

Joan Davis Plays In One Of Two Hits Scheduled At Sigma

"He's My Guy" And "Undercover Man" Open Wednesday; "This Land Is Mine" Coming To Ohio Friday

Two first class productions—"He's My Guy" and "Undercover Man"—will show at the Sigma Wednesday thru Friday. In the first hit Joan Davis and Dick Foran have the principal roles while the second feature has William Boyd in the leading part.

Kent Smith, brilliant young stage actor who only recently made his screen debut, plays the part of a patriotic saboteur in Nazi territory in "This Land Is Mine," due to open Friday at the Ohio. Charles Laughton and Maureen O'Hara have the lead roles. Showing thru Thursday will be a rollicking comedy, "Slightly Dangerous," with Lana Turner and Robert Young.

Still continuing to draw patrons to the Quilna is "The Desperadoes," a story of the old west filmed in gorgeous technicolor. Randolph Scott, Glenn Ford and Claire Trevor are three of the big stars in the hit which shows along with "Power of the Press."

The latter picture features Guy Kibbee and Gloria Dickson. Currently at the Lyric is "Rhythmic Parade," a first class musical production with Gale Storm and Robert Lowery. It deals with a girl who attempts to get a job in a famous night club. Also showing is "Kid Dynamite," with the tough but likeable East Side Kids.

On Wednesday and Thursday "The Tuttle of Tahiti," will show at the Drive-in theatre. Leading roles are taken by Charles Laughton and Jon Hall.

Coming Thursday to the Majestic will be "Scattergood Survives a Murder," with Guy Kibbee, and "Westward Ho."

An exciting man-hunt over the waters of San Francisco bay furnishes one of the high spots in the emotional drama of love and patriotism, "Seven Miles From Alcatraz," now at the State. James Craig and Bonita Granville have the top roles. The State also is showing "Sherlock Holmes and the Secret Weapon."

OHIO With its story woven around the consequences of a Nazi invasion of a sleepy European village, "This Land of Mine," due Friday at the Ohio stars Charles Laughton and Maureen O'Hara in a stirring and timely drama of patriotism.

The two favorites have the roles of a pair of school teachers in the town, both of whom are inexorably drawn into the underground conflict between the local inhabitants and the Nazi troops. How forces beyond his control transform Laughton from a fear-ridden incompetent to a courageous rebel forms the dramatic basis on the unusual film.

Walter Brennan, three times Academy winner, forakes his character roles to play "Daddy," and is kissed by Lana Turner, in "Slightly Dangerous," at the Ohio theatre, and co-starring Miss Turner with Robert Young in a hilarious farce comedy.

Miss Turner poses as an amnesia victim and pretends to be the daughter of a millionaire, played by Brennan. Young is manager of the store in which she was a soda clerk, and hilarious incidents range from Lana's mixing sodas blindfolded to a comical denouement in which she and Young realize they're in love.

Wesley Ruggles directed, with a cast that includes Eugene Pallette, Howard Freeman, Dame May Whitty, Pamela Blake, Alan Mowbray, Ward Bond, Florence Bates and others.

QUILNA Magnificent, colorful, spectacular, aflame with all the grandeur and the fury of the lawless plains, the mighty Technicolor Western, "The Desperadoes" is at the Quilna theatre. With Randolph Scott, Glenn Ford, Claire Trevor, Evelyn Keyes and Edgar Buchanan heading a superb cast, the new film is a splendidly-epic of the old West, an adventurous romance which thunders across the screen to the tune of crackling gunfire and roaring hoofs.

Full-fashioned, robust adventure to be found in "The Desperadoes." Its principals are danted men and wanted women, killers and zombies and heroes and cowards, desperate and reckless. The "bad" men include a wanted gunman who slips off in the pioneer town of Red Valley to do a little self-healing and stays to introduce law and order, and a dynamite throwing killer, a good man to have around in a town. The "good" men include a sheriff who once was an outlaw, a lawyer who robs his wife of a partner, and a philosopher who also has his wife and a judge who records a rape as the highest form of justice.

Real "ships of the air" weighing 200 tons and more are being planned. Tests indicate that the average traffic stop light requires 25 seconds of waiting time.

"I don't wanna be a lady when I grow up—I wanna be a spot-welder 'like mom!"

Q—When did the first national election occur? A—Jan. 7, 1789. The 69 electors voted unanimously for George Washington as president, made John Adams vice president.

Q—What was the first American novel to sell one million copies? A—Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" reached that mark within less than eight years after publication on March 20, 1852.

Q—What was the Treaty of Kanagawa? A—It was a treaty of "Peace, Amity, and Commerce," made on March 31, 1854, between the United States and Japan, two years after Commodore Perry's historic visit to the island kingdom.

Q—What shoemaker and fish peddler died in the electric chair in Massachusetts, making national news and described by many as martyrs? A—Sacco and Vanzetti, executed in Boston, Aug. 22, 1927, convicted of murdering a paymaster and guard seven years earlier. A fight to free them raged because their supporters claimed the prisoners were victimized because of radical beliefs.

Q—What President of the United States was assassinated in Buffalo, N. Y., and who was his slayer? A—President William McKinley was shot by Leon Czolgosz, an anarchist, at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo, in the fall of 1901.

The figure atop the U. S. Capital in Washington, D. C., is that of Freedom.

There is a wealth of entertainment in "Rhythmic Parade," the musical picture at the theatre. The film is a constant succession of singing, dancing and instrumental numbers which make it the ultimate in tuneful spectacles.

Locale of the picture is a metropolitan night club, and authenticity has been achieved by including "bodily" in the film the entire floor show from Hollywood's Florentine Gardens with the famous "N.T.G." (Niles T. Granlund) in his real-life role as master of ceremonies. Scenic costumes set off the charms of several dozen of the film capital's most beautifully upholstered girls, who perform in several elaborate dancing numbers with screen actress Gale Storm carrying off the honors as principal singer of songs.

Another vocal treat is provided by the vastly popular Mills Brothers Quartet, and there are biting performances by the equally well-received Ted Fio Ritta's orchestra. Of the acting cast, important parts are played by Robert Lowery, Margaret Dumont, Chick Nazzarro, Jan Wiley and Chick Chandler, and there are specialties by "Candy" Candido, Joan Foreman and others. Quite literally, there is something doing every minute, and it all adds up to a very fine grade of entertainment.

The story details Miss Storm's efforts to secure a starring engagement at the night club, and the attempts of her jealous rival, Miss Wiley, to interfere with her plans. A curdling lot figures hilariously in the plot, with first one and then another of the principals claiming parentage.
