Sewell Beats Cards, 9-5, for 13th Victory of the Year

Braves Trip Up Brooklyn, 3-2

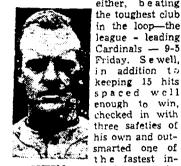

Boston Red Sox Hand Candini Second Loss

The Pittsburgh Pirates, dubbed the "accordion" club because of their classic collapses, have been painfully barren of success stories for several years. But Truett Banks Sewell, fancy name and all, is helping write a new kind of saga for his club.

Rip, whose dipper pitch has brought him 13 victories and ranking as the best hurler in the majors today, spends his spare time in directing calisthenics for the Pirates while perfecting the softest pitch in the game.
Sewell's repertoire includes all the unorthodox stuffscrewballs, sinkers and knuckles—but his best offer-ing is his "butter-ball."—a soft, slow one that takes off in the stratosphere and then drops into the strike zone.

The 34-year-old righthander doesn't have his spots hand-made either, be ating ! the toughest club keeping 15 hits spaced well enough to win, checked in with three safeties of his own and outsmarted one of the fastest infields in the senior circuit. He was trapped off third, and in an attempted run-down drew Catcher Walker Cooper away from the plate, feinted him into throwing and then raced past the St. Louis' backstop to score.

The Pirates amassed 15 hits off four Cardinal pitchers, tallying Val five runs in the first and sewing up the game with a pair in the Est

Yanks Wim Again Boston spoiled the Dodgers' chances of picking up a full game on the Cardinals by defeating Brooklyn, 3-2, behind the five-hit hurling of Nate Andrews. Johnny McCarthy slammed a triple in the ninth innings off veteran Freddie Fitzsimmons to send in Butch Nieman with the winning run.

Kirby Higbe, Brooklyn starter, was ejected by Umpire Bill Stewart in the second inning for throwing down his glove after a second ball was called on Chuck Workman with the bases loaded. Highe previously had passed Connie Ryan for the Braves' first tally. Johnny Allen relieved him and promptly walked Workman to force in the second score.

In the American Legion, the leading New York Yankees edged out the Athletics, 6-5, as Frankie Crosetti's third hit, an eight-inning single, provided the winning edge. Marius Russo, who relieved Charlie Wensloff in the seventh when the A's slammed over four runs, was credited with the victory.

ington Senators with five hits as the Boston Red Sox handled Milo Candini his second setback of the season, 4-1, in a night game before 10,100 fans at Griffith stadium. Candini was clipped for seven hits and issued seven walks, good for three runs, in eight innings. Jim Tabor stole home for the fourth Boston run in the ninth.

Three straight walks plus a pair of singles and an infield out gave the Browns four runs off Al Smith in the first inning and an eventual 4-3 decision over the Indians in a night game. The decision, the Browns' eight in 10 starts against Cleveland this year, pulled them into a fourthplace tie with the White Sox and tumbled the Indians into seventh.
