BARBARA STANWYCK STARS IN SPECTACULAR SIGMA MOVIE

"Happy Go Lucky" Comes To State Sunday, A Gay Story Of Thrills On A Summer Vacation

Virginia Gardner and Dallas Worth are two of the many gorgeous showgirls who enhance the chorus-line in "Lady of Burlesque," spectacular showpiece starring Barbara Stanwyck which opens Saturday at the Sigma. Completing the program is "Natzy Nuisance."

All the thrills and fun of a summer vacation, plus a lot more, are said to abound in the new musicomedy, "Happy Go: Lucky," which comes to the State on Sunday. "Fall In," also will open. Ending Saturday will be "I Walked With a Zombie," and "Gildersleeve's Bad Day."

One of the most unusual comedies of the season, "He Hired the Boss," currently at the Quilna, centers around the plight of an air raid warden who tangles with a gang of silk thieves. Stuart Erwin and Evelyn Venable have principal roles in this comedy. Completing the bill is "The Ox-Bow Incident," a starkly realistic film set in the far west.

"The Constant Nymph," currently at the Ohio, tells the tender story of a young girl's love for a great musician who learns too late that she is the inspiration for all his music. Charles Bover and Joan Fontaine are costarred for the first time.

Filmed in technicolor, "Thunder Birds," comes to the Drive In theatre on Sunday. Scheduled to show for three days, this thriller features John Sutton and Gene Saturday will be the final day for the showing of "Something To Shout About" with Don Ameche, Jack Oakie and Janet Blair.
