

Lima Screens Feature Music, Mystery And Drama

Pair Of Stars Presented In Ohio Picture

Junior and music, mystery and drama all appear on the screens of local film houses to open what promises to be a busy week. Filmgoers will find many long-awaited pictures playing in Lima this Sunday.

At the Ohio will be found "No Time for Love" with Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray offering the romantic entanglement.

This story of "Jack the Ripper" has at last been filmed and is flashing on the screen of the Quilna along with "Swing Out the Blues."

Another film that has been eagerly anticipated is "Flesh and Fantasy" which is now co-feature with "Sing A Jingle" at the Sigma.

"Riding High" offers a well-known cast headed by Dorothy Lamour and Dick Powell, at the State theatre. Also playing is "Gangway For Tomorrow."

"He Hired the Boss" and "Sundown" open Monday at the Lyric while "Sage Brush Law" and "40,000 Horsemen" play for the last times Sunday night.

Now appearing at the Majestic are "Captive Wild Woman" and "O'Malley of the Mounted."

Live Romance Will Take To Lyric Screen

Entirely aside from its entertainment value—and it has been called the most exciting romantic adventure of the year—Walter Wanger's "Sundown," which will open at the Lyric theatre on Monday is outstanding because of its spectacular settings. Laird on the border of Kenya and Somaliland in Central East Africa, "Sundown" was one of the most difficult filming assignments ever attempted by a camera-man.

Also coming Monday will be "He Hired the Boss."

Playing for the last times Sunday night are "Sage Brush Law" and "40,000 Horsemen."

CUTBACKS LEAD TO JITTERS ON WORKERS' PART

CLEVELAND, Feb. 20.—(INS)—A new wartime civilian "adjustment" was diagnosed today by the Regional War Production Board as "cutback jitters."

Cleveland officials clarified the effects of recent cutbacks following a survey in Ohio and neighboring states. Rumors about impending contract changes have proved in most cases more confusing and disruptive than the actual changes, officials reported.

Canton was cited as being an example of the "jitters." The case explained by the WPB resulted from the layoff of approximately 700 workers at the Republic Steel Co. at Massillon. Because of false rumors, numerous workers returned to their homes in Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and other states.

The WPB said that 600 of the 700 could have been placed in other jobs immediately but because of the rumors and misunderstanding, only about 200 were actually referred to former homes in other localities. The "jitters" in the Canton area later spread to Akron and Cleveland.

Home Front Forecast

By ANN SIEVICK
The troubles you've seen with men and electric motor repair, laundry service, shoe repair, washing machine and refrigerator repairs and the like loomed large in the Consumer Requirements Survey, conducted by the Census Bureau as a national poll to determine citizen needs.

The greater number of people in the 4935 households in which a member was asked about difficulties in such services, spoke about trouble with shoe repair. But that's because everybody's "chilun" got shoes. Actually only 25 per cent of those who wanted shoe repair had difficulties, while 73 per cent of the lesser number needing washing machine repairs had trouble. There were only one-thirtieth as many people with washing machine repair work to be done.

Dry cleaning was second only to shoe repair as a cause of trouble to people needing these services. Watch and clock repair, radio, plumbing and heating and general electrical appliance repairs were hard to get.

All of these service men have been on the list of essential manpower for some time, but since the survey War Manpower Commission has emphasized a policy of steering such critical workers as skilled refrigeration repair men into the work where their skills are most valuable. Special consideration is given them by the Selective Service System. A training program has been started for refrigerator repair men, and others will follow which should ease the situation some.

Arrangements have been made in many areas to stretch out the use of laundry and dry-cleaning facilities by eliminating service fills and re-routing deliveries.

Special allocations of leather were made for shoe repair some time back. As some metals come back into supply there are signs of the beginning of manufacture of more repair parts. This lack of parts has been the basic cause of a good deal of the trouble in many repair services.

So if your washing-machine was out of action for want of a part, you may be able to get it soon.

Plumbing and heating repairs items will be a little easier to get. In most cases, the consumer no longer has to have a special certificate.

Replacement parts for vacuum cleaners soon may be in production. Introductory meetings were
