Show At State Is A Warning To Those Who Talk Too Much

What a few words of idle chatter and bits of unimportant information can do to wreck a carefully planned military operation is vividly pictured in "The Next of Kin," a thought-provoking warning to those who talk too much. It commences Thursday at the State theatre with J. Edgar Hoover presenting the prologue and epilogue. "The Youngest Profession" is the co-feature. Showing for the last times Wednesday are "Hit the Ice"

and "Honeymoon Lodge."

Adventure and romance run neck and neck in the new film, "The Adventures of Tartu," which stars Robert Donat and Valerie Hobson at the Ohio theatre. The story depicts the adventures of a special British agent, "Tartu."

'Souls at Sea," now at the Sigma theatre, stars Gary Cooper, Frances Dee and George Raft in the story of a trial of a sea captain which electrified the world 100 years ago. Cary Grant is the star of the co-feature, "Amazing Ad-

HIGHLIGHTS IN ARE DRAMATIZED LINCOLN'S LIFE

Highlights in the life and career of Abraham Lincoln were dramatized George J. Lehrer, dramatic director for Scottish Rite Masons in Tolcdo and Cleveland, before the Kiwanis club during its weekly luncheon meeting in the Argonne hotel Tuesday During his discussion of the attributes of Lincoln, the monelogist asserted that "our statesmen, like Lincoln, should keep their minds upon their objectives and take them off their own prestige.' He applied makeup, a false beard and a wig to portray the character of Lincoln and carried out the portrayal by donning a tail coat and tall hat. The dramatist climaxed his presentation by reciting two of Lincoln's immortal works, the famous Gettysburg Address and the Eman-
