INDIA MISSIONARY TO SPEAK THURSDAY

Harry Schaefer, missionary to India who has occupied a prominent place in missionary work for 30 years, will give an address on "The Need of India," in First Christian church at 7:45 tonight. Dr. Schaefer, who plans to return to India in September, says "the great distress in India is caused by hunger and fear," and that only the service of the Christian world can help the people find themselves.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A legend about Medusa says that in her girlhood she was very beautiful. One day she prayed to the goddess Athena that she be allowed to go to a better climate, but her prayer was not answered. In her anger the girl said that Athena was jealous of her beauty. Hearing this charge, the goddess grew angry and made Medusa one of the Gorgons. From that time onward, the story tells us that anyone who looked at Medusa's face was turned to stone!

Myth Tells How Perseus Avoided Direct Glance at Medusa
YOU AND I may smile when we read about myths of ancient Greece. We know they are not true, but they were believed by many persons of long ago. They were, in fact, a part of the religion of the Greeks.
