

Story Of Corregidor To Be Seen On Sigma Screen

"Star Spangled Rhythm" On State Bill; Lyric, Quilna Have Twin Films; "Forever And A Day" At Ohio

Commencing Wednesday at the Sigma will be "Corregidor," an epic drama of those 28 days of heroism and sacrifice by American and Philippine forces at Corregidor. Otto Krueger, Elissa Landi and Donald Woods have three big roles. "Sagebrush Law," starring Tim Holt, also will open. Ending Tuesday will be "The Pride of the Yankees," based on the life of one of baseball's finest stars—Lou Gehrig.

Currently showing at the State theatre is "Star Spangled Rhythm," packed with Hollywood favorites and music. In the picture are Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Ray Milland, Tony Martin, Dorothy Lamour and a host of other fine actors and actresses. Completing the program is "Calaboose," with Jimmy Rogers and Noah Berry, Jr.

Two fine pictures now are showing at the Quilna and the stages include Kenny Baker, Patricia Morrison, Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall and Bobby Jordan. "Clancy Street Boys," with the East Side Kids, is filled with laughs and thrills while "Silver Skates," has stars, girls, music and laughs.

Opening Tuesday at the Lyric is "Commandos Strike at Dawn," a film which pictures in realistic detail the descent of commando force on the Nazis in occupied Norway, showing the world's toughest fighting men battling their way thru natural obstacles of every sort and getting very dirty while doing so. "Dr. Renault's Secret," also is showing.

The Ohio theatre will offer "Forever and a Day," commencing Tuesday. In this adventure production are Brian Aherne, Robert Cummings, Charles Laughton, Ida Lupino, Ray Milland, Herbert Marshall, Anna Neagle and Merle Oberon.

"Berlin Correspondent," with Virginia Gilmore and Dana Andrews, will commence an engagement at the Drive-in theatre on Wednesday. "You Were Never Lovelier," starring lovely and alluring Rita Hayworth and Fred Astaire, shows thru Tuesday.

OHIO
Five romances over a 136-year period form the unusual basis for the new Anglo-American film, "Forever and a Day," at the Ohio, which presents the largest cast of stars ever assembled on the screen. The story tells a colorful page from British history.

As a practical method of relieving their bit for the Allied war relief funds, to which all the picture's profits go, its 78 stars and featured players donated their services without cost, as did the sextette of directors who filmed the various episodes.

These episodes tell the highlights of a house and its inhabitants, a house built on the outskirts of London in 1804 by a retired naval officer to shelter his descendants. The vicissitudes and adventures thru which these various descendants go color the many dramatic moments of the story. Frank Lloyd, Rene Clair, Victor Saville, Robert Stevenson, Edmund Goulding and Herbert Wilcox directed the six principal sequences of the unique production.

Such celebrities as Ray Milland, Merle Oberon, Brian Aherne, Charles Laughton, Ida Lupino, Claude Rains, C. Aubrey Smith, Ian Hunter, Herbert Marshall, Jessie Matthews, Edward Everett Horton, Roland Young, Anna Neagle, Cedric Hardwicke, Robert Cummings, Gene Lockhart, Lumsden Hare, Elsa Lanchester, Victor McLaglen and June Duprez have important roles in the film. Ruth Warrick and Kent Smith enact the leading roles in the beginning and concluding sequences, depicting the height of the London air blitz of 1940. RKO Radio is distributing the picture, which is said to rank among the most entertaining offerings of the year.

The profits from the distinction of "Forever and a Day" in each country will accrue to the benefit of some charity to be officially named by the government of that country. It has been decided that in the United States the proceeds from our national distribution will be given to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

SIGMA

They also play the parts of surgeons, also doing their bit thru the terrific siege of the rock fortress by the Japs.

day at the Sigma is said to be one of the most exciting of all Tim Holt's outdoor pictures. Presenting an unusual plot, trigger fast action, sensational horseback riding, rollicking comedy and tuneful music, the film builds suspense and interest from the first scene to the surprising climax.

A hand-picked cast of popular western players includes Cliff Edwards (Ukelele Ike), John Elliott, Roy Barcroft, Ernie Adams, Edward Cassidy, John Merton and Joan Barclay.

Picturesque outdoor settings add much to the production value of the film.

LYRIC

The first great motion picture drama of the world's toughest fight men! A mighty story of adventure... written in the blood of heroes... and in the tears of the women they leave behind! Every character... every scene... a never-to-be-forgotten emotional experience!

That's "Commandos Strike at Dawn" drama at the Lyric theatre with Paul Muni starred. Mightiest of the war's adventure pictures, "Commandos Strike at Dawn" was directed by John Farrow, the man who made "Wake Island," and produced by Lester Cowan, from Irwin Shaw's screen play, based on the Cosmopolitan magazine story by C. S. Forester.

Appearing in featured support of the star are Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Anna Lee, Lillian Gish and Robert Coote, in addition to several hundred real-life Commandos who portray themselves!

Also at the Lyric is "Dr. Renault's Secret."

QUILNA

With more comedy in its story than previous "East Side Kids" releases, "Clancy Street Boys" is at the Quilna theatre.

Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall and Bobby Jordan are cast in the featured roles, and have ample opportunity to demonstrate the comedy ability which has always been their principal stock in trade. The boys are comedians of a particularly brash and refreshing type, and this flair is an important factor in making the picture a grand success in its field.

Others who contribute to this happy result are Noah Berry, Sr., Lita Ward, Ric Vallin, J. Farrell MacDonald and Sammy Morrison. The story concerns the situation which arises when Berry, a western rancher who has for years been sending checks to the seven supposed offspring of a childless couple, arrives in New York for a visit. The East Side Kids come to the rescue to impersonate the said offspring, and the angular Huntz Hall is even pressed into service as the

EVENTS PLANNED TO ENTERTAIN FIRST LADIES

Wives Of State Governors To Attend Conference Opening At Columbus June 20

COLUMBUS, O., June 15—(INS)—The wives of state governors will not be left behind when the chief executives of 45 states convene in Columbus Sunday, June 20, for the four day governors' conference.

This was revealed today by Mrs. John W. Bricker, official hostess of the conference as the wife of Ohio's governor, who said that most of the states' first ladies will be on hand to hear the many distinguished statesmen and army chiefs.

"Acceptances are coming in each day," she said, "and we expect most of the governors' wives to be present."

Arrangements have been completed for their entertainment, but don't think for a minute that the ladies are going to "chew the fat" over the bridge table while their men as War Manpower Director Paul V. McNutt and Food Administrator Chester C. Davis.

It is fairly certain that close attention will probably be paid to the words of the food administrator. Few are those who haven't had a struggle trying to entertain as he fits a governor's wife on the present food ration.

The social itinerary begins Sunday when the governors, their wives, and guests will attend a cocktail party at the Galbraith farm followed by a buffet supper at the Scioto Country club.

On Monday, Mrs. Bricker said, the governors' wives will attend the opening session of the conference and later in the afternoon will hear War Manpower Director McNutt and Food Administrator Davis.

Late Monday afternoon, Mrs. Bricker will entertain with a garden party at the governor's mansion.

And then they will attend what is perhaps the highlight of the conference, the state dinner at which Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. ambassador to Russia, will speak.

The assemblage will have luncheon Tuesday at the Granville Inn with the governors leaving to inspect the Owen-Carnegie Fiber Glass Co.

This could be a classic moment as these women for the first time have their own little conference around the luncheon table.

Three, including Mrs. Bricker, Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, wife of the governor of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Thomas Dewey, the first lady of New York, could undoubtedly be seen.

edly shed a great deal of light upon their husbands' future political intentions but in all probability the conversation will turn to something more feminine—problems of rationing, the horror of war and the glorious day of armistice.

The women will lunch Wednesday at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts while their husbands dine at the Scioto Country club, perhaps, making to get in a round of golf.

Thus will end what is expected to be a conference of the most prime importance to all Americans since it may influence the prosecution of the war as well as our post-war America.
