Cagey Kalamazoo Coach Has Won 275 Cage Games

KALAMAZOO, Mich. - It is not coincidental that Western Michigan College is currently a power in midwestern basketball, after successive victories over Michigan, Notre Dame and North-

Behind these fresh successes is a mild mannered little man who never played the game much himself, but whose 23 year tenure has produced 275 cage victories. He is Herbert W. (Buck) Read.

English born and in his fifties, he displays none of the histronics usually associated with men all wrapped up in basketball. He is an intense scholar with a rollicking sense of humor. He fishes summer and winter. 🕚

7:00 WIBA The best explanation of Read's success is that he is shrewd at making note of basketball trends. Some years ago, when most coaches were laboring on controlled ball offenses, Read switched Fausto Rubini, recently named trolled ball offenses, Read switched University of Maryland boxing to the fast break that now is almost universally used. He has developed many individual stars, such as Harold Gensichen, who averaged nearly 20 points a game for two seasons, but he is at his best when working with 10 or 12 players of fairly equal ability, the type of team he apparently has
