

Thrilling Drama Scheduled For State Screen Wednesday

Lana Turner Stars In Film Showing At Ohio; Romantic Hit Playing At Quilna

Frank Jenks and James Craig have the roles of escaping convicts in "Seven Miles From Alcatraz," which commences an engagement at the State Wednesday. Bonita Granville is cast as the daughter of a lighthouse keeper on a wave-battered islet outside the Golden Gate. Also scheduled to open is "Sherlock Holmes and the Secret Weapons," with Nigel Bruce and Basil Rathbone.

"Journey for Margaret," and when Johnny Comes Marching Home," show thru Tuesday. Lana Turner and Robert Young are seen together for the first time in "Slightly Dangerous," currently at the Ohio. In the story Lana plays the part of a small town soda jerk who goes to the big city, acquires amnesia, masquerades as the long lost daughter of Walter Brennan and leads Young a merry chase before she admits she loves him. Dame May Whitty, Eugene Paulette and Alan Mowbray round out the supporting cast.

Coming Wednesday to the Drive-in theatre will be "Tuttles of Tahiti," starring Charles Laughton and Jon Hall. Ending Wednesday is "Orchestra Wives," with Glenn Miller and his band and George Montgomery and Carole Landis.

Romance provides many thrilling moments in "The Desperadoes," technicolor attraction, at the Quilna. Glenn Ford and Evelyn Keyes play featured roles in the saga of the west while Randolph Scott, Claire Trevor and Edgar Buchanan also have prominent roles. A thrilling story of newspaper life, "Power of the Press," completes the program.

At the Lyric is "Rhythm Parade," a story which deals with the attempts of Gale Storm to secure a starring engagement at a night club and how a rival interferes with her plans. Also showing is "Kid Dynamite," with the East Side Kids and lovely Pamela Blake.

Nearing the close of its run at the Sigma is "Two Weeks to Live," a laugh riot with Lum and Abner, the two radio favorites from the back country. In this hit they go to the big city to make money fast. The Sigma also is presenting "Ladies Day," the hilarious story of a guy who'd always blow a ball game. It stars Lupe Velez and Eddie Albert.

A sun-drenched frontier town, Red Valley, is the scene of Hollywood's sensationally colorful and breathtakingly dramatic new technicolor western, "The Desperadoes," which features Randolph Scott, Glenn Ford, Claire Trevor, Evelyn Keyes and Edgar Buchanan at the Quilna theatre.

Into Red Valley, and the greatest adventure of his adventure-stalked young life, rides Cheyenne Rogers, man-hunted killer. He discovers he knows Steve, the town's new sheriff; he finds the Countess, who runs a gambling hall, is a former childhood sweetheart; he falls in love with a girl, and learns that her father is the man for whom he planned to rob the bank!

Trying to go straight, Cheyenne is caught in a mesh of romance and intrigue which leads him straight to a legal lynching. Escaping, with the connivance of the sheriff, he returns to Red Valley long enough to learn the truth about the nefarious goings-on of some of the town's "better" citizens. Then, because the sheriff himself has been jailed for his part in Cheyenne's escape, the gun-fighter again returns this time amid the tumultuous thunderings in order to clean up, once and for all, the lawlessness of that particular frontier.

Ford, whose rise to stardom has been a swift, steady one, tops his finest performance as Cheyenne, the soft-spoken killer who wants to reform. Scott appears effective, as the sheriff, who is his rival for the hand of the lovely Miss Keyes. Claire Trevor appears as the Countess, and Edgar Buchanan is the sly, unlikable ranchman responsible for all the skullduggery. "Power of the Press," compelling drama of an old-fashioned newspaper publisher and his fight to the finish against a new kind of mob, is also at the Quilna. Featuring Guy Kibbee, Gloria Dickson, Otto Kruger, Lee Tracy and Victor Jory in the leading roles, the action-packed thriller was directed by Lew Landers.

There are thrilling incidents and an atmosphere of very timely interest in "Kid Dynamite," the comedy-drama at the Lyric theatre with the redoubtable East Side Kids in the starring roles. This group of blash youngsters, headed by Leo Gorcey, Bobby Jordan, Huntz Hall and Gabriel Dell, are calculated to supply plenty of action and excitement in any picture in which they appear, but in this up-to-the-minute film they are aided by the charming Pamela Blake, Henry Hall, Daphne Pollard and Vince Barnett, and a story which is filled with tensely dramatic situations.

As the story opens two of the young gangsters, competing in a boxing tournament, embark on a feud which assumes unwarranted proportions, until finally their enmity is overshadowed by the coming of the war to the East Side. The entire cast enters into the spirit of the story with vigor and conviction, and the result is a picture which proves more than ordinarily interesting.

STATE

Prison stripes rob a man of his American citizenship, but his unselfish patriotism restores it in the powerful story of a criminal's reformation, "Seven Miles From Alcatraz," featuring James Craig and Bonita Granville. It starts Wednesday at the State.
