Rocking Cradle Was Invented to | either rocked or swung on hinges. Halt Infant Wails

This saying has come down through the years: "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." The words mean that mothers are the chief force in making the world what it'is.

It may be true that mothers have the most to do with forming the outlook of children. Yet I believe that if mothers really ruled the world they would not allow likely to start crying again. the system of war to go on and on.

Another point about the saying is the use of the phrase "rock the cradle," Cradles which rock are not common nowadays, but there was a time when most houses with babies in them had cradles which

That must have been why an inventor figured out a cradle which would rock. If the infant went to sleep while being rocked he was likely to stay asleep.

About 60 years ago, one of my uncles invented what he called a "self-rocking cradle." These cradles were not sold very widely, but my father bought one of them, and I believe I slept in it until

That cradle was given away, or else fell to pieces, before I grew up and became interested in the subject. Just how it worked, I cannot tell you, but I think the motion of the baby made it swing they say! back and forth, and thus he would
