

Story Of Mother Love Comes To Quilna On Friday Night

"Someone to Remember," scheduled to open Friday night at the Quilna preview, tells a touching story of mother love. "Sleepy Lagoon," starring Judy Canova in a laugh riot, completes the new program.

Fiery Lucille Ball, star of the scintillating musical comedy, "Best Foot Forward," at the Ohio, portrays herself in the hit which deals with a military academy student who invites her to the senior prom.

The three Mesquites—Bob Steele, Tom Tyler and Jimmie Dodd—dish out plenty of thrills in "Riders of the Rio Grande," Lyric hit. "A Scream in the Dark," mystery drama, completes the program.

At the Majestic are "Amazing Mrs. Halliday," starring youthful Deanna Durbin. "Silver Queen," with George Brent, also shows.

Friday and Saturday will be the last days for the showing of "The Youngest Profession," at the State. Lead roles are taken by Virginia Weidler, Edward Arnold and John Carroll. "Next of Kin," is the second hit.

"The Kansas," a rip-roaring action hit with Richard Dix and Jane Wyatt, opens Saturday at the Sigma with "Victory Thru Air Power." Walt Disney technical color hit, "Souls at Sea" and "Amazing Adventure" show thru Friday.

"Mr. and Mrs. Smith," with Carole Lombard and Robert Montgomery, begins Friday at the Drive In.

The ramifications of the story are apparently of the nature which will keep audiences guessing right down to the last flicker of film.

A young newspaper reporter determines to change his field of endeavor, so he opens an office as private detective, taking in with him an old friend, who is one of the smartest news photographers in the business.

He is seeking business in—of all places—the morgue, and while there, hits upon clues which later lead him into all kinds of complications and intrigues, which in turn lead to the uncovering of two or three murders.

In his investigations, he is helped considerably by his fiancée, the pretty secretary to the Chief of Police, but to give any further information as to how the story finally works out its conclusion, would only serve to mar the enjoyment of those who see the picture in its entirety.

OHIO

A celebrated Broadway cast of character actors, well versed in the art of make-up, are really preparing to do the masterpieces of their careers when "The Here and the Hereafter" opens at the Ohio theatre Saturday night, Oct. 22 at 12 midnight, doors open at 11:30. It will be their dubious pleasure to enact the roles of horror and ghastly pranks in a haunted house.

All the tricks employed in the Hollywood horror-dramas prove many times more spine-chilling when they are viewed on the stage before your very eyes. So if you like your thrills in strong doses, don't miss "The Here and the Hereafter."

Henry Walsh, the celebrated author of these suspense-packed heart-pounding murder melodramas which you look forward to so eagerly on your radio, now tops his career with his latest super-duper, thriller-diller, which will be shown in conjunction with the screen feature, "Black Room."

Marine Corporal Guest Star Of "Meet Your Navy" Friday

A marine corporal, who stalked Japs behind their lines on Guadalcanal, will be guest of the melodic mariners on the all-Bluejacket musical variety revue, "Meet Your Navy," presented Friday at 7:30 p. m., EST, over WJZ.

Walter Huston will be the guest star on the "short show-story" broadcast Friday at 9 p. m. over WABC. This new series is a great departure from the former Amos 'n' Andy broadcast. The show is a half-hour broadcast, a guest star is used each week, and the guest star is incorporated in the plot of the regular Amos 'n' Andy script.

The soprano Audrey Marsh and the baritone Hubert Hendrie are featured by Lyn Murray in his "To Your Good Health," program on Friday at 5:15 p. m., EST, over WABC. Hendrie sings "The Lord's Prayer" as a solo, and joins with Miss Marsh in "We Belong Together."

Lending a helping hand to a stricken Italian with the aid of an American nurse and a German army doctor will prove an interesting adventure for Stumpy and Cottonseed (Curley Bradley and Clarence Hartzell) in the next episode of "Road to Danger," Friday, (WEAF, 10:30 p. m., EST).

Lena Horne, singer, guest stars on the "Stage Door Canteen" program, on Friday at 9:30 p. m., over WABC. She'll be heard along with Bert Lytell, master of ceremonies, Raymond Payne, conductor.
