A MAN AND A RAILROAD

-they're guided by the same code

m We all know someone like Ed Bell. That's not his name, but it will serve.

Ed was doing pretty well in business fifteen years ago. He was working hard, looking ahead, had rosy plans for the future.

But along came the depression and you know what happened. Borrowing, debts, a struggle to keep going. Ed stayed at it. Slowly he's climbed back on his ing harder than he ever worked before. He's got responsibilities, plenty of them, and recognizes them, too. Taxes to be paid. Debts to be paid off. War bonds to be bought.

And Ed has always put first things first. He likes to buy things for his family as much as any man, but he feels that the meeting of his obligations should come before anything else.

Many railroads have a similar history, and are now faced with the same kind of obligations.

They have been through a lot in recent years. High costs for labor, material and taxes, and low revenues due to depressed traffic. The average net earnings of all our railroads from the 1929 market crash to Pearl Harbor amounted to only a fraction over $2\frac{c}{10}$ per year on investment.

It is small wonder, then, that thirty-seven Class I railroads sought relief in bankruptcy. And that many others had a tight squeeze because of the burden of debt they carried.

Recently railroad income has improved. With the huge load of war traffic, they averaged for 1942 about 51/27 return on investment.

Now they are faced with the same question that confronted Ed Bell. Shall they pay out these earnings to their families of stockholders, or shall they use them to reduce their overpowering burden of debt-so that once again our railroads can become sound and solvent institutions?

In the interest of both their stockholders and the public most of our railroads-and this includes the Nickel Plate-are currently placing debt reduction first.
