

2 Music Groups to Start Season

Civic Symphony, Chorus to Meet

The Madison Civic Symphony orchestra and Madison Civic chorus will begin their 18th and 17th seasons, respectively, this week with rehearsals in room 130, Vocational school. Dr. Sigfrid Prager, conductor since the organizations' founding, will continue as leader.

The chorus will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday and the orchestra at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. Both groups are units of the vocational school's civic music program.

The orchestra will rehearse Schubert's "Unfinished" symphony, Mozart's "Jupiter" symphony, "Three Nocturnes" by Debussy, Tchaikovsky's "Capriccio Italien," and works of Shostakovich, Tansman, and Weinberger.

The chorus will study Bruckner's "Te Deum," Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci," and Handel's "The Messiah."

Wartime Washington Takes a Spoofing

TAYLOR HOLMES LEILA ERNST

Wartime Washington comes in for some spoofing in "The Doughgirls," Joseph Fields' comedy coming to the Parkway theater Monday and Tuesday nights, Oct. 18 and 19. The cast includes Taylor Holmes and Leila Ernst.

Union to Loan Pictures Again to Decorate Students' Rooms

Once again, students of the University of Wisconsin will have an opportunity to hang worthwhile works of art in their rooms.

The loan collection of the Memorial Union has been placed on display in the Union galleries by the gallery committee. Any of these 177 prints, water colors, oils, and temperas may be borrowed for a semester upon payment of a 50-cent fee, according to Myrth Beaurline, gallery committee chairman. Pictures valued up to $25 may be selected by students. Those of a greater value are available for residence halls.

Included in the works are the purchase prizes from the nine Wisconsin salons and several paintings from the annual student shows. Also a part of the group are the contributions of the art history department from the WPA art project.

Students will make their selections between Sept. 20 and Sept. 28 and will call for the pictures Sept. 28 and 29.

'Sade's New Role to Be Newscaster

BERNARDINE FLYNN

Bernadine Flynn, who for more than 10 years has been "Sade" in radio's "Vic and Sade," will turn newscaster Monday, Sept. 20, when she begins a series on the Columbia network. Miss Flynn will be on the air at 12:30 p. m. Mondays through Fridays. She is the daughter of George C. Flynn, Madison, and a University of Wisconsin graduate.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Music in War, Council Topic

MINNEAPOLIS — The role of music in the wartime world, which has been the theme for several previous meetings of the National Federation of Music Clubs, again will occupy the attention of its board of directors and state and district presidents council at the annual fall meeting to be held here Sept. 16-19, inclusive. This time the organization will also look beyond immediate problems to the effect of the war upon the music of the future. The topic will be discussed at a forum Saturday afternoon, Sept. 18.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

Speakers in the four-day series of meetings will include Belgian-born Baroness Suzanne Silvercruys, sister of the dean of the ambassadorial corps at Ottawa; Maurice Matterson, Frostburg, Md., authority on American folk music research; and Ruth Bradley, New York. Miss Bradley has just completed the course in musical therapy given by Mrs. Harriet Ayer Seymour, president of the National Foundation of Musical Therapy. She will give a lecture and demonstration on the curative use of musical therapy, especially stressing its value in restoring wounded or shell-shocked soldiers to normalcy. Matterson will present a program of typical folk melodies to dulcimer accompaniment.

What's on the Air

Today's Aces

4:30 p. m.—Bomber Donation (WENR): Speakers, Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York, Mayor LaGuardia.

8 p. m.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull (WIBA): "Our Foreign Policy and the Framework of National Interest."

7:15 p. m.—That's a Good One (WLS): comedy series featuring comedians Hope Emerson, Ward Wilson, and Art Elmer, and piano duo Al and Lee Reiser.

9 a. m.—Church of the Air (WBBM): Dr. C. E. Krumbholz, secretary of welfare department, National Lutheran Council; "How Important Are You?" Highlights of the Bible (WMAQ); Dr. Frederick K. Stamm, "On This Rock."

5 p. m.—Catholic Hour (WMAQ): Rev. Paul Tanner of National Catholic Welfare conference, "The Church and Youth."

11 a. m.—Reviewing Stand (WGN): "France Awaits Invasion," Capt. Michael Fielding, radio commentator; Harold Eitlinger, Chicago Sun; Franklin Scott, history professor. World Front (WMAQ): Gregor Ziemer, European authority; Arthur Reilly, commentator; Howard Chamberlain, moderator; Jean Helion, French author and painter, recently escaped from German labor camp.

1 p. m.—Chicago Roundtable (WIBA): "Russia's Foreign Policy," Reinhold Niebuhr, Union Theological seminary, N. Y.; Ralph Barton Perry, Harvard university; George V. Bobrinsky, Chicago university.

2 p. m.—Rationing Report (WMAQ): with Frederick M. Vinson, director of economic stabilization. Encore (WHA): Prof. Merle Curti's estimate of conditions at period between the last two wars.

3:30 p. m.—University Forum (WHA): "Should the Voting Age be Lowered to Eighteen?" Speakers, Assemblyman Lyall T. Beggs, David Blanchard, student, Dean Harry Glickman, Prof. L. H. Adolphson.

4 p. m.—Where Do We Stand? (WENR): Robert St. John, war correspondent, guest.

4 p. m.—Mediation Board (WGN): Arthur Garfield Hayes, trial lawyer; Dr. Houston Peters; Rutgers university; Rev. Ralph Emerson Davis.

11:30 a. m.—That They Might Live (WMAQ): Arlene Francis and Helen Claire as Red Cross clubmobile workers in "Diary of a Doughgirl."

1 p. m.—Ceiling Unlimited (WBBM): Joseph Cotten and Nan Wynn.

2 p. m.—Fighting Heroes of the U. S. Navy (WENR): stories of famous naval battles.

2:30 p. m.—Hot Copy (WENR): Woman reporter files extortions.

5 p. m.—Silver Theater (WBBM): Vera Vague in "Lady With Ideas."

5:30 p. m.—America in the Air (WBBM): role of P-38 fighter plane in South Pacific. Great Gildersleeve (WIBA): gets behind the war bond drive.

8 p. m.—Digest (WBBM): James Cagney in "So It Happened to Me, Too."

10:30 p. m.—Pacific Story (WMAQ): "Islands of the Pacific."

1:30 p. m.—John Charles Thomas (WIBA): "Sheila," "The Sunshin' of Your Smile," "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," "Harvest Moon."

2 p. m.—N. Y. Philharmonic (WBBM): Overture to "Le Roi d'Ys"; Lalo; Suite, "The Sea"; Bridge; Siegfried Idyl; Raymond Edward Johnson reading Jefferson's inaugural address during intermission.

3:30 p. m.—Andre Kostelanetz (WBBM): Dorothy Maynor, soprano, guest. "Were You There?" "Without A Song," "One Kiss."

4 p. m.—Family Hour (WBBM): "Victory Polka," "Thank You Lucky Stars," "Night and Day," "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," "Stormy Weather." NBC Symphony (WIBA): Byron Janne, pianist, soloist. "Athalia Overture," Mendelssohn; Third Movement from String Quartet, Op. 10, Debussy; Second Piano concerto in C minor, Rachmaninoff.

6:30 p. m.—Band wagon (WIBA): Guy Lombardo from Toronto, Canada.

7:30 p. m.—Keepsakes (WLS): "Smiles," "Love Nest," "They Didn't Believe Me," "Beautiful Lady," "Your Eyes Have Told Me So."

8:15 p. m.—Lower Basin St. (WENR): Igor Gorin, guest.

8:30 p. m.—Familiar Music (WIBA): "Sylvia," "Out of This World," "Where the River Shannon Flows," "All Through the Night." Summer Theater (WBBM): "Summertime," "Merry Widow Waltz," "God Bless America," "Sunday, Monday, or Always."

9 p. m.—Hour of Charm (WIBA): "Pomp and Circum-

Frequencies

WIBA ... 1310 WENR ... 890
WHA ... 970 WTMJ ... 620
WLS ... 700 WMAQ ... 670
WBBM ... 480 WGN ... 720
WCFB ... 430 WIND ... 850
WCFM ... 1000 WJLD ... 850
WIBU ... 1240 WLS ... 610

IGOR GORIN WENR at 8:15.

stance," "By the Waters of Minnetonka," "Tales from the Vienna Woods," "The Rosary," Brahms' "Cradle Song."

9:30 p. m.—Bob Crosby (WIBA): Betty Russell, guest singer.

6 p. m.—Jerry Lester (WBBM) and Constance Bennett.

7 p. m.—Bergen and McCarthy (WIBA): with Humphrey Bogart.

6:30 p. m.—Quiz Kids (WENR): Joel Kupperman will be interviewed in Hollywood by Erskine Johnson.

9:45 a. m.—Hollywood Theater of the Air (WMAQ): Mary Astor in "Take a Letter, Darling."

10:00 a. m.—Homemaker's Program (WHA): League of Women Voters discussion, "Resolution for Peace," Prof. Charles Bunn, Mrs. Scudder Meckel.

10:45 a. m.—WHA Players (WHA): first of a series of Stephenson Vincent Benet short story dramatizations.

5 p. m.—Jack Benny (WIBA): from Egypt.

12:00 Elizabeth Hart—WMAQ
12:00 Lita Can Be Beautiful—WBBM
12:00 Radio—WJLD
12:00 Dinnerbell Time—WLS
12:15 Ma Perkins—WBBM WCCO
12:20 Loop Noonday Parade—WJLD
12:25 The Goldbergs—WBBM WCCO
1:00 Lita Can Be Beautiful—WTMJ
1:00 Light—WJLD
1:00 Young Dr. Malone—WBBM WCCO
1:15 Lonely Women—WMAQ
1:15 Jordan—WMAQ
1:30 Light of the World—WMAQ
1:30 Aunt Jenny—WMAQ
1:30 Hymns of All Churches—WBBM
1:45 Pepper