If someone said to you, "The pyramids of Egypt are made mainly of the shells of dead ani-mals," you might reply:

"I thought the pyramids were built with blocks of stone!"

It is true, indeed, that Egypt's pyramids were made from blocks of stone, but the stone itself came

More than 98 per cent of the stone blocks in the Great Pyramid are limestone, and it is of these that I speak. They were taken from a quarry in land which had been under the sea vast Egypt, same from limestone of the ing.

from tiny animals.
