LYRIC

In his first role since his un forgettable "Mr. Chips," Robert Donal completely stirred a capacity gathering at the Lyric theatre yesterday with his forthright portrayal of "The Young Mr. Pitt," whose stirring deeds in times much like our own spurred men to a world changing victory.

The happy combination of Donat's return to the screen and the picturization of the fighting Mr. Pitt's timely life story proved to be film fare of an altogether magnificent order. If the celebrated star charmed you as "Mr. Chips," he will thrill you as the Roy Prime Minister who put romance "Reveille With Beverly" we know on the side to help whip the die-
