by a studio for a featured role in "Edge of Darkness," the drama of Nazi-occupied Norway, based on William Woods' novel. The picture is now at the Ohio theatre.

As the husband of Ida Lupino in "The Hard Way," he loses his pants. In "Edge of Darkness," he loses his head. In the forthcoming "Mission to Moscow," he loses his life.

There's a touch of genius in the running commentary by Justin Herman which accompanies the reading of the famous letter in "Postmark-U.S.A." now showing at the Ohio theatre.

Mr. Herman has been successful in many fields of writing. Last year he won the much coveted O'Brien prize for a short story and just a few weeks ago the Writers' War Board honored him by declaring his script for "We Refuse to Die" broadcast over station WNEB the best radio script of the month.

Besides his various free-lance assignments, Mr. Herman is a staff writer for Paramount Pictures, Inc., which, in cooperation with the National Association of Manufacturers, produced this heart-warming story of an American manufacturer's letter to his son in the Army Air Force "somewhere out there."

WALT DISNEY'S STORY OF LIFE OF FOREST ANIMALS RETURNS

The most beautiful as well as the most mature of Walt Disney's feature productions, "Bambi" at the State uses the background of the Maine woods, at all the varying seasons of the year, to tell its appealing story of birth, life, love, parenthood, tragedy and triumph.

Famous author Felix Salten wrote this story, using animals of the forests as characters, and turned out a best-selling book-of-the-month novel. The Maine "deep woods" backgrounds were secured during a year's sketching and photographing trip by the Disney artist, Maurice Duv.

The story of two sisters—one burning with love, the other settling with hatred—is told in "The Hard Way," now at the State Theatre. The roles are played by Ida Lupino and Joan Leslie.
